

Action Planning

(formerly known as long range and annual planning)

by Jim Wanstell, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist
New Mexico Department of Agriculture

Purpose

The purpose of any plan, whether long range, annual, or any other, is to assist its creator(s) to identify certain goals, understand how those goals can be accomplished, and to mark progress towards achieving those goals. In order for a plan to do all of these things, it must be USED as a tool by the group in question.

Tools are defined as “instruments needed in the practice of a vocation or profession,” and also as “a means to an end.” A conservation district plan is a necessary instrument, and the means to achieve the goals of the group, but only if its owners take it in hand and use it.

In the past many Soil and Water Conservation Districts (SWCDs) took the time to develop a long range plan (5 years), and perhaps an annual plan. Unfortunately many of these plans simply sat on a shelf and gathered dust. The tools were available, but were neither used for their intended purpose, nor maintained to preserve their usefulness. This non-use was due to many reasons. Here are a few that I have seen:

1. The plan was never really developed by the true users, the SWCD board. As a result the board did not see the value of the plan, or in many cases never even knew the plan existed.
2. The plan was not viewed as a tool to assist the local SWCD achieve its goals. It was viewed as something that was required to be done so districts just changed the dates on the old one and said they had a plan.

3. Developing very detailed long range plans took a lot of time and energy. With limited resources at their disposal, the SWCD board did not feel the time involved in developing a plan was worth it given the outcome.
4. The format of the plan was too cumbersome. No one really understood how it all fit together or what purpose it served at the local SWCD level.

The action plan format outlined in this section is designed to be a very simple, concise, useable, working document tailored to meet the needs of the individual SWCD. It has components of both long range and annual planning. The annual planning component can be reviewed at a monthly district board meeting in a matter of minutes. The long range component is short, clear, and to the point. This makes it a very simple and effective tool that takes much less time to create. Anyone can understand and use the completed plan, even with very limited knowledge of a particular SWCD.

Moving Toward a Goal

Does this happen at your district board meeting: A supervisor(s) comes up with a great idea for a district project. Everyone agrees it is a good idea, but it never gets past that point. Two months later same thing, different idea, and so it goes. Why does this happen?

One reason could be that the project seems too big: “Our district could never get that done.” “Who will do all the work? We all have real jobs, and bills to pay.” If the board were to just sit down and really plan out such a project piece by piece they may find that it can be done, or at least they could begin to explore the possibilities. No one says it has to be done in one year or even two. Even if it takes a few years to complete, doing a little work every year, at least it gets done. Just like when you have a bunch of tasks to accomplish at work or at home, if you think about all of it at once it seems like it’s too much. However, if you make a list and do one or two things a day it doesn’t seem that bad. In the end it gets done because you made a plan.

Action plans can be used to guide the most active or well-funded SWCD toward that next big project, or it can be used by the most inactive or under-funded SWCD to figure out how to put their limited resources to the best use. Even if your district only comes up with one or two goals, and achieves them, at least you did something. The key is that the district supervisors and staff understand the power and purpose of making a plan and seeing it through. Every SWCD supervisor and employee should have the opportunity to contribute their ideas to the plan. While all may not contribute, at least the opportunity was given. Once goals are agreed upon and written down, the SWCD supervisors and staff have made a commitment as a group to achieve those goals.

At this point many districts make a big mistake: They never hold themselves accountable. The plan, and the commitments in it, are never seriously considered again. Once again the plan must be used to be effective. This can be as simple as reviewing the projected dates of completion for upcoming actions at a regular board meeting.

The entire action plan is simple enough to be edited quite easily. Since this is a working document, changes can and should be incorporated throughout the year. Actions can be added, revised or deleted completely. This applies to annual planning elements as well as long range elements.

Action Planning really can be a great tool to motivate and focus your local SWCD.

Keys to Action Planning

This section outlines each area of the action plan, and provide additional resources for plan development. Each section is labeled long range or annual plan to reflect which time frame it covers. Long range is typically 5 years. Annual plan is a 1 year period (generally a fiscal year). Also remember that this is a working document. It can be changed to meet the changing needs of the district.

Organization (long range): This is taken directly from the Soil and Water District Act.

Function (long range): This is a generally accepted definition of the function of a district. Many boards change this to fit their view point

We Serve (long range): Who exactly does this board serve (e.g. landowners, land users, tax payers)? A district cannot meet the needs of all people. Clearly identify what portion of the potential audience is to be served.

Why (long range): Why do you serve this portion of the populace of the district? What is the SWCD serving them with?

Mission Statement (long range): See Mission Statement Formation Worksheet

Critical Natural/Material Resource Issues (long range): This section identifies the natural resource issues that are of concern in the district. Since most districts do not have the ability to address every issue of concern, it often helps to prioritize the list according to need. This allows the board to focus the limited resources of the district on the most critical needs first.

 In doing this section the board may discover critical material needs that the district itself has. These things can be equipment, personnel, buildings, etc. Often these needs must be met in order for the district to have the capacity to address the critical natural resource issues identified. List those here if they apply.

Critical Geographic Areas (long range): Within the district there may be a particular area or areas that a natural resource issue occurs. This section gives you the opportunity to identify those areas. It helps to tie each geographical area to a particular critical natural resource issue. This will help later in the development of statements of intent and annual planning. It will assist in focusing district resources on areas and issues that need to be addressed.

Statements of Intent (long range): This section establishes on the ground long range goals for the district. The statements should be concrete and realistic. At the same time they should be challenging enough to inspire and require focus from the board to complete.

Prioritize these statements. This will help to focus resources more efficiently in the annual planning section. It is better for a board to establish one goal and complete it well than to come up with a bunch of pie in the sky goals that will never be achieved. If a board can complete just one project, no matter how small, it will make them hungry for more success.

Ideally, statements of intent are based on the critical natural resource concerns which have already been agreed upon. A goal to conserve water or reduce erosion is hard to argue against, whereas a goal which promotes one group or point of view over another (to save family farms, for example) could be controversial. If the outcome is focused on benefits to the resource, then widespread support is more possible.

This section is where all participants in the planning process really need to believe in, and buy into, the goals established. Without that buy-in, without a real desire by the participants to see these goals realized, there is no need to go on to the annual planning step. This is where the big picture is developed. The board must have a clear view of the big picture; otherwise they will not follow through on the annual planning goals.

Priority Actions for the Next 12 months (annual planning): Using each statement of intent, develop a plan for the fiscal year to get closer to achieving the statement goal.

If you prioritized the statements of intent in the previous section, more effort should be directed towards the highest priority statements. Some statements may only have one or two items, and some may have none. The key is to make progress toward the long term goals. It may take several years to even address one goal because the board is using its limited resources to accomplish the highest priority statements. It is better to accomplish one goal well than to be overwhelmed trying to accomplish them all, and end up accomplishing none.

Staffing Needs: Will the board need staff to accomplish the above goals? If so how many people, with what kind of skills? Does the district have an employee policy and job description? You will need those documents prior to hiring staff.

Annual Budget Needs: Will your current budget support your goals? If not, how can you make it work? Volunteers, cooperation with other groups or agencies, grants?

Key individuals, Groups, or Agencies to Reach for Program success: Who do you need to work with to achieve the districts goals?

Mission Statement Formation Worksheet

1. A mission statement should provide a clear indication of what the district is, and what it is doing or should be doing.
2. Ask the following questions when formulating a mission statement:
 - a) What: What are we currently doing? However, look to what might be, not just what is currently happening. What product or service does the district deliver or want to deliver?
 - b) Who: The district cannot meet the needs of all people. Mission requires a clear identification of what portion of the potential audience (public) is to be targeted.
 - c) How: How will the mission be accomplished? What is the conduit for delivering the product(s) or service(s) that the district provides?

Mission Statements

Should define who you are, whom you serve and how you serve them.

Should be clear enough to serve as a test of every action made by the district at any time.

Should be short, no more than two sentences. If it is too long, people cannot remember it.

Should be a brief answer to the question, “Well, what exactly does the Soil and Water Conservation District do?”

Sample Mission Statements

The Jefferson Soil and Water Conservation District provides leadership and administers programs to help people wisely use, conserve, consistently improve, and perpetually sustain our natural resources and physical environment.

The mission of the Washington Soil and Water Conservation District is to protect, restore, enhance, and promote the wise use of natural resources. This will be achieved through development of projects, education of the public, the cooperation of landowners/users, agencies and other political subdivisions of the state.

The Martin Soil and Water Conservation District promotes stewardship of natural resources by providing leadership, education, technical and financial assistance to the citizens of the district.

The Fredrick Soil and Water Conservation District serves the land and the people of the district in order to enhance the health and productivity of the land. This is done by coordinating and implementing measures to obtain maximum on the ground conservation benefits.

Financial Records Management

Introduction

This section has financial forms, both old and new. Since some SWCD's are computer equipped and others are not, there is no comprehensible way to standardize all the forms to fit every district's needs. Many of the guidelines for DFA reporting have not changed, but the formats they are willing to accept have modernized. The intent is to provide the old forms, district examples, and new forms. Some districts have adapted documents to fit their needs. This section is not intended to be restrictive but alternatively to provide additional resources. If a district has a system that is working, it does not have to be changed.

Annual Budget

The Department of Finance and Administration (DFA), Local Government Division oversees a number of activities of state agencies and political subdivisions. Special Districts fall under this category. (NMSA 1978, 6-6-2) Budgets of Special Districts are legal documents and must be adhered to. Special Districts can legally spend funds only according to an annual budget approved by DFA. All funds in the accounts of a Special District are public funds and must be administered as such. Soil and Water Conservation Districts are considered Special Districts.

When drafting the coming year's budget, it would be helpful to carefully review each line item of the budget. SWCD's should have line items for specific projects or expenses that the Special District would like to track. Most of the line items could be in general terms as shown on the sample budget included in this section.

The Local Government Division of DFA is available to assist SWCD's in preparation of budget documents. See attached list for names and phone numbers of budget analysts assigned to SWCDs (Attachment 2-1).

For the most updated forms from DFA districts should always refer to the DFA, LGD website. This can be located by searching for "Department of Finance and Administration Local Government Division" in your browser. Then click on "Budget and Finance Bureau". Then click "Forms" and scroll down to Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The current link is:

http://nmdfa.state.nm.us/Forms_and_Pilot_Project_Forms_1.aspx

Items required when the preliminary or final budget is submitted:

1. Budget Resolution (NMDA Form A)
2. Budget Recap Page (NMDA Form AB-1)
3. Property Tax Page (NMDA Form AB-2)
4. Revenues and Expenditures Page (NMDA Forms AB-3a and AB-3b)
5. Transfers Page (NMDA Form AB-4)
6. Grants Page (NMDA Form AB-5)
7. Salary Schedule Page (NMDA Form AB-6)
8. Schedule of Insurance Page (Form AB-7)
9. Bond or Long-Term Debt Page (Form AB-8)

NOTE

Forms with an "A" in the description are annual forms (i.e. Form AB-5). Likewise, forms with a "Q" in the description are quarterly forms (i.e. Form QB-1).

Approvals

DFA must approve budget revisions if:

- There is an increase or decrease in the total budget.
- A new fund or line item is added.

Line item adjustments within a fund, which do not increase the total, do not require DFA approval but must be approved by the district Board of Supervisors. If DFA approval is required, a budget resolution must be submitted with the revised budget.

The forms on the following pages are intended to be helpful to SWCD's in providing all of the required information. Districts may use an alternate format which includes all of the required information.

Quarterly Reports

Quarterly reports are due to DFA regarding the status of expenditures and revenues. Reports are due on October 20th, January 20th, April 20th, and July 20th. Copies of the reports should be sent to the SWCC region commissioner and NMDA. The report should include the following:

1. Cash Reconciliation and Recapitulation Page (NMDA Form QB-1)
2. Actual Revenue Page (NMDA Form QB-2)
3. Actual Expenditures Page (NMDA Form QB-3)
4. Transfers Page (NMDA Form QB-4)

Receiving Funds On Behalf Of SWCD

A pre-numbered receipt book is recommended. Write a receipt for all funds received. Receipts should be deposited within 24 hours.

Purchasing & Disposition of Property

by Roy Todd, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist

Introduction

As governmental subdivisions of the state of New Mexico, soil and water conservation districts are required to adhere to the state statutes and rules governing public purchases and property. Chapter 13 of the New Mexico Statutes Annotated (NMSA) outlines the requirements for both procurement of goods and services (Article 1) and for disposing of property that is no longer needed (Article 6). As is the case for most of us in our private lives, it is usually easier to get rid of property than to acquire it.

Purchasing

Trying to understand the procurement code can be overwhelming particularly for those who do it only part time. This chapter presents general terms, definitions and guidelines for purchasing equipment or services, and points you toward sources of assistance with procurement activities.

The purposes of the procurement code are to provide for the fair and equal treatment of all persons involved in public procurement, to maximize the purchasing value of public funds and to provide safeguards for maintaining a procurement system of quality and integrity. (Section 13-1-29, NMSA 1978) The procurement code applies to expenditures for goods, services and construction, but does not apply to real property.

It is recommended that districts have a written purchasing policy in place. This chapter contains a sample purchasing policy (Exhibit 3.1) that was developed for SWCDs. The policy provided conforms to the current state procurement code. If this policy is adopted and followed, and updated as needed, districts will be assured of compliance with the code. Sample purchasing forms (Form 3.1–3.5) in the back of this chapter correspond with those mentioned in the sample policy.

The procurement code provides for a civil penalty up to $1,000 for each procurement conducted in violation of the code. In addition, an amount equal to the value of a kickback or anything transferred or received in violation of the procurement code may be imposed on both the transferor and the transferee in the transaction. For SWCD supervisors, time spent learning the basics and scrutinizing the district's purchasing procedures could be time and effort well spent.

Types of Purchases

Standard Purchase: A purchase of tangible personal property, construction or nonprofessional services which is systematic, planned, and necessary for the administration and operation of a district.

Sole Source Purchase: A sole source purchase is when there is only one vendor that can provide an item or service.

Emergency Purchases: An emergency purchase is permissible when there is an existing condition that creates a threat to public health, welfare, or safety such as may arise by reason of floods, epidemics, riot, equipment failures, or similar events.

Invitation to Bid: Documents used to solicit sealed price bids from vendors for specified products or services. This process serves to open negotiations with the lowest bidder only.

Request for Proposals (RFP): Documents used to solicit proposals, usually for professional services. This process allows negotiations with each bidder, and selection of a contractor on factors other than cost.

Professional services: Professional services means the services of architects, archeologists, engineers, surveyors, landscape architects, medical arts practitioners, scientists, management and systems analysts, certified public accountants, registered public accountants, lawyers, psychologists, planners, researchers, construction managers and other persons or businesses providing similar professional services.

Purchasing Procedures

If more than one business is contacted for price quotes on the same purchase, the contents of the written or oral offer of one business shall not be disclosed to another business during the negotiation process (1.4.1.52 (D), NMAC).

SWCDs may solicit bids or proposals on their own, or they may purchase items through a State or Federal Contract or may use another public agency's bid/RFP to buy (called "piggybacking"). Refer to section 13-1-129 NMSA 1978 for this authority. The bid/RFP must state that other agencies can use the solicitation, and there must be no definite quantity of items referenced in the bid (i.e. if 2 vehicles are specified, only 2 can be bought under the bid). A bid must specify indefinite quantity or state a quantity and the words "or more" to be able to use. You must retain a copy of any contracts you use as a basis for ordering. Statewide price agreements are available on the web site of the New Mexico General Services Department State Purchasing Division and federal pricing contracts are available on the US General Services Administration (GSA) web site at: <http://www.generalservices.state.nm.us/statepurchasing/>.

When "piggybacking" on a contract, it may be advisable to check current market prices before purchasing. In a competitive market (computer equipment, for example) the price may change more frequently than a state contract is updated. A district may wish to coordinate purchasing with other public agencies like county governments or irrigation districts which may be purchasing items or services similar to those needed by the SWCD.

Purchasing Guidelines

Below are some general guidelines for purchasing procedures based on the amount of the expenditure. The price thresholds given are from the state procurement code. An SWCD board can set a more restrictive policy for district purchases if they so choose. See the Purchasing Policy (Exhibit 3.1), and the Purchase Process Flowchart (Exhibit 3.2) for more detailed information.

Dividing a large purchase into multiple small purchases in order to avoid the requirements of the procurement code is not allowed

1. $20,000 or less: Obtain best price
2. $20,001-$60,000: No fewer than three written quotes
3. More than $60,000: Formal sealed bids

Request for Proposals

To determine whether a service is considered a professional service, refer to Exhibit 3.7.

- | | |
|---|------------------------------------|
| 1. Professional services
$60,000 or less | No fewer than three written quotes |
| 2. Professional services
$60,001 or more | Formal sealed proposals |
| 3. Landscape or surveying services
$10,000 or less | No fewer than three written quotes |
| 4. Landscape or surveying services
$10,001 or more | Formal sealed proposals |
| 5. Regular services
$20,000 or less | No fewer than three written quotes |
| 6. Regular services
$20,001 or more | Formal sealed proposals |

If it is unclear whether the service is professional or not, a professional services list (Exhibit 3.7) is provided at the back of the chapter.

Effective June 2013 the records retention schedule for competitive sealed bids or proposals must be retained for three years.

Sale of Public Property

The regulations for sale of public property are found in the New Mexico Statutes Annotated (NMSA) in Chapter 13, section 6. As is the case with procurement of property, the requirements are different based on the value of the item(s).

If a SWCD has tangible worn out, unusable or obsolete personal property, with an original cost of more than $1,000 and a useful life of more than one year, whose resale value is less than $5,000, they must do the following:

- Designate a committee of three supervisors to approve and oversee the disposition of the property.
- Send a letter of notification of intent to dispose of the property to the state auditor 30 days prior to disposition of the property. The letter should include the following: a description of the property, which should include the serial number or some identification number, model number, mileage, and current resale value; proposed method of disposition; for computer equipment or any data storage media, certify that all data has been erased (e.g. hard drive reformatted). Attach documentation that the board has approved the sale or exchange or demolition of the equipment. This can be done by either a resolution (see Exhibit 3.5) or an attachment of the minutes.

- The district may dispose of the property in the following ways: they can sell it to any governmental unit of an Indian nation, tribe or pueblo in New Mexico or donate or sell to other state agencies, local public bodies, school districts or state education institutions, sell it through a public auction, or by means of a sealed bid.
- If a district is unable to dispose of the property through any of the above mentioned means, they may sell or, if it has no value, donate the property to any organization described in Section 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (an organization legally designated as a “non-profit”).
- If a district is unable to dispose of the property they can have the property destroyed or permanently disposed of in accordance with applicable laws. The district should notify New Mexico Department of Finance Administration, Local government division (DFA/LGD) and the Office of the State Auditor of their intent.

The board’s decision on the disposition of the property needs to be a part of the minutes and maintained as a public record in order to comply with the Inspection of Public Records Act (Chapter 14, Article 2 NMSA 1978).

If a district wishes to dispose of tangible property that is valued at more than $5,000, they must receive approval from DFA/LGD before they dispose of the property. Although it is not required, to be on the safe side, a resolution would be best (Exhibit 3.5). A copy of the letter should also be sent to the Office of the State Auditor. The means by which the property can be disposed of are the same as with property valued at less than $5,000. The guideline at the back of the chapter (Exhibit 3.6) should be used when disposing of tangible property.

Districts that are considering selling or leasing real property that would be valued at $25,000 to $100,000 or would lease for 5 years or 25 years, need to have approval by the state board of finance DFA. The rules are found in NMSA 13-6-2 and 13-6-3. Districts should contact the General Services Division (GSD) Property Control Division concerning the statutory requirements for the sale of real property belonging to the state.

- 2.1 Standard Purchasing Procedure Applicability. "Standard Purchases" are described as systematic, planned, and necessary purchases for administration and operation of a project, division, and/or department. There shall be no exception to these standard procedures except as provided in the "Non-Standard, Urgent, and Emergency Purchases Procedures" section of this Policy.
- 2.2 Initiating a Purchase: Purchase Order/Requisition. All standard purchases as authorized by this section require that a purchase order/requisition be issued prior to placing an order or making a purchase. All purchase orders must be submitted for approval. The board of supervisors is designated as the Authorized Purchaser, and has the right to refuse approval of any purchase or request. The purchase order form shall contain all information as required - to include, but not limited to, the following:
- A. Vendor - the business to which the purchase order will be issued.
 - B. Terms –The district pays net within 30 days of receipt of invoice unless other arrangements are made and included on this section of the purchase order.
 - C. Quantity - specify a unit and the approximate amount per unit being requested. Units may be "each", "box", "gals.", "reams", "pounds", etc. If exact quantity is not known, users shall provide the best estimate of quantity.
 - D. Description of Item - the description of the items or services should be sufficiently complete to identify the item being purchased. Services that have been obtained through the existing price agreement or GSA must reference the agreement number and attach a copy of the price agreement or GSA. Services that have been obtained through the use of a bid must reference the bid number. Commonly used items may be identified by brand names.
 - E. Estimated Amount - Calculation of the quantity multiplied by the unit price. If exact cost cannot be determined, users shall provide the best estimate of cost.

- F. Employee - Signature of the district employee or authorized user.
- G. Line Item - the appropriate budget line item to be charged. It is the authorized user's responsibility to assign the correct line item name to the purchase order. Multiple line item names may be included in the purchase order provided they are within the same fund.

2.3 Authorization of Purchase Orders. The district employee shall have a purchase order issued prior to executing the purchase. Purchase Orders may be transmitted to vendors by fax. The user department shall inform the vendor that the purchase order number must be included on the invoice submitted. Purchases executed prior to obtaining a purchase order are prohibited except as otherwise provided in the "Non-Standard and Emergency Purchasing Procedures" section of this Policy.

2.4 Invoices. An invoice is an itemized statement submitted by the vendor to the District for payment of material or services. It is the responsibility of the vendor to insure that a purchase order is provided prior to issuing materials or services and the vendor shall include the purchase order number on the invoice submitted to the District for payment. In cases that purchase order numbers are not included on the invoice when required, the vendor shall be informed. The District shall not be responsible for purchases made without an executed and authorized purchase order. The District may refuse payment in any case that there is an unauthorized purchase.

- A. Verification of Invoices. All invoices shall be reviewed by the supervisors prior to payment to insure materials or services have been received and to certify authorization for payment. It is the responsibility of the district employee to insure outstanding invoices are promptly submitted for payment.
- B. Processing for Payment. The board of supervisors shall insure that all invoices received are appropriately authorized and certified prior to payment. The district employee shall be responsible for insuring that appropriate procedures are established and used for payment after invoices are received to include timely payments and to insure that discounts are received and late charges avoided.

2.5 Over Expenditures. Purchase orders shall not be issued, approved, or processed in cases that line items will be over expended, except as approved by the board of supervisors in accordance with State regulations and provisions, and provided there are legally sufficient budget balances available elsewhere. It shall be the primary responsibility of the authorized user to insure sufficient funds are available prior to initiating a purchase.

2.6 Competitive Purchases. Authorized users shall attempt to insure that all purchases are made at the best possible prices. Purchases shall be made in accordance with the following provisions:

- A. $20,000 or Less. Purchases may be processed without quotations. Award can be made without securing competition if the user determines that the price received is reasonable. The user is not precluded from obtaining quotes from more than one vendor if the user suspects that the price is not reasonable or determines that it is in the best interest of the District.
- B. $20,000 to $60,000. Written Quotes. Purchases shall be made according to the best obtainable price provided at least three (3) bona fide written quotes are obtained on pre-printed Request for Quotations forms or on the offering vendor's official letterhead or quote form, and submitted for approval with the purchase order. The approving Purchaser may, at his or her discretion, waive Request for Written Quotation procedures, and require three (3) documented quotes.
- C. $60,001 and Above. All purchases exceeding $60,001 require formal bid procedures as specified by State regulations and shall be processed and executed through formal procedures. Such purchases must be approved in the current budget, and purchases not approved in the current budget require approval by the Board prior to advertising for bids. Bids may be rejected in the event that they are in excess of budgetary limits, are non-responsive to specifications, or due to irregularities in the bids specifications.
- D. Documented and Written Quote Exceptions. In the event there are not three (3) known vendors which have materials/services available, less than three (3) quotes are permissible provided the user attaches the quotes obtained and identifies, on the quote form or on separate attachment, the names of other vendors contacted who could not provide the materials/services.
- E. State or Federal General Services Agreements Contracts and Cooperative Bid Exceptions. Quotations or bids are not required for purchases under this section. Purchases may be made providing that the vendor has a State or Federal GSA Contract or a qualified, documented procurement done by another State or local government agency. Any such "piggyback" purchase must include appropriate written authorization for the District's use, either in the original solicitation or in writing by both the original procuring agency and the vendor. Copies of all purchases made under a contract must be kept on file for a period of seven years.

Federal and/or state contract numbers must be identified on the purchase order and a copy of the contract must be attached to the permanent copy of the purchase order. It is required that a copy of the corresponding GSA Catalogue be retained for all purchases done through Federal Contract.

The District may purchase items cooperatively through another public body's bid process, consistent with State regulations.

- G. Bid Specifications. Specifications should be written primarily to address the need of the District for a specific item to perform a specific function. Specifications written for purchases shall not be "closed or exclusive", or otherwise written in such a way as to intentionally favor or exclude a vendor. Reference to specific types or quality shall be followed by wording "or equal" and all specifications regardless of wording shall be considered as "or equal". It shall be the authorized user's responsibility to insure that all specialized technical aspects of specifications are correct and appropriate. It shall be the Authorized Purchaser's responsibility to review and insure that all other provisions, procedures and considerations are correct and appropriate, and to address any questionable, unusual or inappropriate specifications prior to processing. The bidding process may be waived in cases that a vendor has a valid State, Federal or other qualified Purchasing Contract.

All bids submitted to the Board for award shall indicate whether a State or Federal Purchasing Contract is available and those contracts shown for comparison. These contract prices may be considered as an option for award.

- 2.7 Sole Source Purchase. A sole source purchase is permissible when there is only one vendor that can provide an item or service. The district employee shall certify on a sole source form that due diligence has been made to contact other vendors and that the item or service is the only source found to be available in the region. The board of supervisors shall certify that every effort has been made to determine if there is a Federal GSA or State Contract for the item or service requested and that negotiations, as appropriate, have been conducted with the sole source vendor to determine that it is the best obtainable price. Records of all sole source procurements shall be kept on file for a minimum of three years. The record of such procurement shall be public record and should contain:

- A. the contractor's name and address;
- B. the amount and term of the contract;
- C. a listing of the services, construction, or items of tangible personal property procured under the contract;
- D. the justification for the procurement method; and
- E. names of at least three other vendors contacted who could not offer or provide the item or services requested

2.8 Procurement of Professional Services.

Professional services shall be procured at the best negotiated price, provided the following values are not exceeded:

Architectural or engineering professional services - $60,000

Landscape architectural or surveying professional services - $20,000.

All professional services - $60,000.

Non-professional services- $20,000

Professional services having a value which exceeds the maximum values outlined above shall be solicited through formal request for proposals, as outlined in the Procurement Code.

- 2.9 Personal Use Prohibited. No purchases shall be made for the purpose of personal or private use.

SECTION III. NON-STANDARD, URGENT AND EMERGENCY PURCHASING PROCEDURES

- 3.1 Non-Standard, Urgent and Emergency Procedures: General Provisions. The provisions of this section apply to all purchases except those purchases subject to the standard purchasing procedures specified in Section II of this Policy. Generally, this section includes all purchases which are justifiably urgent, are emergencies, due to insufficient time required for standard processing, or involve other non-standard procedures. It is the responsibility of the authorized user to insure that all purchases made under provisions of this section are immediate and unforeseen. Purchases that could have been reasonably pre-planned or anticipated shall not be considered as emergency or urgent purchases.

- 3.2 Urgent or Emergency Purchases. Urgent or Emergency purchases are permissible provided they are in accordance with the following provisions:

- A. Urgent Purchases. An urgent purchase is a local or non-local purchase during or after normal working hours that justifiably requires immediate purchase and which cannot reasonably or practicably be telephoned in to obtain a purchase order number prior to the purchase being made. A written purchase order shall be issued within three (3) normal working days after the purchase was made, and shall be approved by the board of supervisors at a special meeting called for such purpose.
- B. Emergency Purchases. An emergency purchase is permissible when there is a condition that creates a threat to public health, welfare, or safety such as may arise by reason of floods, epidemics, riots, equipment failures, or similar events. The existence of the emergency condition creates an immediate and serious need for procurement of items or services or construction that cannot be met through normal procurement methods and the lack of which would seriously threaten the functioning of government, the preservation or protection of property, or the health or safety of any person.

An emergency condition must be determined by a district supervisor with the consensus of at least three (3) board members. The office shall maintain records of all emergency purchases for a minimum of three years. The record of such procurement shall be public record and shall contain:

1. The contractor's name and address;

2. The amount and term of the contract;
3. A listing of the services, construction, or items of tangible personal property procured under the contract; and
4. The justification for the procurement method recorded in writing

A written determination of the basis for the emergency and for the selection of the particular contractor shall be included in the procurement file.

C. Urgent or Emergency Purchase Orders. All urgent or emergency purchase orders shall have the words "Urgent" or "Emergency" documented on the form as is applicable, and shall be accompanied by a receipt or invoice for the purchase.

D. Justification. All emergency and urgent purchases shall be justifiable and the district employee shall be responsible for attaching a written justification to the purchase order.

3.3 Remote or Off-Site Purchases. Authorized users who are located within a remote or off-site area which physically hinders submitting purchase orders prior to the purchase shall be allowed to phone in requests for purchase orders.

3.4 Open Purchase Orders. For the purpose of this Policy, open purchase orders are purchase orders against which multiple billings will be submitted over a specific period of time. All open purchase orders should be accompanied by any required applicable documentation. An open purchase order should be closed out at the end of the fiscal year. Bid cannot exceed $20,000 in one year

Authorization to use open purchase orders in all cases shall require adherence to Section 2.6 of this Policy. The open purchase order should include an estimated total cost of all purchases anticipated during the specific period. Actual invoices for all purchases made using an open purchase order shall be submitted for payment upon receipt and the final invoice shall be marked FINAL to denote closing of the open purchase order.

3.5 Used Equipment and Item Purchases. Used equipment purchases shall be made in accordance with Section 2.6 of this Policy to include the following provisions:

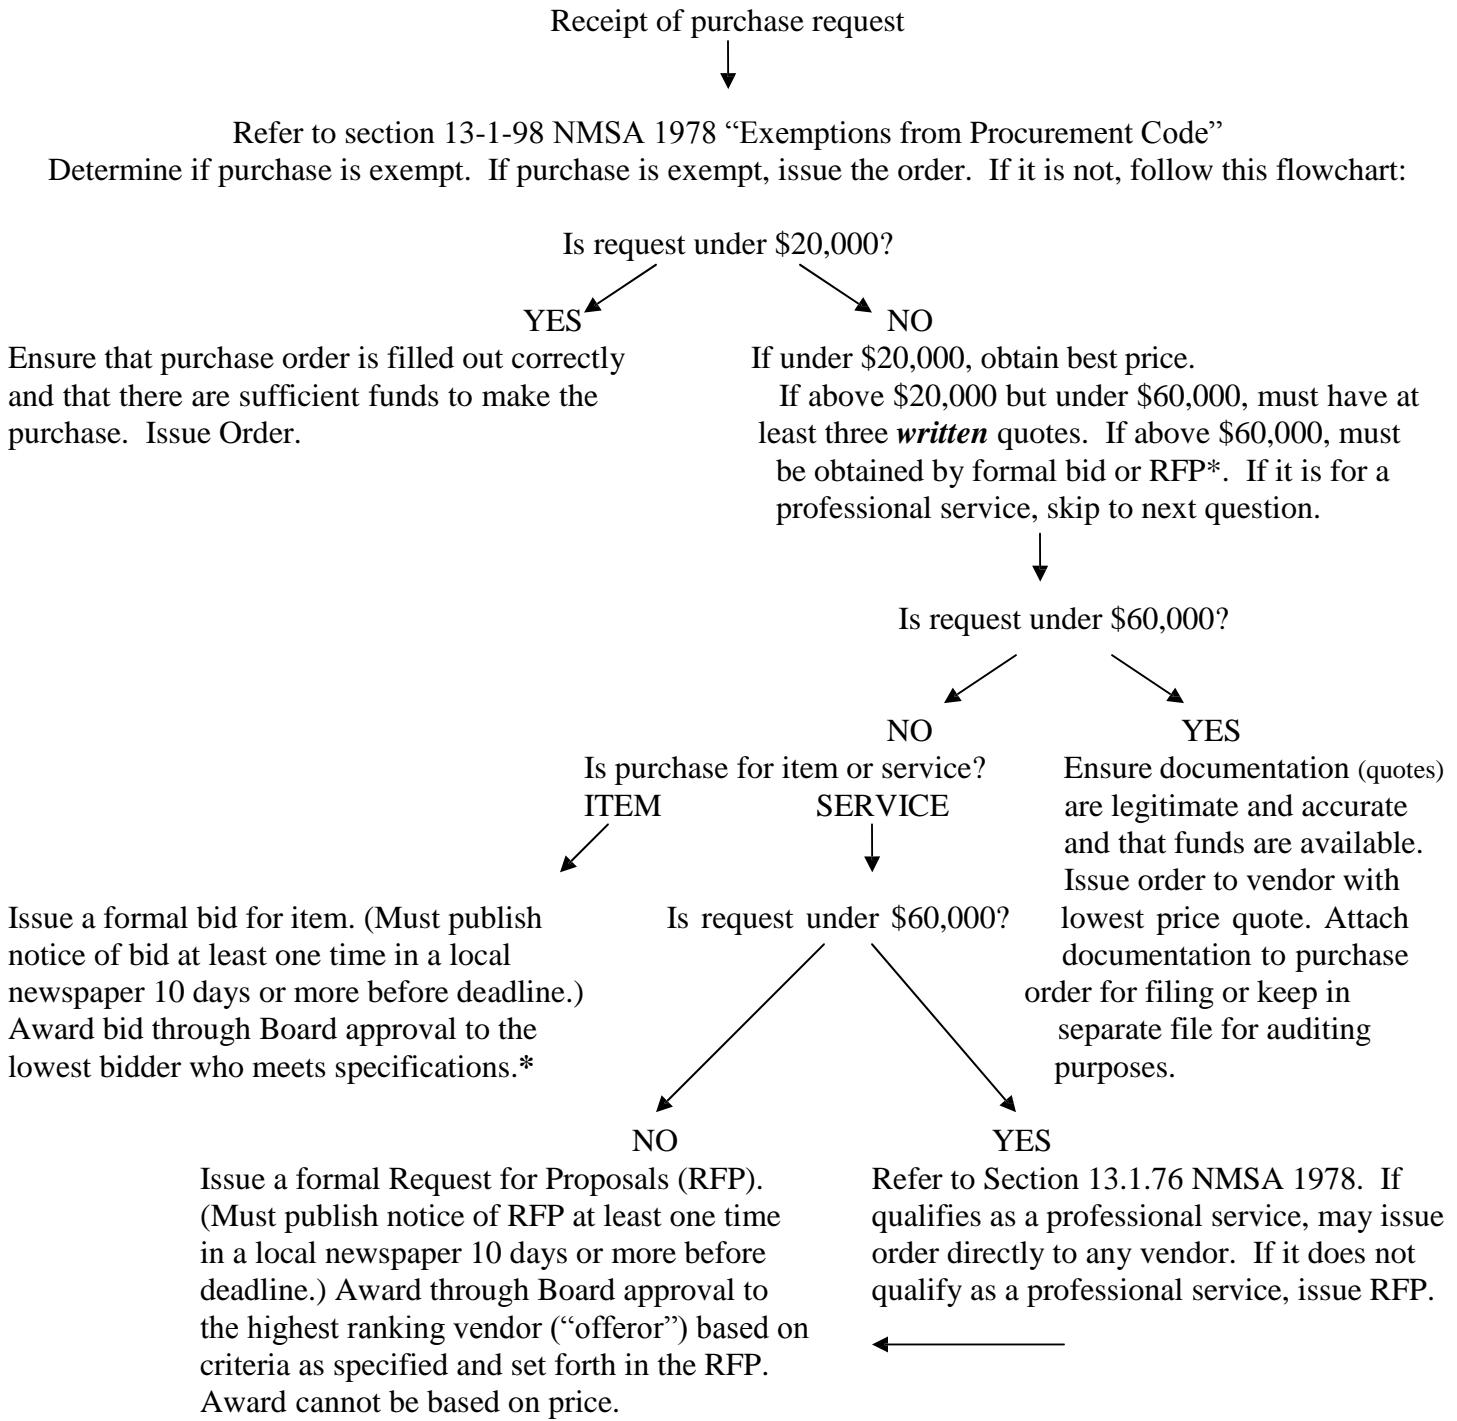

The board of supervisors is authorized to approve purchases of used equipment or items not to exceed the amount of funds appropriated for such purchases. If the procurement is of a value greater than $5,000, the board must review and approve the purchase. Used equipment or items with a price or estimated value of $10,000 or more shall require bids as though the items were new, adding specifications that permit used items under conditions to be outlined in the bid specifications including but not limited to requiring a written warranty for at least ninety days after date of delivery, and an independent "certificate of working order" by a qualified mechanic or appraiser.

3.6 End of Fiscal Year. Special purchasing procedures shall be followed to insure that State law and regulations and proper accounting procedures are followed to appropriately close out at the end of the fiscal year. Provisions are as follows:

- A. 30 Days Prior to Year Ending: 30 days prior to the end of the fiscal year, purchase orders shall be issued only for purchases in which invoices will be received within an estimated thirty (30) days, except as otherwise specifically approved by the Board.
- B. 15 Days Prior to Year Ending: There shall be no purchases of any kind made, or purchase orders issued or processed within 15 days prior to the end of the fiscal year except in extreme emergencies or as specifically approved otherwise by the Board.
- C. Fiscal Year End: Invoices presented for payment against prior year purchase orders shall be approved by resolution of the Board as a prior year purchase using current year funds.

Purchase Process Flowchart

Must be no definite quantity of items referenced in the bid (i.e. if 2 vehicles are specified, only 2 can be bought under the bid. Bid must specify indefinite quantity or state a quantity and the words "or more" to be able to use.) Refer to section 13-1-129 NMSA 1978.

Sole Source Purchases: If there is only one vendor available for an item or service, may be considered a sole source. Department/requestor must make best faith effort to prove such. Procurement Code [Section 13-1-1 to 13-1-99 NMSA 1978]

Professional Services Determination

Issued by The State Purchasing Division and Contracts Review Bureau

April 25, 2007

Professional Services vs. Services [Section 13-1-76 & 87, NMSA 1978]

13-1-76. Definition; Professional Services.

“Professional services” means the services of architects, archeologists, engineers, surveyors, landscape architects, medical arts practitioners, scientists, management and systems analysts, certified public accountants, registered public accountants, lawyers, psychologists, planners, researchers, construction managers and other persons or businesses providing similar professional services, which may be designated as such by a determination issued by the state purchasing agent or a central purchasing office.

13-1-87. Definition; Services

“Services” means the furnishing of labor, time, or effort by a contractor not involving the delivery of a specific end product other than reports and other materials which are merely incidental to the required performance. “Services” includes the furnishing of insurance but does not include construction or the services of employees of a state agency or a local public body.

Notes:

1. The following list of Examples of Professional Services constitutes a determination by the State Purchasing Agent (SPA) that such examples are “professional services” within the meaning of the definition set forth in Section 13-1-76 NMSA 1978. This determination is issued to guide agencies in their procurements and budget preparation.
2. An agency may feel that, because of the case-specific facts, a service listed under “Examples of Services” should, in a particular case, be considered a “Professional Service” or that a service listed under “Examples of Professional Services” should, in a particular case, be considered a “Service”. In either event, the agency should, prior to the procurement, seek a fact-specific determination from the SPA concerning the correct classification of the service in the particular case.
3. If an agency intends to procure a service that is not included in either list, “Examples of Professional Services” or “Examples of Services”, that agency must obtain a determination from the SPA prior to the procurement.

Purpose

In 2004, the Soil and Water Conservation Commission and the New Mexico Commission of Public Records-State Records Center and Archives approved a record retention schedule for Soil and Water Conservation Districts. This schedule is an official state administrative code. All SWCDs are required to follow these schedules. In the past SWCDs had no official retention schedule. These schedules were passed in an effort to standardize records retention among SWCDs statewide.

Use of Schedule

Records retention schedules, properly used, can be a valuable tool to manage records created by your SWCD. Many of the documents produced by an SWCD can and should be disposed of when they are no longer required to be kept. The schedule simply provides a legal time table for maintaining those records.

The record retention schedules approved by both commissions are as follows:

Title 1 Chapter 15, part 2, General Administrative Records

Title 1 Chapter 15, part 5, General Financial Schedule (interpretive)

Title 1 Chapter 15, part 7, General Personnel Records (interpretive)

Title 1 Chapter 15, part 8, General Medical Records

Title 1 Chapter 19, part 11, Soil and Water Conservation Districts and Watershed Districts.

Interpretive records are for local governments that do not use vouchers through the Department of Finance and Administration or employ personnel through the State Personnel Office (SWCDs fall into this category). Those governments are responsible for maintaining their own retention schedules.

At the beginning of the records retention schedule is a table of contents by subject (EXHIBIT 4.1). To use the table of contents, select the record you wish to look up, the next column will indicate which retention schedule it is located in, and the last column will give the page number and the section. Example: Minutes of meetings are found in the General Administrative records on page 6, section 1.15.2.119 (The numbers represent the title, chapter, part and section. In this case the minutes for meetings are found in Title1, Chapter 15, part 2, section 119). The section will give a description of the record and the retention schedule.

Districts will not use all the retention schedules, they should check to see what records are required and select the ones that apply to their districts.

Storage and Disposition of Records

If districts would like to store their permanent files in a safe place, the Records Management Division of the State Record Center and Archives will make arrangements to store them. The Records Center (Bureau of Records Management Division) handles the transfer, receipt, storage, and withdrawal of semi-active records and the transfer of those public records that have met their legal retention. The Record Center offers for sale containers or boxes for the storage of inactive public records. The records center also provides the sale of storage transmittal forms that are used for processing the storage of the district's inactive public records.

Records can be stored one of two ways, if the records are semi-active, a district may request a storage transmittal form. The district still maintains custody of the records and the records can be stored for 25-30 years before they would be archived. If the records are no longer needed a request for disposition is used to either have records destroyed or archived. When records are archived, the custody of the records is transferred to the Records Management Division. Districts still have access to those records. The request for disposition and storage forms can be downloaded from the web site below.

For information on purchasing storage boxes and storage transmittal forms, contact the Records Center Services Bureau. A handbook with an FYI section concerning records disposition, and a frequently asked questions section is available from the Records Management Division.

The Records Management Division is located at 1205 Camino Carlos Rey in Santa Fe. Their telephone number is (505) 476-7901. Their web site is:

Forms for storage and disposition of records, and a storage transmittal form are located in the back of this section (Exhibits 4.2 and 4.3).

1.15.2.9 INSTRUCTIONS:

A. Records retention and disposition schedules identify the types of records maintained by state agencies and specify a period of time which records must be retained. A retention period may be stated in terms of months or years and is sometimes expressed as contingent upon the occurrence of an event. There are several types of records retention and disposition schedules promulgated by the commission for state agencies. General schedules list records common to all agencies and executive schedules list records specific to an agency. Each record series will be represented in the format listed below.

- (1) Program - describes the function of the records
- (2) Maintenance system - describes how an agency files (organizes) records
- (3) Description - describes the purpose and content of a record
- (4) Retention - defines the length of time records must be kept before they are eligible for destruction or archival preservation.

B. For records of a general administrative nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Administrative, 1.15.2 NMAC.

C. For records of a financial nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Financial, 1.15.4 NMAC.

D. For records of a personnel nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Personnel, 1.15.6 NMAC.

E. For records of a medical nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Medical, 1.15.8 NMAC.

F. Retention periods shall be extended until six months after all current or pending litigation; current claims, audit exceptions or court orders involving a record have been resolved or concluded.

G. The descriptions of files are intended to be evocative, not complete. For example, there will always be some documents that are included in a file that are not listed in the description, and similarly, not every file will contain an example of each document listed in the description.

H. Confidentiality is denoted for files likely to contain confidential materials or information; however files without a confidentiality note may contain confidential or privileged information. Failure to include a confidentiality note in the description of a record series does not waive confidentiality. Refer questions concerning the confidentiality of a file to legal counsel for the agency.

I. Access to confidential documents, information or files shall be only by authorization of the agency records custodian (Section 14-2-8 NMSA 1978), or by the office of the attorney general or by court order, unless otherwise provided by law. Release of confidential documents to law enforcement and other government agencies, shall only be upon specific statutory authorization or court order.

J. Records may be photographed, microfilmed, digitized or converted to computer output microfilm provided a microphotography plan has been approved by the state records administrator (Section 14-3-17 NMSA 1978). Such photographs, microfilms, photographic film or microphotographs shall be deemed to be an original record for all purposes, including introduction as evidence in all courts or administrative agencies (Section 14-1-6 NMSA 1978).

K. Public records placed on magnetic tapes, disks or other data processing media shall be retained for the length of time specified in records retention and disposition schedules and are subject to the same confidentiality and access restrictions as paper records. See also 1.13.70 NMAC, Performance Guidelines for the Legal Acceptance of Public Records Produced by Information Technology Systems.

L. Email is a transmission medium for content that may or may not be a public record. Email messages that contain information sent or received by an agency in connection with the transaction of official state business or in pursuance of law are public records and are subject to retention requirements established in records retention and disposition schedules. Email messages are required to be categorized, filed and retained on the basis of content (1.13.4 NMAC, Records Management Requirements for Electronic Messaging). The content of email messages may vary considerably; therefore, each email shall be evaluated to determine if it meets the definition of a public record as defined in the Public Records Act. Non-records or transitory emails that do not provide evidence of official agency policies or business transactions may be deleted.

There are two types of records retention and disposition schedules created by the state records center and archives for local governments. General interpretive schedules that list records common to all local government agencies and local government records retention and disposition schedules (LGRRDS) which are specific to local government offices. Each record series will be represented in the format listed below

- (1) Program - describes the function of the records
- (2) Maintenance system - describes how an agency files (organizes) records
- (3) Description - describes the purpose and content of a record

Such photographs, microfilms, photographic film or microphotographs shall be deemed to be an original record for all purposes, including introduction in evidence in all courts or administrative agencies. (Section 14-1-5, 14-1-6 NMSA 1978)

1.15.7.9 INSTRUCTIONS:

A. Records retention and disposition schedules identify the types of records maintained by local government and educational institutions and specify a period of time which records must be retained. A retention period may be stated in terms of months or years and is sometimes expressed as contingent upon the occurrence of an event. There are several types of records retention and disposition schedules promulgated by the commission for local government and educational institutions. General schedules list records common to all local government and educational institutions and local government and educational schedules list records specific for that entity. Each record series will be represented in the format listed below.

- (1) Program - describes the function of the records
- (2) Maintenance system - describes how an agency files (organizes) records
- (3) Description - describes the purpose and content of a record
- (4) Retention - defines the length of time records must be kept before they are eligible for destruction or archival preservation.

B. For records of a general administrative nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Administrative (For Use By Local Government and Educational Institutions), 1.15.3 NMAC.

C. For records of a financial nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Financial (Interpretive), 1.15.5 NMAC.

D. For records of a personnel nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Personnel (Interpretive), 1.15.7 NMAC.

E. For records of a medical nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Medical, 1.15.8 NMAC.

F. Retention periods shall be extended until six months after all current or pending litigation; current claims, audit exceptions or court orders involving a record have been resolved or concluded.

G. The descriptions of files are intended to be evocative, not complete. For example, there will always be some documents that are included in a file that are not listed in the description, and similarly, not every file will contain an example of each document listed in the description.

H. Confidentiality is denoted for files likely to contain confidential materials or information; however files without a confidentiality note may contain confidential or privileged information. Failure to include a confidentiality note in the description of a record series does not waive confidentiality. Refer questions concerning the confidentiality of a file to legal counsel for the agency.

I. Access to confidential documents, information or files shall be only by authorization of the agency records custodian (Section 14-2-8 NMSA 1978), or by the office of the attorney general or by court order, unless otherwise provided by law. Release of confidential documents to law enforcement and other government agencies, shall only be upon specific statutory authorization or court order.

J. Records may be photographed, microfilmed, digitized or converted to computer output microfilm provided a microphotography plan has been approved by the state records administrator (Section 14-3-17 NMSA 1978). Such photographs, microfilms, photographic film or microphotographs shall be deemed to be an original record for all purposes, including introduction as evidence in all courts or administrative agencies (Section 14-1-6 NMSA 1978).

K. Public records placed on magnetic tapes, disks or other data processing media shall be retained for the length of time specified in records retention and disposition schedules and are subject to the same confidentiality and access restrictions as paper records. See also 1.13.70 NMAC, Performance Guidelines for the Legal Acceptance of Public Records Produced by Information Technology Systems.

L. Email is a transmission medium for content that may or may not be a public record. Email messages that contain information sent or received by an agency in connection with the transaction of official state business or in pursuance of law are public records and are subject to retention requirements established in records retention and disposition schedules. Email messages are required to be categorized, filed and retained on the basis of content (1.13.4 NMAC, Records Management Requirements for Electronic Messaging). The content of email messages may vary considerably; therefore, each email shall be evaluated to determine if it meets the definition of a public record as defined in the Public Records Act. Non-records or transitory emails that do not provide evidence of official agency policies or business transactions may be deleted.

M. Non-scheduled public records created by an agency in pursuance of law or in connection with the transaction of public business shall have a retention period of permanent until such time the non-scheduled record has been scheduled and a retention period adhering to operational, legal, fiscal, historical or other purposes is established.

1.15.8.9 INSTRUCTIONS:

A. Records retention and disposition schedules identify the types of records maintained by state agencies and specify a period of time which records must be retained. A retention period may be stated in terms of months or years and is sometimes expressed as contingent upon the occurrence of an event. There are several types of records retention and disposition schedules promulgated by the commission for state agencies. General schedules list records common to all agencies and executive schedules list records specific to an agency. Each record series will be represented in the format listed below.

- (1) Program - describes the function of the records
- (2) Maintenance system - describes how an agency files (organizes) records
- (3) Description - describes the purpose and content of a record
- (4) Retention - defines the length of time records must be kept before they are eligible for destruction or archival preservation.

B. For records of a general administrative nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Administrative, 1.15.2 NMAC.

C. For records of a financial nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Financial, 1.15.4 NMAC.
D. For records of a personnel nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Personnel, 1.15.6 NMAC.
E. For records of a medical nature, refer to the GRRDS, General Medical, 1.15.8 NMAC.
F. Retention periods shall be extended until six months after all current or pending litigation; current claims, audit exceptions or court orders involving a record have been resolved or concluded.

G. The descriptions of files are intended to be evocative, not complete. For example, there will always be some documents that are included in a file that are not listed in the description, and similarly, not every file will contain an example of each document listed in the description.

H. Confidentiality is denoted for files likely to contain confidential materials or information; however files without a confidentiality note may contain confidential or privileged information. Failure to include a confidentiality note in the description of a record series does not waive confidentiality. Refer questions concerning the confidentiality of a file to legal counsel for the agency.

I. Access to confidential documents, information or files shall be only by authorization of the agency records custodian (Section 14-2-8 NMSA 1978), or by the office of the attorney general or by court order, unless otherwise provided by law. Release of confidential documents to law enforcement and other government agencies, shall only be upon specific statutory authorization or court order.

J. Records may be photographed, microfilmed, digitized or converted to computer output microfilm provided a microphotography plan has been approved by the state records administrator (Section 14-3-17 NMSA 1978). Such photographs, microfilms, photographic film or microphotographs shall be deemed to be an original record for all purposes, including introduction as evidence in all courts or administrative agencies (Section 14-1-6 NMSA 1978).

K. Public records placed on magnetic tapes, disks or other data processing media shall be retained for the length of time specified in records retention and disposition schedules and are subject to the same confidentiality and access restrictions as paper records. See also 1.13.70 NMAC, Performance Guidelines for the Legal Acceptance of Public Records Produced by Information Technology Systems.

L. Email is a transmission medium for content that may or may not be a public record. Email messages that contain information sent or received by an agency in connection with the transaction of official state business or in pursuance of law are public records and are subject to retention requirements established in records retention and disposition schedules. Email messages are required to be categorized, filed and retained on the basis of content (1.13.4 NMAC, Records Management Requirements for Electronic Messaging). The content of email messages may vary considerably; therefore, each email shall be evaluated to determine if it meets the definition of a public record as defined in the Public Records Act. Non-records or transitory emails that do not provide evidence of official agency policies or business transactions may be deleted.

When the destruction of a record is required, all versions of said records shall be electronically over-written on machine readable media on which it is stored (or media destroyed). See also 1.13.70 NMAC: Performance Guidelines for the Legal Acceptance of Public Records Produced by Information Technology Systems.
- K. Records management has one main goal, the systematic control of records from creation to ultimate disposition. A key element in achieving this goal is the establishment of efficient and effective procedures for filing and retrieving records. There is no one best filing system for every situation. Each district office must determine the most appropriate methods of filing paper records and arranging records in other formats such as microfilm, audio-visual material, and electronic media. The selection of an appropriate filing system requires knowledge of the information needs of the office. There are three basic filing systems or schemes: alphabetical, using letters of names, subjects, or geographic locations; numerical, using digits in various combinations, including dates in a chronological system; and alphanumerical, using a combination of letters and numbers. Because each system has distinct advantages and disadvantages, the maintenance systems described in this retention schedule are provided only to suggest a filing system based on how records are used or referenced, how many records are maintained, size of the office, and who uses the records. These suggested filing systems are also based on similar record series previously surveyed and scheduled by the New Mexico state records center and archives.

[1.19.11.9 NMAC - N, 6/28/2004]

1.19.11.10 AGENCY FUNCTION: The purpose of the soil and water conservation districts is to: control and prevent soil erosion; prevent floodwater and sediment damage; further the conservation, development, beneficial application and proper disposal of water; promote the use of impounded water for recreation, propagation of fish and wildlife, irrigation and for urban and industrial needs; and by the application of these measures, conserve and

Meeting Minutes

by Tiffany Rivera, Natural Resource Specialist,

Purpose

Minutes of a soil and water conservation district are the chief means of documenting decisions made and actions taken by a district board. They are a permanent public record and so provide a history of a district.

Minutes should be complete but concise. You should be able to go back in the minutes to research action taken and find out what happened. Generally, minutes should record what is done by the board and why, not what is said by the members.

Minutes must contain a description of the subject of all discussions had by the board, even if no action is taken or considered. The description may be a concise, but accurate, statement of the subject matter discussed and does not have to be a verbatim account of who said what. Personal opinions and details of debate or discussion are not included, unless a statement is made "for the record." It may be useful, although it is not required, to also record the other persons invited or present who participate in the deliberations.

All minutes are open to public inspection. Draft minutes shall be prepared within ten working days after the meeting. (A tape recording of the meeting qualifies as draft minutes.) Minutes are not official until approved by the district board.

Draft copies of minutes must be available for public inspection and should clearly indicate on the draft that they are not the official minutes and are subject to approval by the district board.

The district board must approve, amend or disapprove draft minutes at the next meeting where a quorum is present. Official minutes open to public inspection under the Open Meetings Act, NMSA 1978, Chapter 10, Article 15, and the Inspection of Public Records Act, NMSA 1978, Sections 14-2-1 to -12.

The minutes of the district board should include the following information:

- The name, place, date and time of the meeting;
- Whether it is a regular or special meeting;
- A list of supervisors and others present;
- A list of absent board members
- Disposition of previous meetings' minutes (approved, amended or disapproved)
- The financial report, including:
 - Balances of all accounts
 - Income (money received since last meeting)
 - Money due the district
 - Disbursements made since last meeting
 - A list of bills due
 - Authorization to pay bills
- Each motion in full and the name of the person making the motion, the person seconding the motion, how each person voted, and whether the motion was adopted or rejected.
 - If the vote was unanimous, it may be so stated. [Example: Mr. Doe moved that the district purchase a new computer through the state purchasing contract. After a second by Mr. Stevens, the motion passed unanimously.]
 - If there are dissenting votes, name those board members in the minutes. [Example: Mr. Doe moved that the district purchase a new computer through the state purchasing contract. After a second by Mr. Stevens, the motion passed with Mr. Jones voting against the motion.]
 - When a board member abstains from voting, note that in the minutes. [Example: The motion failed, with Ms. Smith abstaining.]

- A roll-call vote should be recorded on all resolutions. When a roll-call vote is in effect, each member must be listed by name and his/her vote recorded. Example:

John Doe	yea
Mary Smith	nay
Steve Jones	absent
Jim Stevens	abstain
Jane Brown	yea

- Any points of order or appeal, whether sustained or lost
- A summary of each report given
- All the actions taken by the board. (A motion which was withdrawn should not be recorded.)
- Signature on the minutes of a board member such as the chairman, secretary or other designated board member. The employee of the district who prepared the minutes may attest.

Minutes should be reported in the order in which the business was presented in the meeting, with a separate paragraph for each subject covered. The agenda item should be restated in the minutes, so that the context of the paragraph is clear. Do not depend on an attached agenda to give context to the minutes; the two documents may become separated at some point in the future. A sample format for minutes is found in Exhibit 5.1.

Copies of minutes should be sent after every district board meeting to the local Natural Resources Conservation Service representative, the NMDA soil and water conservation specialist, the president of the New Mexico Association of Conservation Districts (NMACD) and to the NMACD region chair.

Examples of Poor Minutes (names have been changed to protect the innocent):

"John Doe researched the web site from the USF&W service and a letter with comments has been submitted from the District Board."
[Commentary: This statement gives no indication of what topic was addressed by the web site, or the nature of the comments submitted by the district.]

"3. They got the MOU signed by everyone and have had the first MOU meeting. They will put together several public meetings. The first meeting will be set for sometime in May. The next meeting of the Commission will be in Ourtown on March 1 at the Community Center."

[Commentary: This case seems to be the result of depending on the agenda for context, but the agenda was not attached to the minutes when they were mailed.]

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MEETING MINUTES

December 5, 2005

The meeting was called to order at 4:08 p.m. by Chairman Steve Glass. Steve introduced Russell Bennett, who is taking Roy Todd's place as the NMDA Soil and Water Conservation Specialist. Supervisors welcomed him to his new position. Supervisors present: Richard Becker, Steve Glass, Sara Juarez, David Lujan, Fred Rael. Supervisors absent: Lauro Silva. Others present: Brent Bason, Russ Bennett, Jen Davidson, Susan Rich, Arlen Ricke.

AGENDA The agenda was approved as prepared.

MINUTES Richard Becker made a motion, seconded by Sara Juarez, to approve the minutes of the November 7, 2005 board meeting. Motion passed.

FINANCIAL REPORTS AND BILLS Susan Rich distributed the financial reports prepared by Jo Ann King for the month of November. The Board reviewed the list of accounts payable. All bills were approved and paid as regular line item expenses.

REPORTS: PERSONNEL COMMITTEE – Sara Juarez and Arlen Ricke replaced Cecil and Corina as members on the Personnel Committee. Steve Glass reported on personnel issues related to assuming the role of URGPP fiscal agent. The board discussed the pros, cons, and complicating factors of doing so. Fred Rael made a motion that Steve, representing Ciudad at the URGPP meeting, offer to assume the job as fiscal agent on the following conditions: Ciudad act as fiscal agent only, with each SWCD hiring its own manager/inspector and running its own RFPs for contractors; request 20% of the total URGPP funding from NMDA upfront to minimize turnaround time to pay contractors; charge a 12% management fee. Motion seconded by Sara Juarez and passed.

POLICY COMMITTEE – Steve asked David Lujan, as chair of the Policy Committee, to come up with guidance/recommendation on ways the SWCDs and NRCS can better outreach to disadvantaged communities. Arlen noted that NRCS has a draft outreach plan. David will arrange a committee meeting; members include Fred and Steve.

BUDGET COMMITTEE – Members include Lauro, Richard, and Steve, who plan to set up a mid-year budget review meeting in January.

NRCS DC REPORT - DC Arlen Ricke distributed and reviewed the monthly report. The Albuquerque Field Office plans to do two outreach meetings, one in each SWCD, with a presentation about the EQIP and WHIP programs. He plans to hold meetings in locations that are easy for underserved producers to reach scheduled early enough before the 1/27 cutoff date to allow producers time to get in their applications. Arlen also wants to hold a contractors meeting to educate new contractors about the programs and get feedback from current ones on their experiences. He presented maps requested by the Board showing locations of practices installed in the district. Supervisors examined the maps and accompanying data, asked Arlen to thank Carol Feeney for her work on them, and had a long discussion about which statistics on farm bill programs are allowed to be presented to the general public.

NMDA REPORT Russ Bennett distributed and reviewed the NMDA monthly report (copy attached), plus the new election rules and timeline. Susan reported that letters with information required for the 2006 supervisor election already was mailed to the Bernalillo and Sandoval County Clerks. Russ gave a brief background of his agricultural and work experience.

PROJECT UPDATES AND ACTIONS Susan Rich distributed a staff report for the month of November (attached). Sara Juarez made a motion, seconded by Richard Becker, to authorize Susan to draft and advertise an RFP for forestry contractors for the East Mountain Forest Health Program and act on extending current contracts, if permitted by state procurement rules. Motion passed. Steve Glass and David Lujan volunteered to serve on a proposal evaluation committee. Susan reviewed the status of the RFP for a contractor to produce an East Mountain Community Wildfire Protection Plan. She reported that the evaluation team recommended contracting with SWCA Environmental Consultants. That recommendation was adopted by the CWPP Core Team. The draft PSA was mailed/mailed to supervisors for review. Fred Rael made a motion, seconded by Richard Becker, to authorize Steve Glass to sign the finalized contract with SWCA. Susan briefed the board on subdivision reviews for the Eagle Point and Las Leyendas subdivisions, both located off Mountain Valley Road, and reported that a request was received to review Remington Estates in the South Valley.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS The Board asked Susan to research the reasons the Ciudad/Edgewood boundary was changed from the county line to its current location. Steve reported that Lauro Silva had been unable to attend the New Mexico First Town Hall on Watershed and Forest Health due to pneumonia. Steve reported on the proceedings as they had been told to him by other attendees, and on a parallel effort by the Watersheds Workgroup, of which he and Richard are members, to tackle the same issues. Susan described how Ciudad is attempting to address the many aspects of watershed health for its watersheds by pasting together a jigsaw puzzle of programs funded by multiple grants that cover different types of projects. Report on the NMACD conference was deferred until January. David Lujan reported to the Board that Mac Griego felt his resignation letter was sufficiently self-explanatory. David made a motion, seconded by Sara Juarez, to accept Mac's resignation. Motion passed. The Chair will send a response letter. Susan was asked to send a qualification form and cover letter inviting their applications to Moises Gonzales, Kathy McCoy, Michelle Yazzie Brown and others suggested for appointment to the vacated position.

NEW BUSINESS Fred Rael moved to adopt Open Meetings Resolution 2006-03 with the addition of an item permitting telephonic participation. Motion seconded by Richard Becker and passed.

CORRESPONDENCE AND SCHEDULE OF UPCOMING EVENTS Supervisors examined items listed on back of the agenda.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:30 p.m. upon a motion by Sara Juarez.

Because January 2nd is a federal holiday, the next board meeting will be held on Monday, January 9, 2006 at 4:00 p.m. in the USDA first floor conference room, 6200 Jefferson NE.

Parliamentary Procedure

by Roy Todd, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist

New Mexico Department of Agriculture

Parliamentary procedure is based on the consideration of the rights of the majority, the rights of the minority (especially a large minority greater than one-third), the rights of individual members, the rights of absentee members, and the rights of all of these groups taken together. It can be a quick, efficient, organized and democratic way to conduct business at a meeting. Following the proper rules of order insures fairness and gives validity to board actions.

Though it is not required, a soil and water conservation district (SWCD) board of supervisors may choose to adopt Robert's Rules of Order or some other system as the authority and reference for the rules of conduct of their meetings. Use parliamentary procedure to help your meetings run logically and reduce chaos, but don't be a slave to it. If such a system is adopted, the board is accountable only to themselves as to whether the rules are followed. The New Mexico Open Meetings Act supersedes any locally adopted policy or procedure, so a board must take care not to violate the law in an attempt to comply with parliamentary procedure. Violations of parliamentary procedure are not necessarily violations of the Open Meetings Act, but a violation of the Open Meetings Act will void the action taken.

This guide was prepared specifically to assist soil and water conservation districts to conduct effective meetings. State laws governing SWCDs and local government operations supersede principles of parliamentary procedure.

Types of Motions and their Definitions

A Main or Principal Motion is a motion made to bring before the assembly, for its consideration, any particular subject. It cannot be made when any other question is before the assembly; and any Privileged, Incidental, and Subsidiary motions can be made while a main motion is pending.

Subsidiary Motions may modify the original motion, postpone action, or refer the motion to a committee to investigate and report, etc. They may be applied to any main motion, and when made they supersede the main motion and must be decided before the main motion can be acted upon.

Incidental Motions arise out of another question which is pending, and therefore take precedence of and must be decided before the question out of which they rise; or, they are incidental to a question that has just been pending and should be decided before any other business is taken up. They yield to privileged motions, and generally to the motion to lay on the table.

Privileged Motions, while not relating to the pending question, are of so great importance as to require them to take precedence of all other questions and, on account of this high privilege, they are undebatable.

Unclassified Motions are motions which cannot conveniently be classified as either Main, Subsidiary, Incidental, or Privileged.

Principal Motions

When a motion has been made, seconded, and stated by the chair, the assembly is not at liberty to consider any other business until this motion has been disposed of.

1. To Amend: This motion is “to change, add, or omit words” in the original main motion, and is debatable, amendable, and requires a majority vote.

To Amend the Amendment: This is a motion to change, add or omit words in the first amendment, and is debatable, not amendable, and requires a majority vote.

2. To Refer: When a motion becomes involved through amendments or when it is wise investigate a question more carefully, it may be moved to refer the motion to a committee for further consideration. It is debatable, amendable, and requires a majority vote.

3. To Lay on the Table: The object of this motion is to postpone the subject under discussion in such a way that it can be taken up at some time in the near future when a motion “to take from the table” would be in order. These motion are not debatable or amendable, and requires a majority vote.

4. To Postpone: A motion to postpone the question can be used to postpone the question to a specific time, date, event, or next meeting. To postpone indefinitely is not to postpone, but to reject the motion without incurring the risk of a vote on the motion.

5. To Adjourn: This motion is always in order except:

- When a speaker has the floor.
- When a vote is being taken.
- After it has just been voted down.
- When the assembly is in the midst of some business which cannot be abruptly stopped.

When meeting the above conditions, the motion is not debatable.

When the motion is made to adjourn to a definite place and time, it is debatable.

6. To Reconsider: The motion to reconsider a motion that was carried or lost, is in order if made on the same day or the next calendar day, but must be made by one who voted on the prevailing side. The motion to reconsider requires two votes: First on whether it should be reconsidered, second on the original motion after reconsideration.

7. The Previous Questions: This motion is to close debate on the pending question. The motion is not debatable or amendable, and requires a 2/3 vote.

8. Point of Order: This motion is always in order, but can be used only to present an objection to a ruling of the chair or some method of parliamentary procedure. The motion is not debatable or amendable, and the chair rules on the motion.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

1. The meeting is "called to order" by the chair.
2. The minutes of the preceding meeting are read by the secretary and
 - a. may be approved as read.
 - b. may be approved with additions or corrections.
3. Monthly statement of Treasurer is "Received as read and filed for audit." (Chair so states.)
4. Reports of standing committees are called for by the chair.
5. Reports of special committees are called for by the chair.
6. Unfinished business is next in order at the call of the chair.
7. New business.
8. The program (if an annual or other special meeting). The program is part of the meeting; the chair presides throughout.
9. Adjournment.

Nominations and Elections

This section should be used as a guide for the election of a chair, vice chair, and secretary/treasurer on an SWCD board (sometimes referred to as "organization" of the board). Nomination and election to the office of supervisor on an SWCD board is governed by the state Soil and Water Conservation District Act (73-20-25 through 73-20-48 NMSA 1978) and rules issued by the Soil and Water Conservation Commission(21.9.2 NMAC).

Before proceeding to an election to fill an office it is customary to nominate one or more candidates. The nomination need not be seconded.

A motion to close nominations is not a necessary part of the election procedure, and it should not generally be moved. When nominations have been made by a committee or from the floor, the chair should inquire whether there are any further nominations; and when there is no response, he declares that nominations are closed.

When only one nominee is put up and bylaws do not require a ballot, the chair can take a voice vote, or can declare that the nominee is elected, thus effecting the election by unanimous consent or “acclamation.” The motion to close nominations should not be used as a means of moving the election of the candidate in such a case.

General Consent

Business can be expedited greatly by avoiding the formality of motions and voting in routine business and on questions of little importance, the chair assuming general (unanimous) consent until someone objects. It does not necessarily mean that every member is in favor of the motion, but, that knowing it is useless to oppose it, or even to discuss it, the opposition simply acquiesces in the informality. Thus, in the case of approving the minutes, the chair inquires if there are any corrections, and, if one is suggested, it is made: when no correction [or no further correction] is suggested, the chair says: "There being no corrections [or no further corrections] the minutes stand approved." While routine and minor matters can be rapidly disposed of in this way, if at any time objection is made with reasonable promptness, the chair ignores what has been done in that case even if he has announced the result, and requires a regular vote.

Treasurer's Report

If the society has auditors the report should be handed to them, with the vouchers, in time to be audited before the meeting. The auditors having certified to its correctness, submit their report, and the chair puts the question on adopting it, which has the effect of approving the treasurer's report, and relieving them from responsibility in case of loss of vouchers, except in case of fraud. If there are no auditors the report when made should be referred to an auditing committee, who should report on it later.

It should always be remembered that the financial report is made for the information of members. The details of dates and separate payments for the same object are a hindrance to its being understood, and are useless, as it is the duty of the auditing committee to examine into details and see if the report is correct.

Mileage and Per Diem for Soil and Water Conservation Districts

by Roy Todd, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist

Purpose

At the 2003 legislative session the mileage and per diem statutes were changed. The changes may be found in the New Mexico Statute Authority (NMSA) under Chapter 10 article 8. The rules governing the statutes are found in the New Mexico Administrative Code (NMAC) under Title 2, Chapter 42, Part 2.

When determining what your reimbursement will be, remember that mileage and per diem are separate items. You can claim mileage and per diem, only per diem, or only mileage.

The following rules apply to supervisors and district employees:

Board meetings

If a supervisor attends a board meeting, they are entitled to $95.00 per meeting day. They cannot collect mileage. Boards may choose to pay less for per diem and include Districts need to have a board policy on travel to board meetings in their policy manual or in their minutes by a resolution.

mileage as part of their reimbursement as long as it does not go over the per diem rate of $95.00. Example: the board may decide to pay $50.00 per meeting and pay mileage. You can have any combinations of mileage and per diem as long as you do not go over the allowed rate of $95.00.

Other official meetings

If a supervisor or district employee attends a meeting, does not stay overnight and it is in a normal work day, they may receive mileage to attend the meeting, but not per diem. The mileage rate is based on the previous year's IRS mileage rate.

A normal work day is defined as 8 hours within a nine-hour period.

If a supervisor or district employee attends a meeting, does not stay overnight, but extends beyond the normal work day, the following rules apply:

For less than 2 hours of travel beyond the normal workday: $0.00

For 2 hours, but less than 6 hours
beyond the normal workday: $12.00

For 6 hours, but less than 12 hours
beyond the normal workday: $20.00

For 12 hours or more beyond the normal workday: $30.00

In order for a supervisor or employee to be eligible for per diem for over night travel, they must travel more than 35 miles from their home base.

Overnight travel

If a board member or district employee attends a meeting and overnight lodging is required, regardless of the hours traveled and the distance is more than 35 miles, they can be reimbursed as follows:

In state areas $85.00

Instate special areas (Santa Fe) $135.00

Out of State areas $115.00

Out of State Special rate $215.00

Return from overnight travel:

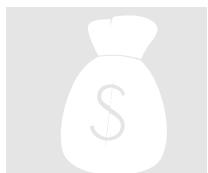

When a board member or district employee returns home on the last day of travel when overnight lodging is no longer required, partial day reimbursement can be made. To calculate the number of hours in the partial day, begin with the time departed and the time returned. Divide the number of hours traveled by 24. The hours remaining are eligible for partial day per diem, they are as follows:

- | | |
|--|---------|
| ▪ Less than 2 hours: | $0.00 |
| ▪ 2 hours, but less than 6 hours: | $12.00 |
| ▪ 6 hours or more, but less than 12 hours: | $20.00 |
| ▪ 12 hours or more: | $30.00 |

If a supervisor or district employee uses their personal vehicle traveling to the meeting, they are additionally eligible to be reimbursed for mileage at 32 cents per mile.

Reimbursement of actual expenses in lieu of per diem rates

Supervisors and district employees can take actual expenses in lieu of per diem. This can be done, when the cost of the room plus meals would exceed the per diem rate, or if the district is on a tight budget and rooms and meals can be purchased more economically than the per diem rate.

Supervisors and district employees are eligible for government discounts which are offered at many hotels. Reimbursement for rooms should not exceed the single occupancy room rate including tax.

Actual expenses for meals are limited to a maximum of $30.00 for a 24 hour period. (Paying for meals for others is not recommended; it could put the supervisor or employee over their limit in which case they would not be reimbursed for other meals during the 24 hour period.)

On the last day of travel when no overnight lodging is required, partial day reimbursement is to be used. Calculations are done as described above in the overnight per diem. If a supervisor or district employee pays for a meal more than what the partial day per diem allows, they will only be reimbursed for the partial per diem rate. Actual expenses do not apply for partial per diem.

When supervisors or district employees travel on actual expenses, receipts for the actual meals and lodging are required for reimbursement. No receipts are required when traveling on per diem.

If a supervisor or district employee use their personal vehicle and travel on actual expenses, they are eligible for mileage at the previous year's IRS rate.

The key reminder when traveling and using actual expenses is that there is the $30.00 per day limit on meals during the 24 hour period

Reimbursement for travel when the registration fee includes meals and or lodging: It states in the mileage and per diem act under 2.42.2.8a: per diem rate shall be paid to public officers and employees only in accordance with the provision of this section. Per Diem rate shall be paid with out regard to whether expenses are actually incurred. Where lodging and/or meals are provided or paid for by the districts, the public officer or employee is entitled to reimbursement only for actual expenses under 2.42.2.9 NMAC. If a supervisor or employee attends a conference and some of the meals are included in the registration they are still entitled to the $30.00/day for meals, but they would have to travel on actual expenses and keep receipts of their meals. If the registration includes lodging they would be entitled to receive reimbursement for their meals again up to the $30.00 per day and be on actual expenses.

NOTE

Districts need to have a board policy on travel to meetings in their policy manual or in their minutes by a resolution. The mileage and per diem act is a mandatory rule that districts must follow. If a district cannot afford to pay the current mileage and per diem rates, they need set their own policy, not exceeding the maximum allowable rates as described above. Reimbursements can always be less than the mileage and per diem rate, but never more.

The affidavit must accompany the travel voucher and include the signature of the agency head or governing board. See Appendix B for a sample affidavit.

C. Return from overnight travel: On the last day of travel when overnight lodging is no longer required, partial day reimbursement shall be made. A. Notwithstanding any other specific law to the contrary and except as provided in Subsection I of this section, every nonsalaried public officer shall receive either reimbursement pursuant to the provisions of Subsection K or L of this section or up to ninety-five dollars ($95.00) per diem expenses:

(1) for each board or committee meeting attended; or

(2) for each day spent in discharge of official duties for travel within the state but away from the officer's home.

Nonsalaried public officers who travel to attend a board or committee meeting may elect to be reimbursed per diem under either Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection.

B. Every salaried public officer or employee who is traveling within the state but away from the officer's or employee's home and designated post of duty on official business shall receive either reimbursement pursuant to the provisions of Subsection K or L of this section or:

(1) up to eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per diem expenses for each day spent in the discharge of official duties for a salaried public officer or employee of a local public body or state agency. If the secretary finds that a per diem allowance of eighty-five dollars ($85.00) is inadequate for reimbursement of expenses in any municipality of this state, the secretary may authorize the reimbursement of per diem for travel to the municipality not to exceed one hundred thirty-five dollars ($135); or

(2) up to eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per diem expenses for each day spent in the discharge of official duties for a salaried public officer or employee of a public post-secondary educational institution. If the governing board finds that a per diem allowance of eighty-five dollars ($85.00) is inadequate for reimbursement of expenses in any municipality of this state, the governing board may authorize the reimbursement of per diem for travel to the municipality not to exceed one hundred thirty-five dollars ($135).

C. Every public officer or employee shall receive either reimbursement pursuant to the provisions of Subsection K or L of this section or:

(1) for public officers or employees of a state agency or local public body, up to one hundred fifteen dollars ($115) per diem expenses for each day of travel outside the state on official business. If the secretary finds that a per diem allowance of one hundred fifteen dollars ($115) is inadequate for out-of-state travel to a geographical area, the secretary may authorize per diem not to exceed two hundred fifteen dollars ($215) for out-of-state travel to that geographical area; provided that the secretary may authorize per diem for travel to a locality inside or outside the continental United States for a public officer or employee who is reimbursed solely from federal funds in accordance with the rate allowed by the federal government for travel to that locality. In lieu of per diem, a person trained in the field of accountancy and performing duties in that field of training as an employee while assigned for periods exceeding three weeks per assignment to travel out of state on official business may receive either reimbursement pursuant to the provisions of Subsection K of this section or actual expenses not to exceed two hundred fifteen dollars ($215) per day. Expenses shall be substantiated in accordance with rules promulgated by the department of finance and administration. The secretary may promulgate rules defining what constitutes out-of-state travel for purposes of the Per Diem and Mileage Act; or

(2) for public officers or employees of a public post-secondary educational institution, up to one hundred fifteen dollars ($115) per diem expenses for each day of travel outside the state on official business. If the governing board finds that a per diem allowance of one hundred fifteen dollars ($115) is inadequate for out-of-state travel to a geographical area, the governing board may authorize per diem not to exceed two hundred fifteen dollars ($215) for out-of-state travel to that geographical area; provided that the governing board may authorize per diem for travel to a locality inside or outside the continental United States for a public officer or employee who is reimbursed solely from federal funds in accordance with the rate allowed by the federal government for travel to that locality. Expenses shall be substantiated in accordance with rules promulgated by the governing board. The governing board may promulgate rules defining what constitutes out-of-state travel for purposes of the Per Diem and Mileage Act.

D. Every public officer or employee shall receive up to the internal revenue service standard mileage rate set January 1 of the previous year for each mile traveled in a privately owned vehicle or eighty-eight cents ($.88) a mile for each mile traveled in a privately owned airplane if the travel is necessary to the discharge of the officer's or employee's official duties and if the private conveyance is not a common carrier; provided, however, that only one person shall receive mileage for each mile traveled in a single privately owned vehicle or airplane, except in the case of common carriers, in which case the person shall receive the cost of the ticket in lieu of the mileage allowance.

E. The per diem and mileage or per diem and cost of tickets for common carriers paid to salaried public officers or employees is in lieu of actual expenses for transportation, lodging and subsistence.

F. In addition to the in-state per diem set forth in this section, the department of finance and administration, by rule, may authorize a flat subsistence rate in the amount set by the legislature in the general appropriation act for commissioned officers of the New Mexico state police in accordance with rules promulgated by the department of finance and administration.

G. In lieu of the in-state per diem set in Subsection B of this section, the department of finance and administration may, by rule, authorize a flat monthly subsistence rate for certain employees of the department of transportation, provided that the payments made under this subsection shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be paid under Subsection B of this section.

H. Per diem received by nonsalaried public officers for travel on official business or in the discharge of their official duties, other than attending a board or committee meeting, and per diem received by public officers and employees for travel on official business shall be prorated in accordance with rules of the department of finance and administration or the governing board.

I. The provisions of Subsection A of this section do not apply to payment of per diem expense to a nonsalaried public official of a municipality for attendance at board or committee meetings held within the boundaries of the municipality.

J. In addition to any other penalties prescribed by law for false swearing on an official voucher, it shall be cause for removal or dismissal from office.

K. With prior written approval of the secretary or the secretary's designee or the local public body, a nonsalaried public officer of a state agency or local public body, a salaried public officer of a state agency or local public body or a salaried employee of a state agency or local public body is entitled to per diem expenses under this subsection and shall receive:

(1) reimbursement for actual expenses for lodging; and

(2) reimbursement for actual expenses for meals not to exceed thirty dollars ($30.00) per day for in-state travel and forty-five dollars ($45.00) per day for out-of-state travel.

L. With prior written approval of the governing board or its designee, a nonsalaried public officer of a public post-secondary educational institution, a salaried public officer of a public post-secondary educational institution or a salaried employee of a public post-secondary educational institution is entitled to per diem expenses under this subsection and shall receive:

(1) reimbursement for actual expenses for lodging; and

(2) reimbursement for actual expenses for meals not to exceed thirty dollars ($30.00) per day for in-state travel and forty-five dollars ($45.00) per day for out-of-state travel.

ANNOTATIONS

Source of compensation. — Nothing in the Per Diem and Mileage Act specifies the source from which board members are to receive compensation for travel costs. N.M. Bd. of Veterinary Med. v. Rieger, 2006-NMCA-069, 139 N.M. 679, 137 P.3d 619, affirmed in part, reversed in part, 2007-NMSC-044, 142 N.M. 248, 164 P.3d 947.

Per diem not part of wages. — Where an employee could not show that reimbursement for per diem expenses for out-of-town travel was in excess of his actual expenses and thus constituted a real economic gain to him, per diem payments were not included in his wages for purposes of calculating the amount of workers' compensation payable to the employee. Antillon v. N.M. State Highway Dep't, 113 N.M. 2, 820 P.2d 436 (1991).

Enforcement of dropped restriction disallowed. — Where a 35-mile condition is retained only in a per diem clause of a bargaining agreement and it is clear that the parties intended that the 35-mile condition would not apply to a special living allowance provision, the highway department, once it agrees to drop a restriction during negotiations, cannot now be allowed to enforce it. Local 2238 AFSCME v. N.M. State Highway Dep't, 93 N.M. 195, 598 P.2d 1155 (1979).

Intent of payment. — Payment under this section is intended to defray costs incurred in travel associated with the performance of public business rather than serve as a salary for services performed. 1977 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 77-20.

State highway commissioners. — State highway commissioners, as unsalaried state officers, may not draw the statutory per diem allowance while engaged in official state business at their residence or personal business premises. 1977 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 77-20.

County commissioners. — The "designated post of duty" of a county commissioner is established by reference to Section 4-38-8 NMSA 1978 at the county seat, and, therefore, a county commissioner may not receive per diem for travel to commission meetings or other official business at the county seat. 1988 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 88-65.

Public officials of public post-secondary educational institutions and employees of public post-secondary educational institutions shall be subject to the rules and regulations of their governing boards.

B. Public funds may be advanced to any public officer or employee before the travel occurs only with prior written approval of the secretary, the secretary's designee, the local public body or the governing board or its designee. This restriction shall not prohibit the use of authorized credit cards in connection with purchases necessary to the use of vehicles owned by the state, a local public body or a public post-secondary educational institution or for food, lodging or transportation as permitted by the department of finance and administration or the governing board. Public funds shall be paid out under the Per Diem and Mileage Act only upon vouchers duly presented with any required receipts attached thereto. For employees authorized to receive public funds in advance of travel, payment shall be received only upon vouchers submitted with attached authorization for each travel period. For public officers or employees using authorized credit cards, vouchers with required receipts for each month's travel expenses shall be submitted as a condition to receiving authorization to use the credit card for the next month's travel. Travel expenses may also be advanced if the travel is to be performed under provisions of federal or private contracts and the funds used are not derived from taxes or revenues paid to the state or any of its political subdivisions.

C. Money expended by the governor from the appropriations made for his office and contingent and other expenses are not subject to any of the foregoing provisions of this section and are not subject to audit; provided that the governor shall only use contingent and other expenses for purposes connected with obligations of the office. An expenditure report on the use of the governor's contingent and other expenses shall be submitted annually to the department of finance and administration.

D. The secretary may reduce the rates set for the per diem and mileage for any class of public officials and for employees of state agencies, except public officials of public post-secondary educational institutions, at any time he deems it to be in the public interest, and such reduction shall not be construed to permit payment of any other compensation, perquisite or allowance. The secretary shall exercise this power of reduction in a reasonable manner and shall attempt to achieve a standard rate for all public officers and employees of the same classification. The secretary may, at the request of any state agency and for good cause shown, reduce the rates of per diem and mileage for that state agency. The governing body of any local public body may eliminate or may reduce the rates set for the per diem and mileage for all or any class of public officials and employees of the local public body at any time the local public body deems it to be in the public interest, and such reduction shall not be construed to permit payment of any other compensation, perquisite or allowance. The local public body shall exercise this power of reduction in a reasonable manner and shall attempt to achieve a standard rate for all public officers and employees of the same classification. The secretary may, in extraordinary circumstances and with the prior approval of the state board of finance in public meeting, allow actual expenses rather than the per diem rates set in the Per Diem and Mileage Act.

E. The governing board or its designee may reduce the rates set for the per diem and mileage for public officials of public post-secondary educational institutions and for employees of public post-secondary educational institutions at any time the governing board deems it to be in the public interest, and such reduction shall not be construed to permit payment of any other compensation, perquisite or allowance. The governing board shall exercise this power of reduction in a reasonable manner and shall attempt to achieve a standard rate for public officers and employees of public post-secondary educational institutions. The governing board may reduce the rates of per diem and mileage for its public post-secondary educational institution and may, in extraordinary circumstances and in public meeting, allow actual expenses rather than the per diem rates set in the Per Diem and Mileage Act.

F. No reimbursement for out-of-state travel shall be paid to any elected public officer, including any member of the legislature, if after the last day to do so that officer has not filed a declaration of candidacy for reelection to his currently held office or has been defeated for reelection to his currently held office in a primary election or any general election.

G. Subsection F of this section does not apply to any elected public officer who is ineligible to succeed himself after serving his term in office.

H. Subsection F of this section does not apply to legislators whose travel has been approved by a three-fourths' vote of the New Mexico legislative council at a regularly called meeting.

I. Any person who is not an employee, appointee or elected official of a county or municipality and who is reimbursed under the provisions of the Per Diem and Mileage Act in an amount that singly or in the aggregate exceeds one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) in any one year shall not be entitled to further reimbursement under the provisions of that act until the person furnishes in writing to his department head or, in the case of a department head or board or commission member, to the governor or, in the case of a member of the legislature, to the New Mexico legislative council an itemized statement on each separate instance of travel covered within the reimbursement, the place to which traveled and the executive, judicial or legislative purpose served by the travel.

Auditing: Tier System

by Katie Mechenbier, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist
New Mexico Department of Agriculture

Introduction

Audit Rule 2011: 2.2.2.16 pages 87-94

The tiered system was developed by the New Mexico Office of the State Auditor. This system was designed to make auditing less expensive and less demanding for certain public bodies whose annual revenues and expenditures may be significantly less than the average public body. The revenues and expenditures designate the tier requirements of the public body. There are a total of 7 tiers, with the 7th tier being the only level to require a full audit.

Tier Determination

According to the Audit Rule 2.2.2.16(6)(d-e) “The local public body shall retain all procurement documentation, including completed evaluation forms, for five years in accordance with applicable public records laws.” Each district should make a copy of all forms and contracts and keep them on file for five years.

To determine the tier requirements for each district the district should fill out the following form: Determining Type of Reporting Requirements and Independent Public Accountant (IPA) Services Needed. This form can be found on the New Mexico Office of the State Auditor at:

http://www.saonm.org/tiered_system_reporting .

Revenue is the key determinant for the audit tiers. Revenue DOES NOT include capital outlay, federal grant or private grant revenue. The following formula can help determine the revenue for a district:

- $$\begin{aligned} & \text{Revenue (cash basis)} \\ & - (\text{Capital Outlay Revenue}) \\ & - (\text{Federal or Private Grant Revenue}) \end{aligned}$$

= Annual Revenue for Tier Structure

Tier 1

A district qualifying under tier 1 must have revenue less than $10,000 dollars and expenditures less than 50% (fifty percent). To receive maximum points for the SWCD point system #5, tier 1 districts must meet, at a minimum, the budget report requirements of DFA Local Government Division (6-6-3 NMSA 1978) and tier 2 requirements of the Audit Rule (2.2.2.16 NMAC), with copies sent to the SWCC in care of NMDA. The SWCC and NMDA strongly encourage tier 1 and 2 districts to submit both the quarterly reports and budgets. This will ensure compliance if unexpected revenue increases occur toward the later part of the fiscal year causing the district to shift into a higher tier. A tier 1 district will need fill out the certification form which can be found at:

http://www.saonm.org/tiered_system_reporting. The form shall be mailed back to the State Auditor's Office by December 1st of the following fiscal year. If December 1st falls on a weekend or holiday the form is due the next work day.

Tier 2

A district qualifying under tier 2 must have revenue greater than $10,000 dollars but less than $50,000 dollars. Additionally, if the district has been awarded capital outlay funding, they must not have spent more than 50% (fifty percent) of the award within the fiscal year in order to remain in the 2nd tier. To receive maximum points for the SWCD point system #5, tier 2 districts must meet, at a minimum, the budget report requirements of DFA Local Government Division (6-6-3 NMSA 1978) and tier 2 requirements of the audit rule (2.2.2.16 NMAC). Copies of the reports shall be sent to the SWCC in care of NMDA. The SWCC and NMDA strongly encourage tier 1 and 2 districts to submit both the quarterly reports and budgets. This will ensure compliance if unexpected revenue increases occur toward the later part of the fiscal year causing the district to shift into a higher tier. Compliance with Section 6-6-3 of the Audit Rule includes:

- The district must keep all books, records and accounts in the district office(s) or designated office(s).
- The district must submit all reports required by the local government division.

- The district must abide and conform to the rules and regulations adopted by the local government division.

The certification form is the only required financial reporting due to the New Mexico Office of the State Auditor. The certification form can be found at http://www.saonm.org/tiered_system_reporting. The form shall be mailed back to the State Auditor's Office by December 1st of the following fiscal year. If December 1st falls on a weekend or holiday the form is due the next work day.

Tier 3-7: Selecting an IPA

Tiers 3-7 do not require a certification form but are more extensive. An Agreed-Upon Procedure (AUP) is required for tiers 3 through 7. Each district which falls in a tier 3-7 must also complete an IPA (Independent Public Accountant) form. IPA forms can be found at: <http://www.saonm.org/procuring-contracts>. Click on the Tier form that applies to the district for the appropriate year.

The IPA Recommendation Form and the AUP contract must be completed in full, signed and printed on district letterhead. If the district does not have letterhead they can hand write or type the district's name, address, phone number, email and fax (if applicable) on the top of the contract. The IPA Recommendation Form and AUP Contract must be submitted to the New Mexico State Auditor's Office by May 15th of the following fiscal year. If May 15th falls on a weekend or a holiday it will be due the next working day.

A district which falls in a tier 3-7 must select an IPA who is either on the "Approved State Auditor's" list or find their own IPA. The "Approved State Auditor's" list can be found on the State Auditor website at: http://www.saonm.org/approved_audit_firms. If the IPA is not on the approved State Auditor list of approved audit firms, the district or IPA must submit the following items:

- Firm Contact Information
- A copy of the firm's New Mexico firm permit to practice
- Proof of current liability insurance
- A copy of the firm's current peer review, if applicable
- An explanation why the district selected an IPA that did not appear on the State Auditor List

The State Auditor Office will then review IPA based on the required criteria in order to approve or disapprove the firm. If the firm is not approved the district will be notified and must promptly submit a different recommendation. However, if the district wishes for the State Auditor's Office to reconsider a firm who was disapproved, the district may submit a written request within 15 days of the rejection. The district must include required documentation to support their request for reconsideration.

*Any errors or omissions on the IPA Recommendation Form and AUP will result in rejection. The State Auditor Office will return the forms to the district with a checklist indicating why the forms were rejected.

A district whose audit fees are less than $50,000 (excluding gross receipts tax) can obtain a bid from an IPA for 3 years. The district can also obtain a bid for one year only if they wish. The district can use the same firm for up to 12 years, in three year increments, as long as the audit fees remain less than $50,000 (excluding gross receipt tax).

A district whose audit fees are over $50,000 (excluding gross receipts tax) (usually a tier 7) can obtain a bid from an IPA for 3 years. The district can use the same firm up to six years, in three year increments.

State Procurement Code requires three written quotes for professional services incurring expenses less than $50,000. For expenses $50,001 or more, State Procurement Code requires 3 formal sealed proposals.

AUP Report

The Agreed-Upon Procedure report for tiers 3-7 is due to the State Auditor's Office by December 1st of the following fiscal year. If December 1st falls on a weekend or holiday the form is due the next work day.

*All AUPs require any fraud, illegal acts, noncompliance or any internal control deficiencies to be reported as findings in the reports.

The tier 3-7 AUP reports must include the following:

- Table of Contents
- Official Roster
- Capital Outlay Award detail (Tiers 3, 5 and 6)
- The procedures performed and the results of those procedures
- Budget to Actual (Tier 4-6 only)
- Copy of year-end report submitted to DFA
- Schedule of findings and responses
- Exit conference information

Tier 6 will also include a financial compilation.

A district's AUP report will not be considered or approved until the following documents have also been received:

1. A signed and dated engagement letter.
2. A signed and dated management representation letter.
3. An organized bound hard copy of the report.

*No email or faxed copies of the above documents will be accepted.

If for any reason an AUP will be submitted late to the State Auditor, a notification letter must be sent out right away. The notification letter must include a specific explanation regarding the reason the report will be late, when the IPA expects to submit the report and the concurring signature by the local body. If the IPA does not meet the date he/she expected to have the AUP submitted after the extension was granted, a second revised notification letter should be sent. If the contract was signed after the report due date, the notification letter must still be submitted to the State Auditor's Office explaining the reason the AUP report will be submitted after the due date.

*A copy of the letter(s) must also be sent to the Local Government Division (LGD) of the DFA.

The State Auditor's Office will review the IPA's report for compliance. Any deficiencies will be communicated to the IPA and LGD through fax. All deficiencies will be corrected/cleared prior to the release of the report.

According to Section 12-6-5(A) NMSA 1978 neither the IPA nor the district shall release any information to the public relating to the Agreed-Upon Procedures engagement, until five days after the report has been officially released by the State Auditor, or the five days have been waived by the local public body and the report has become public record.

Open Meetings Act

This chapter contains Nuts & Bolts of the Open Meetings Act, a quick reference to the provisions of the law that apply to soil and water conservation districts, and the Open Meetings Act Compliance Guide, Seventh Edition, which is published by the Office of the New Mexico Attorney General. The full text of the Open Meetings Act is found in section II of this guide.

More recent versions of the guide, or any updates to the Act, may be available on the website for the Office of the New Mexico Attorney General.

What would you think if your county commission, state legislature, or the U.S. Congress conducted all their business in secret? if you had no knowledge of how your representatives voted? if you were denied the opportunity to listen to the deliberations and decision-making process on issues that affect you everyday? You would probably assume these elected officials were doing something wrong and trying to hide it or that you were being cheated in some way.

Like all elected officials, supervisors of a soil and water conservation district (SWCD) must give the public an opportunity to scrutinize their actions and expenditures of public funds. For the state of New Mexico, the New Mexico Open Meetings Act (10-15-1 through 10-15-4 NMSA 1978) is one law which sets out requirements that a SWCD must meet to ensure the public has adequate access to the business conducted by its board.

Complying with the Open Meetings Act is mostly a matter of common sense: give the public reasonable notice of SWCD board meetings, and conduct regular business in full view of anyone who chooses to attend. (Yes, there are exceptions to this rule. The Act specifies how and under what conditions a meeting may be closed to the public. Keep reading!)

This guide was prepared specifically to assist soil and water conservation districts in complying with the New Mexico Open Meetings Act. Provisions and requirements of the Act which are not likely to affect SWCDs were not included. For more complete information, refer to the Open Meetings Act Compliance Guide available from:

A Compliance Guide for
New Mexico Public Officials and Citizens

GARY K. KING
Attorney General

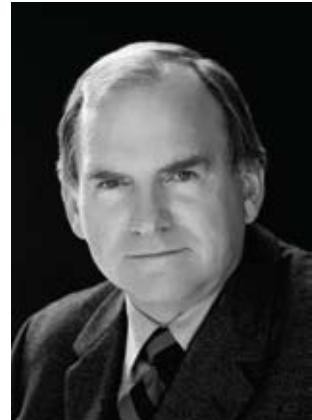

This seventh edition of the Compliance Guide updates the edition issued in 2008 to reflect a 2009 legislative amendment that subjects legislative standing committees and conference committees to the Open Meetings Act under certain circumstances. This edition also clarifies certain provisions of earlier editions that have been brought to our attention.

Seventh Edition

Dear Public Officials and Concerned Citizens:

Public access to the proceedings and decision-making processes of governmental boards, agencies and commissions is an essential element of a properly functioning democracy. In a comment applicable to open government, Justice Louis Brandeis once observed that “sunshine is the best disinfectant.” I agree wholeheartedly. As former President Harry S. Truman later put it even more succinctly: “Secrecy and a free, democratic government don’t mix.”

Like you, I believe strongly in open government. Meetings held by public officials to discuss public business, particularly when conducted with the public taxpayers’ money, are the taxpayers’ business. The Open Meetings Act is one of New Mexico’s “good government” laws, and it deserves the full support of all New Mexicans.

As Attorney General, I am charged by law with the responsibility to enforce the provisions of the New Mexico Open Meetings Act. I take that charge seriously. The publication of this Compliance Guide is one of the ways this office carries out its responsibility. We hope that it will serve as an effective resource for policymakers and the public alike.

Thank you for your interest and concern.

I. Introduction

The “Open Meetings Act,” NMSA 1978, Sections 10-15-1 to 10-15-4, is known as a “sunshine law.” All states have such laws, which are essentially motivated by the belief that the democratic ideal is best served by a well-informed public. Sunshine laws generally require that public business be conducted in full public view, that the actions of public bodies be taken openly, and that the deliberations of public bodies be open to the public.

The Attorney General is authorized by Section 10-15-3(B) of the Act to enforce its provisions. Accordingly, this Compliance Guide has been prepared by the Attorney General to provide assistance in the application of the provisions of the Act to all boards and commissions of the state, counties, municipalities, school districts, conservation districts, irrigation districts, housing authorities, councils of government and other public bodies that are responsible to the public and subject to the Act. It should be noted that many of the issues discussed in this Guide have not been the subjects of judicial interpretation. By necessity, therefore, the Guide in most respects represents the views of the Attorney General. Although the Attorney General believes the construction of the Open Meetings Act reflected in this Guide is correct, it is always possible that a court faced with the same issues would disagree with the Attorney General’s interpretation.

New Mexico’s Open Meetings Act addresses four areas. The first defines the basic policy of the state with respect to meetings of non-legislative public bodies and how it is to be applied in conducting public business; the second defines the policy as it applies to meetings of committees of the state legislature; the third addresses the effect that violating the law may have on the validity of actions taken by public bodies; and the fourth defines the penalty for violation of the law.

These areas are discussed sequentially in the text of this Guide. For ease of reference, the entire Act is set forth on pages 2 through 6.

The Open Meetings Act was most recently amended during the 2009 legislative session. The amendment requires that, with limited exceptions, legislative committee meetings be open to the public at all times, and that the public be given reasonable notice of when such meetings are scheduled.

For ease of understanding, the text in this Guide is divided into three areas:

- 1) The Law, as written, is in bold type.
- 2) Commentary or explanation is in regular type.
- 3) Examples of when the law would and would not apply are in italic type.

If you would like additional copies of this Guide, or if you have any questions about the Guide or the applicability of the Act, please contact the Civil Division of the Office of the Attorney General, P.O. Drawer 1508, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87504-1508, or by telephone at (505) 827-6070. II. Open Meetings Act

10-15-1. Formation of Public Policy

A. In recognition of the fact that a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate, it is declared to be public policy of this state that all persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those officers and employees who represent them. The formation of public policy or the conduct of business by vote shall not be conducted in closed meetings. All meetings of any public body except the legislature and the courts shall be public meetings, and all persons desiring shall be permitted to attend and listen to the deliberations and proceedings. Reasonable efforts shall be made to accommodate the use of audio and video recording devices.

B. All meetings of a quorum of members of any board, commission, administrative adjudicatory body or other policymaking body of any state agency, any agency or authority of any county, municipality, district or any political subdivision, held for the purpose of formulating public policy, including the development of personnel policy, rules, regulations or ordinances, discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of or the delegated authority of any board, commission or other policymaking body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times, except as otherwise provided in the constitution of New Mexico or the Open Meetings Act. No public meeting once convened that is otherwise required to be open pursuant to the Open Meetings Act shall be closed or dissolved into small groups or committees for the purpose of permitting the closing of the meeting.

C. If otherwise allowed by law or rule of the public body, a member of a public body may participate in a meeting of the public body by means of a conference telephone or other similar communications equipment when it is otherwise difficult or impossible for the member to attend the meeting in person, provided that each member participating by conference telephone can be identified when speaking, all participants are able to hear each other at the same time and members of the public attending the meeting are able to hear any member of the public body who speaks during the meeting.

D. Any meetings at which the discussion or adoption of any proposed resolution, rule, regulation or formal action occurs and at which a majority or quorum of the body is in attendance, and any closed meetings, shall be held only after reasonable notice to the public. The affected body shall determine at least annually in a public meeting what notice for a public meeting is reasonable when applied to that body. That notice shall include broadcast stations licensed by the federal communications commission and newspapers of general circulation that have provided a written request for such notice.

E. A public body may recess and reconvene a meeting to a day subsequent to that stated in the meeting notice if, prior to recessing, the public body specifies the date, time and place for continuation of the meeting, and, immediately following the recessed meeting, posts notice of the date, time and place for the reconvened meeting on or near the door of the place where the original meeting was held and in at least one other location appropriate to provide public notice of the continuation of the meeting. Only matters appearing on the agenda of the original meeting may be discussed at the reconvened meeting.

F. Meeting notices shall include an agenda containing a list of specific items of business to be discussed or transacted at the meeting or information on how the public may obtain a copy of such an agenda. Except in the case of an emergency, the agenda shall be available to the public at least twenty-four (24) hours prior to the meeting. Except for emergency matters, a public body shall take action only on items appearing on the agenda. For purposes of this Subsection, an “emergency” refers to unforeseen circumstances that, if not addressed immediately by the public body, will likely result in injury or damage to persons or property or substantial financial loss to the public body.

G. The board, commission or other policymaking body shall keep written minutes of all its meetings. The minutes shall include at a minimum the date, time and place of the meeting, the names of members in attendance and those absent, the substance of the proposals considered and a record of any decisions and votes taken that show how each member voted. All minutes are open to public inspection. Draft minutes shall be prepared within ten working days after the meeting and shall be approved, amended or disapproved at the next meeting where a quorum is present. Minutes shall not become official until approved by the policymaking body.

H. The provisions of Subsections A, B and G of this section do not apply to:

(1) Meetings pertaining to issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license except that a hearing at which evidence is offered or rebutted shall be open. All final actions on the issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license shall be taken at an open meeting;

(2) limited personnel matters; provided that for purposes of the Open Meetings Act, “limited personnel matters” means the discussion of hiring, promotion, demotion, dismissal, assignment or resignation of or the investigation or consideration of complaints or charges against any individual public employee; provided further that this Subsection is not to be construed as to exempt final actions on personnel from being taken at open public meetings; nor does it preclude an aggrieved public employee from demanding a public hearing. Judicial candidates interviewed by any commission shall have the right to demand an open interview;

(3) deliberations by a public body in connection with an administrative adjudicatory proceeding. For purposes of this paragraph, an “administrative adjudicatory proceeding” means a proceeding brought by or against a person before a public body in which individual legal rights, duties or privileges are required by law to be determined by the public body after an opportunity for a trial-type hearing. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the actual administrative adjudicatory proceeding at which evidence is offered or rebutted and any final action taken as a result of the proceeding shall occur in an open meeting;

(4) the discussion of personally identifiable information about any individual student, unless the student, his parent or guardian requests otherwise;

(5) meetings for the discussion of bargaining strategy preliminary to collective bargaining negotiations between the policymaking body and a bargaining unit representing the employees of that policymaking body and collective bargaining sessions at which the policymaking body and the representatives of the collective bargaining unit are present;

- (6) that portion of meetings at which a decision concerning purchases in an amount exceeding two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) that can be made only from one source and that portion of meetings at which the contents of competitive sealed proposals solicited pursuant to the Procurement Code are discussed during the contract negotiation process. The actual approval of purchase of the item or final action regarding the selection of a contractor shall be made in an open meeting;
- (7) meetings subject to the attorney-client privilege pertaining to threatened or pending litigation in which the public body is or may become a participant;
- (8) meetings for the discussion of the purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights by the public body;
- (9) those portions of meetings of committees or boards of public hospitals where strategic and long-range business plans or trade secrets are discussed; and
- (10) that portion of a meeting of the gaming control board dealing with information made confidential pursuant to the provisions of the Gaming Control Act.

I. If any meeting is closed pursuant to the exclusions contained in Subsection H of this section, the closure:

- (1) If made in an open meeting, shall be approved by a majority vote of a quorum of the policymaking body; the authority for the closure and the subject to be discussed shall be stated with reasonable specificity in the motion calling for the vote on a closed meeting; the vote shall be taken in an open meeting; and the vote of each individual member shall be recorded in the minutes. Only those subjects announced or voted upon prior to closure by the policymaking body may be discussed in a closed meeting; and
- (2) if called for when the policymaking body is not in an open meeting, shall not be held until public notice, appropriate under the circumstances, stating the specific provision of the law authorizing the closed meeting and stating with reasonable specificity the subject to be discussed, is given to the members and to the general public.

J. Following completion of any closed meeting, the minutes of the open meeting that was closed, or the minutes of the next open meeting if the closed meeting was separately scheduled, shall state that the matters discussed in the closed meeting were limited only to those specified in the motion for closure or in the notice of the separate closed meeting. This statement shall be approved by the public body under Subsection G of this section as part of the minutes.

10-15-1.1. Short Title.

NMSA 1978, Chapter 10, Article 15 may be cited as the “Open Meetings Act.”

10-15-2. State Legislature; Meetings.

- A. Unless otherwise provided by joint house and senate rule, all meetings of any committee or policymaking body of the legislature held for the purpose of discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of or the delegated authority of the committee or body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times. Reasonable notice of meetings shall be given to the public by publication or by the presiding officer of each house prior to the time the meeting is scheduled.
- B. The provisions of Subsection A of this section do not apply to matters relating to personnel or matters adjudicatory in nature or to investigative or quasi-judicial proceedings relating to ethics and conduct or to a caucus of a political party.
- C. For the purpose of this section, "meeting" means a gathering of a quorum of the members of a standing committee or conference committee held for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of the committee or body.

10-15-3. Invalid Actions; Standing.

- A. No resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance or action of any board, commission, committee or other policymaking body shall be valid unless taken or made at a meeting held in accordance with the requirements of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1. Every resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance or action of any board, commission, committee or other policy-making body shall be presumed to have been taken or made at a meeting held in accordance with the requirements of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1.

- B. All provisions of the Open Meetings Act shall be enforced by the attorney general or by the district attorney in the county of jurisdiction. However, nothing in that act shall prevent an individual from independently applying for enforcement through the district courts, provided that the individual first provides written notice of the claimed violation to the public body and that the public body has denied or not acted on the claim within fifteen days of receiving it. A public meeting held to address a claimed violation of the Open Meetings Act shall include a summary of comments made at the meeting at which the claimed violation occurred.

- C. The district courts of this state shall have jurisdiction, upon the application of any person to enforce the purpose of the Open Meetings Act, by injunction, mandamus or other appropriate order. The court shall award costs and reasonable attorney fees to any person who is successful in bringing a court action to enforce the provisions of the Open Meetings Act. If the prevailing party in a legal action brought under this section is a public body defendant, it shall be awarded court costs. A public body defendant that prevails in a court action brought under this section shall be awarded its reasonable attorney fees from the plaintiff if the plaintiff brought the action without sufficient information and belief that good grounds supported it.

- D. No section of the Open Meetings Act shall be construed to preclude other remedies or rights not relating to the question of open meetings.

10-15-4. Penalty.

Any person violating any of the provisions of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1 or 10-15-2 is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense.

Commentary

It is common practice for public bodies to adopt Robert's Rules of Order or a similar code of parliamentary procedure to govern the process for calling and conducting meetings and taking action. The public body must take care not to violate the Open Meetings Act in its attempt to comply with its own parliamentary rules.

The Open Meetings Act is mandatory and will supersede any such local policy or procedure. While a violation of the Open Meetings Act will void the action taken, actions that do not comply with a body's own parliamentary rules may not be invalidated where there is no statutory violation.

III. Section 10-15-1.

Formation of Public Policy

A. State Policy on Open Meetings

The Law

In recognition of the fact that a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate, it is declared to be public policy of this state that all persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those officers and employees who represent them. The formation of public policy or the conduct of business by vote shall not be conducted in closed meetings. All meetings of any public body except the legislature and the courts shall be public meetings, and all persons so desiring shall be permitted to attend and listen to the deliberations and proceedings. Reasonable efforts shall be made to accommodate the use of audio and video recording devices.

Commentary

This Subsection states the basic open meetings policy of the state. The Act generally prohibits a public body from conducting public business in secret or in closed meetings and requires that such business be conducted by the public body acting as a whole at meetings open to all persons who wish to attend and listen. Unless a public body cannot reasonably do so, it must permit members of the public attending its meetings to record or video tape the proceedings. The Act does not require a public body to allow members of the public to speak at its meetings.

The courts and the legislature are excluded from the provisions of the Act that apply to other public bodies. Provisions of the Act specifically applicable to the legislature are discussed in Section IV.

Example 1:

A county manager needs the immediate approval of the board of county commissioners before executing a contract and calls the commissioners individually by telephone to secure such approval. Such a telephone poll as a substitute for official board action violates the intent of the Act. However, the board may avoid such hazards if it discusses the anticipated contract at a properly convened meeting and delegates to the county manager, its chief administrative officer, the authority to execute in the board's name. The county manager is not absolutely precluded from telephoning individual commissioners. The telephone poll is improper in this example because it is used to secure the approval of or final action by the board outside of an open meeting.

Example 2:

The city council is contemplating an ordinance adopting an 11:00 p.m. curfew for all persons under 18 years of age. Hundreds of residents attend the first meeting on the ordinance, carrying placards for and against it. The audience becomes loud and agitated and the local police remove several people for making threats against the council. The meeting lasts until 2:15 a.m. At the next meeting on the ordinance, the council limits presentations to those persons whose remarks are submitted to the council five days in advance of the meeting and places a five minute limit on such remarks.

Such restrictions are permitted. The Act requires only that persons be permitted to "attend and listen.” An open public meeting is not necessarily an open forum and, so long as the Act is complied with, public bodies may limit or not allow public debate and may take steps necessary to maintain public order.

Example 3:

The Disciplinary Board established by the State Supreme Court to investigate attorney misconduct holds a meeting to discuss hearing procedures. Because the Board is established by the Supreme Court and is an agency of the court, it is not subject to the Act under the express exemption for courts. Although exempt from the Act’s coverage, the Supreme Court is free to promulgate regulations covering whether and when the Board’s meetings are open to the public and requirements for public notice if it so chooses.

Commentary

As a policy statement, Subsection A generally sets forth the spirit or intent of the law and serves as the guiding principle to be followed in applying the particular provisions of the Act. Where a situation is not specifically covered by the Act, doubt as to the proper course of action should be resolved in favor of openness whenever possible. Compliance with the Act is not just a matter of adhering to the Act’s specific requirements, but contemplates a more flexible obligation of public bodies to open their deliberations to public scrutiny.

B. Public Meetings Subject to the Act

The Law

All meetings of a quorum of members of any board, commission, administrative adjudicatory body or other policymaking body of any state agency, any agency or authority of any county, municipality, district or any political subdivision, held for the purpose of formulating public policy, including the development of personnel policy, rules, regulations or ordinances, discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of or the delegated authority of any board, commission or other policymaking body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times, except as otherwise provided in the constitution of New Mexico or the Open Meetings Act. No public meeting once convened that is otherwise required to be open pursuant to the Open Meetings Act shall be closed or dissolved into small groups or committees for the purpose of permitting the closing of the meeting.

Commentary

This Subsection defines those meetings that are required to be open to the public, unless otherwise excepted from this requirement by the Constitution or another provision of the Act or an express and unavoidable conflict with more specific language in another law. The provisions of the Act apply to any meeting of a quorum of a policymaking public body held for the purpose of:

- (a) formulating public policy;
- (b) discussing public business; or
- (c) taking any action that the body has authority to take.

The Act’s requirement for open, public meetings applies to any discussion of public business among a quorum of a public body’s members. Usually, a quorum of a public body’s members meet together to discuss public business or take action. However, a quorum may exist for purposes of the Act even when the members are not physically present together at the same time and place. For example, if three members of a five member board discuss public business in a series of telephone or email conversations, the discussion is a meeting of a quorum. This is sometimes referred to as a “rolling” or “walking” quorum. The use of a rolling quorum to discuss public business or take action violates the Act because it constitutes a meeting of a quorum of the public body's members outside of a properly noticed, public meeting.

Example 4:

Mr. Green and Ms. Thomas, two members of the five-member board of directors for the ZZZ Domestic Mutual Water Users Association (a public body established under the Sanitary Projects Act), have a telephone conversation during which they decide that the board should discharge the Association's executive director.

Mr. Green writes a letter to the director terminating her employment, signs the letter and passes it on to Ms. Thomas. Ms. Thomas signs the letter and delivers it to a third board member, who signs it and delivers it to a fourth board member for his signature. The fifth board member does not participate in the termination action.

The board's action violates the Act. The letter discharging the executive director and signed by four of the board members amounts to action by a quorum of the board outside of a properly noticed and conducted public meeting. It makes no difference for purposes of the Act that the four members who made up the quorum were not together in the same place when they discussed and signed the letter.

Example 5:

Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith both serve on a board of county commissioners and constitute a quorum of that board. Jones and Smith are also in the same business and frequently run into each other in the course of a business day. Moreover, they are friends and see each other at various social functions. The Act is not intended to alter the business or social relationships of these men so long as they are not meeting in their capacity as county commissioners for the purpose of conducting public business. Should public business arise in such business or social settings, the two men should avoid discussing the matter between themselves. Rather, the matter should be raised, discussed and decided in an open meeting of the board.

Commentary

The Act broadly covers every kind of public body that can be characterized as "policymaking," including those that perform administrative adjudicatory functions. Administrative adjudicatory functions generally include holding trial-type hearings to consider facts and reaching conclusions regarding individual legal rights, duties or privileges.

Because the statute specifically refers only to meetings of a quorum of the members of a public body, meetings of a committee of a public body that is composed of less than a quorum of the members or of non-members of the public body are not subject to the provisions of the Act, provided the committee engages solely in fact-finding for the body or simply executes the policy decisions or final actions of the public body.

A committee established for fact-finding purposes by a board or commission should be distinguished from committees created by statute performing the same functions. A committee created by statute is a public body subject to the Open Meetings Act because the legislature considered the committee's functions important enough to provide it with a separate existence as a public body, and because the committee is not simply created by a public body as a means to carry out that body's business.

In some situations, even a non-statutory committee appointed by a public body may constitute a "policymaking body" subject to the Act if it makes any decisions on behalf of, formulates recommendations that are binding in any legal or practical way on, or otherwise establishes policy for the public body. A public body may not evade its obligations under the Act by delegating its responsibilities for making decisions and taking final action to a committee. This is true even when the public body delegates its authority for holding a meeting or hearing to a single individual. If a hearing would be subject to the Act if convened by the public body, the hearing cannot be closed simply because the public body appoints a single hearing officer to hold the hearing in its place.

Excepted from this rule are hearing officers specifically authorized by statute. In those situations, the legislature has placed responsibility for holding a hearing with either the public body or the hearing officer, and the hearing officer's authority to hold a hearing is not based solely on delegation by the public body. Because, under these circumstances, the hearing officer acts under separate authority rather than as a replacement for the public body and because such a statutory hearing officer is not itself a public body, a hearing held by the hearing officer would not be subject to the Act. Provisions of law besides the Open Meetings Act may, however, require the proceedings to be open. For example, all hearings under the Uniform Licensing Act, including those conducted by a hearing officer, must be open to the public. See NMSA 1978, Section 61-1-7.

Of course, where the chief policymaking official of an agency is a single individual, the Act does not apply because the official is not a public body, complete decision making authority is vested solely in the official, and no deliberation or vote is necessary for effective action.

Example 6:

The governor, the superintendent of insurance and the chief of the state police get together to discuss issues about which the three are concerned. These persons, although public officials, do not constitute a "public body" and, therefore, their meeting is not subject to the provisions of the Act.

Example 7:

The parents in a school district have been asked by the superintendent to form a group to study the district's athletic programs and make recommendations to the school board. The group's recommendations are not binding on the board. Because they act solely in an advisory capacity, and have no authority to make decisions on behalf of the board, the parents do not constitute a policymaking body of the school district and their meetings are not subject to the provisions of the Act.

Example 8:

Three members of an eight-member state licensing board are appointed by the chairman as a committee to decide on a final budget. The committee is not given specific budgetary instructions by the board and the committee members use their discretion regarding the specific allocations in the budget. Since the committee independently develops a budget for the board, the budget discussions conducted and decisions made by the committee are meetings of a policymaking body subject to the Act's requirements.

Example 9:

The Public Regulation Commission is a full-time salaried commission regularly engaged in the conduct of public business, i.e., utility rate regulation. Because the Commission is authorized to take final action and formulate policy, any meeting of a quorum of the members at which public business is discussed, even where no action is taken or policy actually formulated, is subject to the provisions of the Act.

Example 10:

A private non-profit health services corporation receives state and federal funding for its program. Unless a specific contractual provision or a statutory mandate independent of the Act imposes the duty of open meetings, a meeting of a quorum of the board of directors of the corporation is not subject to the provisions of the Act because the board of directors is not a board of the state, county, district or other political subdivision.

Example 11:

A cabinet secretary regularly meets with his key staff on Monday mornings to go over department affairs. From time to time, he may also invite interested legislators and persons from the private sector to advise him and his staff on particular matters. The decision-making authority of the department is nevertheless vested in the secretary, and the assembled Monday group, although influential, remains advisory. These meetings, therefore, are not subject to the Act.

Example 12:

A board of county commissioners is specifically required by statute to issue a particular order upon the occurrence of certain conditions. The duty to issue the order is purely ministerial; i.e., the board may not exercise any discretion or independent judgment. No decision or deliberation of the board is necessary or permitted. The board, at a meeting properly convened according to the Act, may authorize one member or an administrator to issue the order when the requisite conditions occur, and the official action may be taken without a subsequent meeting that would otherwise be subject to the Act.

Example 13:

Pursuant to its constitution, the board of regents of a state university delegates its policymaking authority to decide post-graduate curricula to the faculty senate of the respective post-graduate departments. Meetings of the faculty senate for the purpose of exercising that authority are subject to the Act.

Example 14:

A five-member city council creates an “advisory committee” composed of two city council members and other city officials to evaluate bidders on city contracts and to recommend a limited number of the bidders to the city council for final selection. By delegating authority to the committee to narrow the choices of potential contractors for the council’s consideration, the city council vests the committee with decision-making authority and subjects its meetings to the Act’s requirements.

Example 15:

A state commission establishes a search committee composed of experts in the field regulated by the commission to review and evaluate applications for positions on the commission’s staff. A provision in the commission’s by-laws provides that the search committee’s final recommendation on whom to hire is binding on the commission unless the commission receives reliable information from an independent source affecting the finalist’s qualifications. Because the commission has delegated virtually all of its decision-making authority to the search committee, the committee’s meetings are subject to the Act.

If the search committee’s recommendations were not expressly binding on the commission, but the commission routinely adopted the committee’s final recommendation without reviewing the other applicants, the committee’s meetings still would be subject to the Act. Although not required to by any express provision, the commission, as a matter of practice, would be delegating to the committee its authority to select employees.

Example 16:

A state board appoints a committee composed of two board members (less than a quorum of the board) and several members of the public to draft proposed regulations in accordance with the board’s instructions regarding the substance of the regulations. The board will review the proposed regulations, make all final decisions regarding the text of the regulations and determine whether to hold a public hearing on them. Provided the committee is not statutorily created and charged with drafting regulations for the board, meetings of the committee to draft the regulations will not be subject to the Act.

Example 17:

Pursuant to statute, two incorporated villages establish an intercommunity water supply association empowered to provide a supply of water to the villages' inhabitants. The villages are the association's only members and each village appoints three persons to serve at its pleasure as commissioners of the association. To fulfill its duties, the association is granted certain government powers, including the power of eminent domain. Because it is formed by public bodies and is authorized to perform certain functions on behalf of those bodies, the association also is a public body subject to the Act.

C. Telephone Conferences

The Law

If otherwise allowed by law or rule of the public body, a member of a public body may participate in a meeting of the public body by means of a conference telephone or other similar communications equipment when it is otherwise difficult or impossible for the member to attend the meeting in person, provided that each member participating by conference telephone can be identified when speaking, all participants are able to hear each other at the same time and members of the public attending the meeting are able to hear any member of the public body who speaks during the meeting.

Commentary

This provision sets forth requirements for members of a public body who attend a meeting by conference call. The Act does not itself authorize attendance by telephone. But if members of a public body have independent authority by law or regulation to participate in meetings by telephone, the requirements will apply.

Example 18:

The state student loan authority is granted the same powers as are exercised by non-profit organizations incorporated under state law. The Nonprofit Corporation Act provides that "the board of directors ... may participate in a meeting of the board ... by means of a conference telephone or similar communications equipment ... and participation by such means shall constitute presence in person at a meeting." This law authorizes a member of the authority's governing board who is unable to attend a meeting in person to participate by conference telephone if the requirements of the Open Meetings Act are met.

Commentary

Even where attendance by telephone is allowed, it would defeat the purposes of the Open Meetings Act if this were done by a large number of board members. That is why the legislature provided that participation by telephone conference may occur only when "difficult or impossible." Thus, in all cases where it is possible, members of a public body should attend meetings in person. Participation by telephone should occur only when circumstances beyond the member's control would make attendance in person extremely burdensome. The provision is not intended to encourage participation by telephone in cases where personal attendance would be merely inconvenient or would be more efficient or economical for the public body.

D. Notice Requirements

The Law

Any meetings at which the discussion or adoption of any proposed resolution, rule, regulation or formal action occurs and at which a majority or quorum of the body is in attendance, and any closed meetings, shall be held only after reasonable notice to the public. The affected body shall determine at least annually in a public meeting what notice for a public meeting is reasonable when applied to that body. That notice shall include broadcast stations licensed by the federal communications commission and newspapers of general circulation that have provided a written request for such notice.

Commentary

This Subsection requires that reasonable notice be given of public meetings at which proposed rules, regulations, resolutions or formal action will be discussed or adopted. In effect, this means a public body must give notice of all public meetings of a quorum of the public body. The notice must include licensed broadcast stations and newspapers of general circulation that have made a written request for notice of the public body's meetings.

Example 19:

The governing body of an irrigation district wishes to call a special meeting to discuss an emergency situation resulting from flood damage. The action of simply calling a meeting is not formal action for purposes of the notice provisions of the Act, since requiring notice of a meeting to call a meeting is obviously impractical. This might be overcome by a policy of the public body authorizing the chairman or president to call such meetings as he or she deems necessary.

Commentary

This Subsection also requires each public body to determine its notice procedures at least once a year in a public meeting. Accordingly, each public body should adopt an annual resolution or other announcement at a regularly scheduled open meeting stating its procedure for giving notice of meetings. The Act does not impose any specific maximum or minimum requirements, and what constitutes reasonable notice may vary according to the type of meeting or public body. In general, however, a reasonable notice must adequately, accurately, and sufficiently in advance inform the public of the meeting's time, place and date, and should be published or posted in a place and manner accessible to the public.

Example 20:

The mayor of the Village of Las Ropas calls a special meeting of the Board of Trustees. The public meeting notice states that the meeting will be held the following Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the Village Hall. At 4:30 p.m. on the Friday preceding the meeting, the meeting notice is posted on the door of the Village Clerk's office in the Village Hall. The Village Hall closes at 5:00 p.m. on weekdays and is not open at all on weekends. The meeting notice is not reasonable for purposes of the Act because members of the public interested in attending the meeting have no meaningful opportunity to see the notice before the meeting.

Commentary

In most circumstances, the Attorney General will consider reasonable a notice procedure providing ten days advance notice for regular meetings, three days prior notice for special meetings and twenty-four hours advance notice for emergency meetings. If a public body meets regularly on a specific date, time and place, e.g., the second Wednesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. at the city auditorium, the public body need not provide ten days advance notice for each individual meeting as long as the public body sets forth the requisite information in the public body's notice resolution and makes the resolution available to the public.

Regardless of whether a meeting is a regular, special or emergency meeting, the Act requires the public body to provide notice that was given as far in advance as reasonably possible under the circumstances involved. For example, an "emergency meeting" called with little or no notice must involve issues that could not have been anticipated and which, if not addressed immediately by the public body, will threaten the health, safety or property of its citizens, or likely result in substantial financial loss to the public body.

Example 21:

With only one hour's advance notice, a mayor calls an "emergency meeting" of the town's governing board to discuss the purchase of a building. The building's owner has indicated that unless the town council decides to purchase the building in twenty-four hours, he will offer it to someone else. While the town has no particular need for the building, the mayor thinks it is a good deal. The town's open meetings resolution requires ten days notice for regular meetings, three days notice for special meetings, and twenty-four hours notice, if possible, for emergency meetings. The notice given for the meeting is unreasonable because the circumstances justifying an emergency meeting are not present.

Commentary

The next example illustrates a resolution containing notice procedures that generally will be considered reasonable. (NOTE: Paragraph 7 of the model resolution is intended to comply with the requirements of the federal Americans With Disabilities Act ("ADA"). It is not required by the Open Meetings Act, but we recommend that public bodies subject to the ADA include such a notice in their notice resolutions.)

Example 22:

[NAME OF COMMISSION, BOARD OR AGENCY] RESOLUTION NO. ____

WHEREAS, the _____ met in regular session at _____ on _____, 20____, at _____, a.m./p.m. as required by law; and agency held for the purpose of formulating public policy, discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of or the delegated authority of such body, are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times; and

WHEREAS, any meetings subject to the Open Meetings Act at which the discussion or adoption of any proposed resolution, rule, regulation or formal action occurs shall be held only after reasonable notice to the public; and

WHEREAS, Section 10-15-1(D) of the Open Meetings Act requires the _____ to determine annually what constitutes reasonable notice of its public meetings;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the _____ that:

1. All meetings shall be held at _____ at _____ a.m./p.m. or as indicated in the meeting notice.
2. Unless otherwise specified, regular meetings shall be held each month on _____. The agenda will be available at least twenty-four hours prior to the meeting from _____, whose office is located in _____, New Mexico. Notice of any other regular meetings will be given ten days in advance of the meeting date. The notice shall indicate how a copy of the agenda may be obtained.
3. Special meetings may be called by the Chairman or a majority of the members upon three days notice. The notice shall include an agenda for the meeting or information on how members of the public may obtain a copy of the agenda. The agenda shall be available to the public at least twenty-four hours before any special meeting.
4. Emergency meetings will be called only under unforeseen circumstances that demand immediate action to protect the health, safety and property of citizens or to protect the public body from substantial financial loss. The _____ will avoid emergency meetings whenever possible. Emergency meetings may be called by the Chairman or a majority of the members upon twenty-four hours notice, unless threat of personal injury or property damage requires less notice. The notice for all emergency meetings shall include an agenda for the meeting or information on how the public may obtain a copy of the agenda.

5. For the purposes of regular meetings described in paragraph 2 of this resolution, notice requirements are met if notice of the date, time, place and agenda is placed in newspapers of general circulation in the state and posted in the following locations _____. Copies of the written notice shall also be mailed to those broadcast stations licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and newspapers of general circulation that have made a written request for notice of public meetings.

6. For the purposes of special meetings and emergency meetings described in paragraphs 3 and 4 of this resolution, notice requirements are met if notice of the date, time, place and agenda is provided by telephone to newspapers of general circulation in the state and posted in the offices of _____. Telephone notice also shall be given to those broadcast stations licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and newspapers of general circulation that have made a written request for notice of public meetings.

7. In addition to the information specified above, all notices shall include the following language:

If you are an individual with a disability who is in need of a reader, amplifier, qualified sign language interpreter, or any other form of auxiliary aid or service to attend or participate in the hearing or meeting, please contact _____ at _____ at least one (1) week prior to the meeting or as soon as possible. Public documents, including the agenda and minutes, can be provided in various accessible formats. Please contact _____ at _____ if a summary or other type of accessible format is needed.

8. The _____ may close a meeting to the public only if the subject matter of such discussion or action is excepted from the open meeting requirement under Section 10-15-1(H) of the Open Meetings Act.

(a) If any meeting is closed during an open meeting, such closure shall be approved by a majority vote of a quorum of the _____ taken during the open meeting. The authority for the closed meeting and the subjects to be discussed shall be stated with reasonable specificity in the motion to close and the vote of each individual member on the motion to close shall be recorded in the minutes. Only those subjects specified in the motion may be discussed in the closed meeting.

(b) If a closed meeting is conducted when the _____ is not in an open meeting, the closed meeting shall not be held until public notice, appropriate under the circumstances, stating the specific provision of law authorizing the closed meeting and the subjects to be discussed with reasonable specificity, is given to the members and to the general public.

(c) Following completion of any closed meeting, the minutes of the open meeting that was closed, or the minutes of the next open meeting if the closed meeting was separately scheduled, shall state whether the matters discussed in the closed meeting were limited only to those specified in the motion or notice for closure.

(d) Except as provided in Section 10-15-1(H) of the Open Meetings Act, any action taken as a result of discussions in a closed meeting shall be made by vote of the _____ in an open public meeting.

Passed by the _____ this day of _____, 20__.

Commentary

As indicated in the model notice resolution set forth above in Example 22, meeting notices must include specified information about agendas and all meetings, including closed meetings, require advance notice to the public. The specific provisions of these requirements will be discussed below in Subsections (F) and (I).

E. Reconvened Meetings

The Law

A public body may recess and reconvene a meeting to a day subsequent to that stated in the meeting notice if, prior to recessing, the public body specifies the date, time and place for continuation of the meeting, and, immediately following the recessed meeting, posts notice of the date, time and place for the reconvened meeting on or near the door of the place where the original meeting was held and in at least one other location appropriate to provide public notice of the continuation of the meeting. Only matters appearing on the agenda of the original meeting may be discussed at the reconvened meeting.

Commentary

Sometimes, a public body may convene a meeting and then, because of the length of the meeting or other circumstances, be forced to recess and continue the meeting on another day. If this happens, the public body, before recessing the meeting, must state the date, time and place for continuation of the meeting. Immediately after the meeting is recessed, the public body also must post notice of the continuation on or near the door of the place where the meeting originated and in at least one other location where it is likely that people interested in attending the meeting will see the notice. The public body may not discuss items at the reconvened meeting that were not on the agenda of the original meeting.

Example 23:

A municipal zoning commission holds a hearing on a variance request. More people than anticipated appear to provide testimony for and against the variance. The commission wants to be sure that it receives input from all interested parties. At midnight, there are still several people left who wish to testify. The commission votes to recess the meeting and, before recessing, announces that the meeting will be reconvened the following day at 5:30 p.m. in the same room. After the meeting is recessed, a notice stating that the meeting will reconvene at the specified date, time and place is posted next to the door of the place where the meeting was held and on the bulletin board outside the commission's offices.

Example 24:

A state board holds a meeting that is interrupted by a bomb threat in the building. A search of the building reveals that the threat was a crank call, but the search takes two hours to complete. When they return to the meeting, the board members realize that they do not have time to discuss the last item on the agenda. They vote to reconvene the meeting two days later and comply with the requisite notice requirements. The next day, the board's administrator contacts the chair to request a meeting to decide on the purchase of office equipment. Although the board plans to reconvene the following day, it cannot discuss the purchase because it was not on the original meeting's agenda and is not an emergency. Instead, the chair must call a separate special meeting to discuss the purchase or wait to discuss the purchase at the next regular meeting.

F. Agenda

The Law

Meeting notices shall include an agenda containing a list of specific items of business to be discussed or transacted at the meeting or information on how the public may obtain a copy of such an agenda. Except in the case of an emergency, the agenda shall be available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the meeting. Except for emergency matters, a public body shall take action only on items appearing on the agenda. For purposes of this Subsection, an “emergency” refers to unforeseen circumstances that, if not addressed immediately by the public body, will likely result in injury or damage to persons or property or substantial financial loss to the public body.

Commentary

Public bodies must include an agenda in their meeting notices or information on where a copy of the agenda may be obtained. In general, the agenda must be available at least twenty-four hours before the meeting. At the meeting, the public body may discuss, but cannot take action on, matters that are not listed as specific items of business on the agenda. Action on items outside the agenda must be taken at a subsequent special or regular meeting.

Example 25:

A mutual domestic water users association reserves an hour of its regular board meeting for public comment. During the public comment portion of a meeting, a member of the association complains about frequent interruptions in water service. The topic was not listed on the agenda for the meeting. If they choose, the board members may discuss options for addressing the complaint, but must delay any action on it until a subsequent meeting after the issue is listed on the agenda available to the public twenty-four hours before the meeting.

Commentary

The agenda must contain “a list of specific items of business to be discussed or transacted at the meeting.” This requirement ensures that interested members of the public are given reasonable notice about the topics a public body plans on discussing or addressing at a meeting. Generally, a public body should not describe agenda items in broad or vague terms. Compliance with this requirement is particularly important when a public body intends to act on an agenda item.

Example 26:

The agenda for a school board meeting contains the following items of business:

1. Old Business
2. New Business
 - a. vending machines in the cafeteria
 - b. personnel matters

Under item 1, the board discusses and acts on three contracts. Under item 2(a), the board discusses and votes to allow vending machines in the middle school cafeteria. Under item 2(b), the board dismisses the director of the district’s administrative office and reorganizes the remaining staff positions. The board’s vote under item 2(a) is proper. In contrast, the board’s actions under items 1 and 2(b) violate the Act because those items were not listed as “specific items of business” on the agenda, as required by the Act. Items 1 and 2(b) are described in such general and vague terms that they do not give the public a reasonably clear idea about the actions the board intended to take at the meeting.

Commentary

The Act relaxes the agenda requirement in cases of emergency. The public body must still provide an agenda for an emergency meeting, but it need not be available twenty-four hours before the meeting. In addition, if an emergency matter arises too late to appear on a meeting's agenda, the public body is permitted to discuss and take action on the matter. For purposes of the agenda requirements, an "emergency" is a matter that could not be foreseen by the public body and that requires immediate attention by the public body to avoid imminent personal injury or property damage or substantial financial loss to the public body.

Example 27:

One hour before its regular meeting, a county commission is informed by the president of the bank holding deposits of county funds that the bank is about to fail. Because of certain accounting procedures, the commission's deposits at the bank for the day total $50,000 above the amount covered by federal deposit insurance. The county commission may consider and act on the matter at its regular meeting to avoid the $50,000 loss.

Example 28:

A local school board calls a special meeting with three days notice. The meeting notice states that the only item to be discussed is the need for updated instructional materials for the following school year. The school board is not required to do anything else to comply with the agenda requirement of the Act.

G. Minutes

The Law

The board, commission or other policymaking body shall keep written minutes of all its meetings. The minutes shall include at a minimum the date, time and place of the meeting, the names of members in attendance and those absent, the substance of the proposals considered and a record of any decisions and votes taken that show how each member voted.

All minutes are open to public inspection. Draft minutes shall be prepared within ten working days after the meeting and shall be approved, amended or disapproved at the next meeting where a quorum is present. Minutes shall not become official until approved by the policymaking body.

Commentary

All public bodies subject to the provisions of this Act are required to keep written minutes of all open meetings. (As discussed in the next section, minutes need not be kept during closed sessions.) Minutes of open meetings shall record at least the following information:

- (a) the date, time and place of the meeting;
- (b) the names of all members of the public body in attendance and a list of those members absent;
- (c) a statement of what proposals were considered; and
- (d) a record of any decisions made by the public body and of how each member voted.

This means that minutes must contain a description of the subject of all discussions had by the body, even if no action is taken or considered. The description may be a concise, but accurate, statement of the subject matter discussed and does not have to be a verbatim account of who said what. It may be useful, although it is not required, to also record in the minutes the other persons invited or present who participate in the deliberations.

A draft copy of the minutes is required to be prepared within ten working days of the meeting. Draft copies of minutes must be available for public inspection and should clearly indicate on the draft that they are not the official minutes and are subject to approval by the public body.

The public body must approve, amend or disapprove draft minutes at the next meeting of a quorum, and the minutes are not official until they are approved. Official minutes open to public inspection under this Subsection are also subject to public inspection under the Inspection of Public Records Act, NMSA 1978, Sections 14-2-1 to -12.

Example 29:

A quorum of the members of a state commission meet with the commission's staff to discuss some technical matters related to internal management. The matters discussed are not exempted by the Act from the open meetings requirement. The discussions conducted by a quorum of the commission constitute the discussion of public business and minutes must be kept.

Commentary

The statute's requirement that the minutes record how the members voted on proposals does not require a roll call on each vote, providing the vote of each member may be ascertained. Thus, a unanimous vote need not be recorded by listing the members. Where the vote is not unanimous, minutes that state "four members in favor, Mr. Jones against the motion" adequately reflects how the members voted as long as the minutes also list the members in attendance. If a vote taken by roll call is required in a particular situation by the rules of parliamentary procedure or otherwise, the minutes should record the vote of each individual member. The Act's requirement that the minutes show how each member voted on a matter decided by the public body precludes the members from voting anonymously.

Example 30:

At a regular open meeting, the State Astronomy Board elects a chairperson. The members want to vote on the nominees by secret ballot. This is not allowed by the Act because the minutes must reflect how each member voted.

H. Exceptions

The Law

The provisions of Subsections A, B and G of this section do not apply to...

Commentary

Subsection H prescribes the circumstances under which certain meetings or portions of meetings are not subject to the open meetings and minute-taking requirements of the Open Meetings Act. Because the basic policy established by the Act favors open meetings, the Act must be strictly followed when meetings are to be closed. As a general rule, meetings may only be closed when the matter to be considered falls within one of the enumerated exceptions defined in the Act and discussed in detail below.

A few closures may be implied from or required by other laws or constitutional principles that specifically or necessarily preserve the confidentiality of certain information. Aside from these limited circumstances, however, no exception to the Open Meetings Act can be implied. The following examples illustrate such laws.

Example 31:

Section 12-6-5 of the Audit Act provides that an audit report does not become a public record, i.e., subject to public inspection, until ten days after the auditor releases it to the audited agency. Where the agency being audited is governed by a public body subject to the Open Meetings Act and where release of the report occurs at an exit conference at which a quorum of the members of the body is present, such exit conference need not be open to the public in order to preserve the confidentiality of the information protected by Section 12-6-5.

Example 32:

Section 61-1-7 of the Uniform Licensing Act provides that hearings generally shall be open to the public, but gives a board authority to hold a closed hearing “in cases in which any constitutional right of privacy of an applicant or licensee may be irreparably damaged ... if the board ...so desires and states the reasons for this decision in the record.” This provision is consistent with the policy of the Open Meetings Act that permits closure when required by the constitution. Accordingly, a board may close a hearing pursuant to Section 61-1-7 if necessary to safeguard privacy interests protected by the New Mexico or United States Constitutions. See Example 34 below.

Example 33:

A state licensing board holds a hearing at which certain evidence to be presented is alleged to be constitutionally protected. The party making the allegation requests that the hearing be closed during the times the evidence is presented.

The board should determine, through a procedure open to the public, whether disclosure would violate any constitutional rights. In making this determination, the board must apply the constitutional test appropriate to the rights asserted (e.g., in some circumstances the test involves balancing the harm to the party resulting from disclosure against the harm to the public and others from nondisclosure). If the board decides that disclosure will violate the party’s constitutional rights, the board can properly close those portions of any subsequent hearing that involve the protected evidence.

Example 34:

A city housing authority responsible for reviewing and approving applications for subsidized home loans for low-income families must necessarily consider the family’s financial records to determine if the family qualifies under the program. Although the housing authority is concerned with preserving the privacy of the applicants, the information required in order to establish eligibility for the loans is not protected and may be discussed in open meetings. As there is no basis for closing the meetings, the housing authority should respect the privacy of the applicants by asking only for the specific information required by the program and no more.

1. Licensing

The Law

Meetings pertaining to issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license except that a hearing at which evidence is offered or rebutted shall be open. All final actions on the issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license shall be taken at an open meeting.

Commentary

This paragraph permits a public body to close a meeting to discuss certain matters pertaining to a particular license. Excepted are hearings conducted to present or rebut evidence in support of disciplinary action against a licensee, which must be open. The public body may close its meeting to deliberate, but all final actions concerning a license must be made in an open meeting. See also the discussion of hearing officers in Section III.B.

Boards subject to the Uniform Licensing Act or the Administrative Procedures Act must comply with applicable procedures required by those acts for the issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license.

Example 35:

The State Board of Psychologist Examiners meets in closed session to discuss an applicant for a license to practice psychology. The applicant has failed the examination for professional practice in psychology required by statute. After its discussion, the Board opens the meeting and votes to deny the application. In this situation, the Uniform Licensing Act does not require a hearing, so the board’s action is proper.

Example 36:

To ensure that complaints against licensed practitioners are handled efficiently, the State Board of Medical Examiners establishes a complaint committee. The committee is charged with reviewing complaints made to the Board and deciding which complaints should be presented to the Board for possible action. To decide which complaints will be acted on by the Board, the committee applies criteria established by the Board. Under these circumstances, the committee is executing rather than establishing Board policy and is not subject to the Act.

2. Limited Personnel Matters

The Law

Limited personnel matters; provided that for purposes of the Open Meetings Act, “limited personnel matters” means the discussion of hiring, promotion, demotion, dismissal, assignment or resignation of or the investigation or consideration of complaints or charges against any individual public employee; provided further that this Subsection is not to be construed as to exempt final actions on personnel from being taken at open public meetings; nor does it preclude an aggrieved public employee from demanding a public hearing. Judicial candidates interviewed by any commission shall have the right to demand an open interview.

Commentary

This exception permits a public body to close meetings for the purpose of discussing matters concerning individual employees of the public body. A public policymaking body may not retreat into executive session to discuss personnel policies, procedures, budget items, and other issues not concerning the qualifications or performance of specific individuals. This point is emphasized in Section 10-15-1(B) of the Act (discussed above in Section III.B), which specifies that meetings of a public body held to formulate public policy “including the development of personnel policy, rules, regulations or ordinances” are open meetings.

Example 37:

A county commission wishes to discuss whether its budget permits it to hire additional staff. The meeting cannot be closed under the limited personnel matters exception because the commission is not considering an individual employee.

Example 38:

The governing body of a municipality is considering a contract to retain an attorney to represent the municipality on a part-time basis. The attorney is to be an independent contractor and not an employee of the municipality. This paragraph does not authorize closing a meeting of the governing body to select an attorney because the matter to be considered does not concern a public employee.

Example 39:

A local school board, pursuant to statutory authority, meets to appoint a person to fill a vacancy on the board. This paragraph does not authorize closing the meeting to consider that appointment because a board member is not an employee of the school district.

Example 40:

A city council meets to conduct a performance evaluation of the city manager. The evaluation may be conducted in a closed meeting. Although not expressly listed among the actions justifying closure under the limited personnel matters exception, it is closely related to the specified actions, all of which require discussion of an employee’s job performance and qualifications. For example, a performance evaluation likely would provide the basis for any promotion, demotion, dismissal, assignment or resignation.

Example 41:

During its regular meeting, a state commission discusses a contract it has entered into with a person who happens to be employed by a nearby municipality. The state commission cannot close its meeting to discuss the contractor under the limited personnel matters exception. Although the contractor also is a public employee, she is not an employee of the state commission. This exception generally applies only to discussions about individuals employed by the public body invoking the exception.

Commentary

As a general rule, most matters concerning individual public employees could fall within this exception and justify closing a meeting. In all cases, final action on an employee matter falling within this exception must be taken in open session.

Example 42:

A school board meets to consider applicants for the position of superintendent. Discussion of the applicants' qualifications is conducted in closed session but the final decision or vote of the board with respect to hiring one of the applicants as superintendent must be taken in open session.

Example 43:

An administrative licensing board meets in closed session to review complaints against the executive director. The board takes no action. Therefore, nothing needs to be presented by the board during open session.

Commentary

It may appear that to require final actions to be taken in open session is a meaningless formality since the actual deliberations may be closed. This requirement, however, serves the purpose of ensuring that all final actions taken on personnel matters are announced publicly and the position of each member on the issue is recorded in the official minutes.

The exception states that it does not preclude an individual employee from demanding an open hearing. This provision does not confer the right to a hearing, but when an employee has a statutory or constitutional right to a hearing spelled out under another federal or state law, the public body cannot rely on the limited personnel matters exception to close the hearing if the employee wants it to be open. For example, the requirements of due process of law, a constitutional right, often mandate that before a right or privilege may be denied by a public body, the person possessing or seeking to acquire the right must be provided notice of the anticipated action and an opportunity to be heard prior to a final decision. If an employee of a public body is entitled to such a hearing before the public body can take disciplinary or other adverse action against the employee, the employee may demand and obtain an open hearing. Similarly, even if no law provides an employee with the right to a hearing, a public body that elects to give an employee the opportunity to be heard in connection with a personnel matter covered by the exception must conduct the hearing in open session at the employee's request.

Example 44:

A board of county commissioners meets to discuss a complaint that a county building inspector had attempted to rob a private citizen while on duty. The board is considering disciplinary action but wishes to wait until law enforcement authorities have completed their investigation. The board meets, goes into executive session, and decides to suspend the employee with pay. The board takes action in open session. The employee demands an immediate open hearing, even though the county personnel policy does not provide for a hearing for suspension. If the commission is not required by its policies or the state and federal constitutions to conduct a hearing at this stage, no hearing need be granted.

Example 45:

An employee of AAA City is notified by her supervisor that she was to be terminated for insubordination. Pursuant to the City's personnel policies, the employee requests a post-disciplinary hearing before the City Council. By statute and under the City Charter, the City Council has the power to hire and discharge employees. The City Council delegates its authority to conduct the hearing to a hearing officer. The employee requests a public hearing.

The City's personnel policies give an employee who is discharged the right to a post-disciplinary hearing at the employee's request. Although an individual hearing officer is conducting the hearing, the hearing is subject to the Open Meetings Act because the hearing officer is exercising the City Council's delegated authority to terminate employees. Accordingly, the hearing officer must conduct the hearing in public because the employee requested an open hearing.

Commentary

The limited personnel matters exception confers upon candidates for judicial office the right to a public interview by a commission charged with conducting such interviews.

3. Administrative Adjudicatory Deliberations

The Law

Deliberations by a public body in connection with an administrative adjudicatory proceeding. For purposes of this paragraph, an "administrative adjudicatory proceeding" means a proceeding brought by or against a person before a public body in which individual legal rights, duties or privileges are required by law to be determined by the public body after an opportunity for a trial-type hearing. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the actual administrative adjudicatory proceeding at which evidence is offered or rebutted and any final action taken as a result of the proceeding shall occur in an open meeting.

Commentary

This paragraph permits a public body that conducts "administrative adjudicatory proceedings" to close the proceedings to deliberate. Examples of administrative adjudicatory proceedings contemplated by the exception include factual hearings conducted before issuing licenses and permits, licensee and employee disciplinary hearings, hearings like those conducted by the Human Rights Commission to consider alleged civil rights violations, and hearings held to consider wage and other labor related claims. Like a trial or other court hearing, these proceedings involve the presentation of facts and evidence in a public hearing and an impartial decision maker that must weigh the evidence presented and apply the applicable law, regulation or rule to the particular situation before being heard.

Deliberations covered by the exception include discussions among the members of the public body at the conclusion of an administrative adjudicatory hearing during which the evidence, facts and law presented at the hearing are considered to reach a final decision. Deliberations also include discussions during the hearing concerning how to rule on motions and objections made by the parties.

The exception extends to all administrative adjudicatory proceedings the same right to deliberate in private that the Act specifically provides for licensing and personnel hearings. (See discussion above.) It also parallels the same privilege judges and courts have to weigh and consider in private evidence presented during a trial before reaching their final decision. Permitting agencies to deliberate in private under the specified circumstances encourages the thorough and candid consideration of evidence presented through witnesses or otherwise. As with the licensing and personnel exceptions, the actual proceeding where evidence is offered or rebutted and any final action or decision resulting from the proceeding must occur in a public meeting.

Example 46:

The Human Rights Commission receives a complaint alleging that a hotel refused service to the complainant in violation of her civil rights. The Commission schedules a public hearing during which evidence is presented and witnesses testify on both sides of the issue. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Commission may close the hearing to consider the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses to determine what the facts are and how to apply the law. The Commission must vote on and announce its final decision in a public meeting. This may occur either on the same day as the hearing or during a subsequent public meeting.

Commentary

The exception applies only where a public body is required by law to determine individual legal rights, duties or privileges after providing the opportunity for a trial-type hearing. Public bodies may not misuse the exception as a means of avoiding the open meeting requirements. In other words, unless the law mandates that a matter be determined after an administrative adjudicatory proceeding, a public body cannot hold a “hearing” on an issue and then close its meeting to “deliberate” if the issue is one that otherwise would have to be discussed in public and is not one for which the law mandates a trial-type process.

Example 47:

One of the items discussed at a village council meeting is a contract for garbage collection. One councilor suggests that the village hold a hearing to hear each bidder’s proposal, and then go into executive session to “deliberate” on which proposal to accept. The councilor’s suggestion is correctly voted down after the council’s attorney advises that the selection of a contractor is governed by the Procurement Code, which does not authorize an administrative adjudicatory proceeding prior to awarding a contract.

4. Personally Identifiable Student InformationThe Law

The discussion of personally identifiable information about any individual student, unless the student, his parent or guardian requests otherwise.

Commentary

This exception is intended to cover discussions that involve personally identifiable information about a student. The exception reflects the protection the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (“FERPA”) provides for similar information in educational records. See 20 U.S.C. Section 1232g. Under FERPA, a school risks losing federal funding if it has a policy or practice of permitting the release of records containing information directly related to a student or “personally identifiable information” contained in those records. Federal regulations promulgated under FERPA define “personally identifiable information” to include a student’s name; parent’s or other family member’s name; the address of a student or student’s family; a student’s social security number, student number or other personal identifier; and a list of personal characteristics or other information that would make the student’s identity easily traceable. See 34 C.F.R. Section 99.3.

Essentially, therefore, the exception for meetings to discuss personally identifiable information permits a school board or board of education to close a meeting whenever it discusses an individual student, unless the student, or his parent or guardian, requests that the discussion occur in public. Although the exception does not expressly limit its application, the context of the exception makes it clear that it is not meant to apply to any public body that discusses an individual who happens to be a student somewhere. Like FERPA, which applies only to records held by educational agencies and institutions, only those public bodies that govern or regulate school districts or educational institutions, such as local school boards and university boards of regents, can legitimately rely on the exception to close a meeting.

Example 48:

A local school board meets to discuss whether to suspend a high school student. Unless the student or her parents request a public hearing, the school board should hold a closed meeting to discuss the circumstances leading to the disciplinary action and what action is appropriate.

Example 49:

The Real Estate Commission holds a public hearing before revoking a broker's license. The broker is a student at the local community college. The Commission cannot close the hearing on the basis that it will involve the discussion of personally identifiable information about the broker.

Commentary

As with the exception for limited personnel matters, a school board or similar public body cannot rely on this paragraph to close a meeting to discuss or take action on educational policies and procedures, budgetary matters and other issues that involve students generally. The exception applies only to discussions relating to individual students. Other specific statutes governing schools also may require public meetings to discuss general student matters. For example, see NMSA 1978, Section 22-5-4.3 (requiring local school boards to involve parents, school personnel and students in, and to hold public hearings on, the development of student discipline policies).

5. Collective Bargaining

The Law

Meetings for the discussion of bargaining strategy preliminary to collective bargaining negotiations between the policymaking body and a bargaining unit representing the employees of that policymaking body and collective bargaining sessions at which the policymaking body and the representatives of the collective bargaining unit are present.

Commentary

This exception allows a public body that is involved, or is considering becoming involved, in collective bargaining to discuss its preliminary strategy in closed session and to conduct negotiations with representatives of a collective bargaining unit in closed session. A “bargaining unit” for purposes of the exception is a group of employees with certain occupational characteristics (e.g., blue collar, secretarial, clerical, etc.) that has been confirmed or designated as appropriate for collective bargaining purposes. The “representative of a collective bargaining unit” is generally a labor organization; that is, an organization that represents employees regarding the terms and conditions of employment.

Example 50:

An ad hoc group of employees of a municipality has formed to petition the governing body for increased salaries. Neither the governing body's preliminary discussion of the request nor the negotiations between representatives of the employees' group and the governing body may be conducted in closed session because the group of employees are not a “bargaining unit” or “representatives of the collective bargaining unit.”

Example 51:

The governing board of a local school district receives a request from a local chapter of the state's leading teacher's organization to collectively bargain on behalf of teachers in the district. The organization has been certified by the local labor relations board as the teacher's exclusive representative. Discussion of the bargaining request may be conducted in closed session.

Commentary

Before the exception will apply, there must be a labor organization and bargaining unit of the public body's employees in existence. In other words, the exception does not cover discussions of general collective bargaining policy by the public body in anticipation of potential negotiations in the future.

Example 52:

A school board is debating whether to establish a local labor relations board and has before it a draft labor/management relations resolution that would create, and establish procedures for, the local board. At this time, no bargaining unit or representative has proposed negotiations, and the board would be discussing only general collective bargaining policy to be applied in the event such bargaining occurs. Therefore, under the collective bargaining exception to the Act, the discussion must occur in an open meeting and the school board may not go into executive session to discuss the resolution.

Commentary

Collective bargaining by public employees generally is governed by the Public Employees Bargaining Act, NMSA 1978, ch. 10, art. 7E. Section 10-7E-17(G) of that Act contains a provision allowing closed meetings in circumstances similar to those set forth in the Open Meetings Act. It provides for closure of the following meetings:

- (1) meetings for the discussion of bargaining strategy preliminary to collective bargaining negotiations between a public employer and the exclusive representative of the public employees of the public employer;
- (2) collective bargaining sessions; and

(3) consultations and impasse resolution procedures at which the public employer and the exclusive representative of the appropriate bargaining unit are present.

While the first two paragraphs are coextensive with the collective bargaining exception of the Open Meetings Act, the third paragraph describes an additional situation where closure is justified.

6. Certain Purchases

The Law

That portion of meetings at which a decision concerning purchases in an amount exceeding two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) that can be made only from one source and that portion of meetings at which the contents of competitive sealed proposals solicited pursuant to the Procurement Code are discussed during the contract negotiation process. The actual approval of purchase of the item or final action regarding the selection of a contractor shall be made in an open meeting.

Commentary

This paragraph authorizes a public body to discuss two types of purchases in closed session. First, the exception permits a closed meeting to discuss:

- (a) a purchase;
- (b) that exceeds $2,500 in amount; and
- (c) that can only be made from one source.

The final action taken to approve such a purchase must be taken at an open meeting.

Example 53:

The governing board of a municipality is unable to purchase a particular kind of computer equipment compatible with its other equipment but has finally located a party who is willing to lease the equipment to the municipality for six months. The value of the computer equipment if purchased outright is $20,000 and the total rental amount of the lease is $2,000. In determining whether discussion of this lease may occur in closed session, the governing body should consider the following:

- (a) Whether the term “purchase” used in the exemption includes leases. Because the legislature did not use a broader term for acquiring property, it might be argued that it did not intend to include pure lease transactions. By contrast, Section 10-15-1(H)(8) of the Act refers to the “purchase, acquisition or disposal” of real property, clearly indicating the legislature’s intent to encompass all means of acquiring real property. Limiting the meaning of purchase also is consistent with the presumptions that all meetings of a public body are open and that the exceptions be construed narrowly. On the other hand, the terms “purchases” and “one source” in the exception indicate that the legislature had the Public Purchases Act (now the Procurement Code) in mind when it drafted the exemption. At that time, the Public Purchases Act broadly defined “purchasing” as “procuring” materials and services. There also is no obvious policy reason for including purchases but not leases within the exemption. Accordingly, it is reasonable to conclude that, when it drafted the exemption, the legislature intended that the term “purchases” be employed broadly to include leases.
- (b) The amount of the lease. Regardless of the value of the computer, the amount actually to be expended by the municipality pursuant to the lease is $2,000.
- (c) Available sources. Under these facts, there would appear to be only a single source.

The governing body could not discuss this lease in closed session because, although the transaction arguably may be a purchase for purposes of the exception and can be made from only one source, the amount to be expended does not exceed $2,500.

Example 54:

A board of county commissioners is considering the purchase of a particular dump truck for $30,000. While there are comparable trucks made by several manufacturers that would serve the same purpose, the governing body desires one particular model since it is the same brand as the county’s existing dumpsters. However, as long as there are comparable models available from other sources, this may not be considered a purchase from a single source for purposes of the Act and must be discussed in open session.

Commentary

As with the exception for limited personnel matters, the requirement that the actual approval of the purchase be made in open session may appear to be a mere formality; but again, this requirement makes the particular action taken by the governing body a matter of public record and informs the public about how each member of the body voted.

Example 55:

In closed session, a school board discusses the controversial purchase of a $2,750 painting of a cougar to hang in the auditorium as the symbol of the high school basketball team. The painting is available from only one artist. The closed session is proper; but when the discussion is concluded, the board must reconvene in open session to vote on the proposed purchase.

Commentary

The second situation where a public body may close a meeting under this paragraph is intended to parallel the similar protection provided under Section 13-1-116 of the Procurement Code. That provision states that the contents of proposals submitted in response to a public agency’s request for proposals “shall not be disclosed so as to be available to competing offerors during the negotiation process.” In addition to enhancing a public body’s ability to get the best deal, this exception also tends to level the playing field for offerors.

Example 56:

A water district issues a request for proposals for auditing services. It receives six (6) proposals, none of which exactly fit the district’s needs. The district’s governing board may hold a closed session to discuss the offers and decide how to handle negotiations with the individual offerors.

Commentary

Once the negotiating process is finished, there is no longer a need for the exception and the agency’s final action to select a contractor must be taken in an open meeting.

7. Litigation

The Law

Meetings subject to the attorney-client privilege pertaining to threatened or pending litigation in which the public body is or may become a participant.

Commentary

This exception to the Act is intended to incorporate into the open meetings law the attorney-client privilege protecting confidential communications between attorneys and their public agency clients for the limited purpose of allowing a public body to meet in closed session with legal counsel to discuss threatened or pending litigation involving the public body. Public bodies, no less than private parties to litigation, are entitled to effective representation of counsel, including the opportunity to confer without disclosing the substance of the discussion. However, public bodies may invoke the attorney-client privilege to close a meeting only when the public body is involved in a lawsuit or faced with an actual or credible threat of litigation. Absent such a threat, the exception does not protect discussions about “possible” or “potential” litigation.

Generally, the public body’s attorney should be present in the closed meeting, either in person or by telephone. In certain limited situations, it may be permissible for a public body to close a meeting to discuss legal advice about litigation that is given by letter or other written memorandum. In all cases, however, to legitimately invoke the pending litigation exception, the closed discussion must involve communications between the public body and its attorney.

Example 57:

A local school board meets to discuss the award of a contract to one of several bidders. The board members would like to close the meeting pursuant to this exception on the theory that it is always possible that one of the unsuccessful bidders may threaten litigation. If there is no actual and credible threat of litigation by one of the bidders, this would be an unwarranted extension of the exception and the meeting may not be closed.

Example 58:

The city council is conducting a hearing on proposed zoning regulations. Several witnesses raise plausible questions about the legality of one of the proposed rules and state that they definitely would challenge the rules in court if adopted. At the hearing or at a later time, the council may meet in closed session with its attorney to evaluate the legality of the proposed rule and make the determination as to whether it could be defended in court.

Example 59:

The attorney for a licensing board feels that a recent Supreme Court decision may affect the validity of certain regulations adopted by the board. Absent a pending lawsuit on this issue in which the board may participate or an actual threat of litigation, the board and its attorney may not meet in closed session to discuss the impact of the court decision and whether it is necessary to amend the regulations to prevent a possible legal action from being filed against the board.

Example 60:

A municipality and a rancher have both claimed ownership of a particular piece of property. They are attempting to negotiate a settlement of the dispute to avoid having to go to court. The governing body of the municipality properly meets in closed session with its attorney to determine how much they are willing to give up to reach a settlement. Later, at a subsequent meeting, the governing body may go into executive session to discuss a letter from the attorney setting forth the proposed settlement terms and her advice regarding acceptance of the terms.

Example 61:

A teacher who was terminated by a school board has brought an action for breach of contract against the board. The lower court decided in favor of the teacher. The school board and its attorney may meet in closed session to determine whether or not to appeal to a higher court.

Commentary

This exception does not apply only when a public body is sued or is threatened with litigation. It also may be used to close a meeting when the public body wants to consult with its attorney about a lawsuit the public body has initiated or is considering initiating against a defendant.

Example 62:

The result of a lawsuit filed by an individual against another individual will substantially affect a licensing board's ability to apply certain laws. The board, although not a party to that litigation, may meet in closed session with its attorney to discuss filing a brief as amicus curiae (friend of the court).

Commentary

It is important to note that this exception allows a public body to rely on the attorney-client privilege to close a meeting only when the public body is involved in pending or threatened litigation. There is no exception allowing a public body to rely generally on the attorney-client privilege to close a meeting. Aside from discussions with its attorney that are otherwise excepted from the Act, the public body will either have to hold discussions with its attorney in an open meeting or rely on other means to protect its communications with its attorney that do not violate the Act. For example, the attorney might communicate with each member of the public body individually through one-on-one conversations or letters. Keep in mind, however, that if the attorney's advice is discussed among a quorum of the public body's members--in person, by e-mail, by telephone or otherwise--the discussion must be conducted in accordance with the Act, including the requirements for a public meeting, unless it falls within one of the Act's exceptions.

Example 63:

A five-member state commission wants to make a gift of public money to a worthy charity. The commission's attorney is concerned that the gift may violate the state constitution. She sends a letter to each individual commissioner voicing her concerns. The topic of the gift is placed on the agenda for the next commission meeting. The commissioners' discussion of the gift at that meeting must occur in public, even if they discuss the attorney's advice regarding the gift, because the topic is not covered by one of the Act's exceptions.

8. Real Property and Water Rights

The Law

Meetings for the discussion of the purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights by the public body.

Commentary

This exception is intended to enable a public body to consider the purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights without the risk of alerting those who could take action that would result in lost opportunities or greater costs to the public body. The exception applies only to discussions of the proposed transactions it covers. Action on the purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights by the public body must take place in an open meeting, as required by Section 10-15-1(B).

Example 64:

A board of county commissioners is considering acquiring land for a playground and purchasing playground equipment. The discussion concerning the acquisition of the land may be conducted in closed session. The discussion concerning the purchase of the equipment may not be held in closed session because the equipment is not “real property.”

Example 65:

A city council is considering leasing some of its water rights to another entity. The lease constitutes the “disposal” of water rights and discussion of the transaction may be conducted in closed session.

Example 66:

A state hospital is considering the purchase of an industrial laundry business. If the transaction involves the acquisition of real estate along with the business, the hospital board may discuss that part of the transaction in a private meeting. However, other aspects of the purchase, such as the washing machines, the business’ goodwill, and the operation of the business are not real estate and would not be covered by this exception. These other aspects would have to be discussed in a public session unless another exception applies, such as the exception for sole source purchases in excess of $2,500.

9. Certain Public Hospital Board Discussions

The Law

Those portions of meetings of committees or boards of public hospitals where strategic and long-range business plans or trade secrets are discussed.

Commentary

This exception applies to certain topics discussed by public hospital boards and committees. The legislature may have thought that in these limited instances, the policies favoring open meetings were outweighed by considerations such as the hospital’s ability to compete with private health care providers.

Example 67:

The governing board of a county hospital leased to a private corporation meets to discuss its employee drug abuse policies. Unless otherwise excepted by the Act, the discussion must be held in open session because the matters discussed do not involve the board’s strategic or long-range business plans or trade secrets.

10. Certain Meetings of the Gaming Control Board

The Law

That portion of a meeting of the gaming control board dealing with information made confidential pursuant to the provisions of the Gaming Control Act.

Commentary

This exception applies only to meetings conducted by the Gaming Control Board and permits the Board to hold a closed meeting to discuss information that is confidential under the Gaming Control Act, NMSA 1978, Sections 60-2E-1 to -61. Information made confidential under the Gaming Control Act includes “confidential security and investigative information,” and confidential information, documents or communications of an applicant or licensee required by law, Board regulations or a subpoena. See NMSA 1978, Sections 60-2E-6(C), 60-2E-41.

I. Closed Meetings

Commentary

Before meeting in closed session, a public body must follow the procedures specified in Section 10-15-1(I) of the Act. As discussed below, there are different procedures for closing an open meeting and for holding a closed meeting separately from an open meeting.

1. Closing an Open Meeting

The Law

If any meeting is closed pursuant to the exclusions contained in Subsection H of this section, the closure:

(1) If made in an open meeting, shall be approved by a majority vote of a quorum of the policymaking body; the authority for the closure and the subject to be discussed shall be stated with reasonable specificity in the motion calling for the vote on a closed meeting; the vote shall be taken in an open meeting; and the vote of each individual member shall be recorded in the minutes. Only those subjects announced or voted upon prior to closure by the policymaking body may be discussed in a closed meeting.

Commentary

The agenda of a meeting of a public body normally covers various topics, some of which may fall within the enumerated exceptions to the open meeting requirement of the Act. When an item is presented for discussion that may be considered in closed session, a motion for closure must be made by a member of the public body stating the authority for closure and the reason for closing the meeting with reasonable specificity. The subject announced will comply with the “reasonable specificity” requirement if it provides sufficient information to give the public a general idea about what will be discussed without compromising the confidentiality conferred by the exception. For example, a motion might be stated: “I move that the commission convene in closed session as authorized by the limited personnel matters exception to discuss possible disciplinary action against an employee.” Or, “I move that the board discuss the case of X vs. The County with the board’s attorney in executive session as authorized by Section 10-15-1(H)(7) of the Open Meetings Act.”

A roll call vote of the members present must be taken on the motion and the vote of each individual member recorded in the minutes. If the motion is approved, the public body shall convene in closed session to consider only the item or items covered by the motion voted on prior to closing the meeting.

Example 68:

Item 6 on the agenda of a regular open meeting of a municipality’s governing board states:

“Purchase of Property for New Courthouse.”

A member of the governing body moves that the meeting be closed pursuant to Section 10-15-1(H)(8) to consider the purchase of real property for the new courthouse. The motion is duly seconded and a roll call vote is taken. The minutes reflect that each of the members present voted in favor of the motion. This procedure would comply with the requirements for closing an open meeting under the Act.

Example 69:

A city council has been sued for breach of contract by a former employee. During an open meeting of the council, one member moves to close the meeting to discuss the status of the case with the city attorney, citing both the limited personnel and litigation exceptions. If the council votes to defeat the motion, the matter is discussed in open session. If the motion passes, any final action taken by the council involving the hiring, promotion, demotion, dismissal, assignment or resignation of the former employee must be taken in open session due to the restriction of Section 10-15-1(H)(2). A final decision as to how to defend the charges alleged in the lawsuit, however, could remain confidential under the litigation exception.

Commentary

Unless an action requiring a vote in public is to be taken, the public body may adjourn the public meeting when it goes into closed session and not return to public session after it completes its closed meeting. If the public body does re-open the meeting after a closed session, the Act does not have any requirements for returning to open session and the public body may follow whatever procedures it deems appropriate.

2. Calling a Closed Meeting Outside an Open Meeting

The Law

If any meeting is closed pursuant to the exclusions contained in Subsection (H) of this section, the closure: ...

(2) If called for when the policymaking body is not in an open meeting, shall not be held until public notice, appropriate under the circumstances, stating the specific provision of the law authorizing the closed meeting and stating with reasonable specificity the subject to be discussed, is given to the members and to the general public.

Commentary

It may sometimes be the case that a public body needs to meet in a special meeting to discuss only a matter that is covered by one of the exceptions defined in Section 10-15-1(H) of the Act. Under those limited circumstances, the public body must give notice of the meeting to its members and to the public in accordance with its policy regarding notice of special meetings or as may be reasonable under the circumstances. Such notice must state the exception to the Act or other legal authority that authorizes the closed meeting and must state the subject to be discussed with reasonable specificity. When noticed properly, these closed meetings may take place without having an open session before or after the meeting.

Example 70:

A county commission's resolution provides that the chair may call a special meeting on three days notice by posting the notice of the meeting at the county courthouse and publishing the notice in the local daily newspaper. The chairman discovers that the board must make an immediate decision with respect to the purchase of some land in the county and determines that it is necessary to call a special meeting for that purpose. In addition to the date, time and place of the meeting, the notice states the following in compliance with Section 10-15-1(I)(2) of the Act:

THIS MEETING IS CALLED TO DISCUSS THE PURCHASE OF LAND AND SHALL BE CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC PURSUANT TO NMSA 1978, SECTION 10-15-1(H)(8).

Commentary

At a closed meeting held outside of an open meeting, topics that are not covered in the notice may not be discussed and no ordinary business, such as the approval of minutes from the last meeting, may be conducted.

Example 71:

A member of a municipality's governing board is informed at 6:00 p.m. Sunday that the municipality's police officers have called for a wildcat strike to show their disapproval of the board's latest salary offer made during a particularly heated collective bargaining session. The strike is planned for Monday morning.

The board's policy for notice of emergency meetings requires the board president to give twenty-four hours notice by local radio announcement of emergency meetings. The board member who received the information calls the board president who gives two hours notice by radio of an emergency closed meeting to discuss collective bargaining strategy and possible legal actions against the police officers.

Due to the board's interest in planning for such a strike with its attorney, preserving the peace, and protecting its residents from an immediate threat to their security and safety, the two-hour notice is "appropriate under the circumstances."

Commentary

Although not addressed by the Act, one issue that sometimes comes up is whether it is proper for a public body to permit persons other than its members to be present during a closed meeting. There is no single answer to this question, although generally a public body may include anyone it wants in its executive session.

In certain circumstances, however, considerations aside from the Act may affect the permissibility of allowing non-members to be present. For example, when a public body holds a closed session pursuant to Section 10-15-1(H)(3) of the Act to deliberate after an administrative adjudicatory proceeding, it probably should exclude other persons (except, perhaps, its attorney) from the closed session. Otherwise, it may give at least the appearance that the public body is improperly and unfairly receiving additional information about the matter before it without the participation of one or more of the parties to the proceeding.

A public body also should use caution when it permits persons other than the body's members and its attorney to attend a meeting that is closed under the litigation exception in Section 10-15-1(H)(7) of the Act. That exception expressly applies to meetings "subject to the attorney-client privilege," so the public body should consult with its attorney to ensure that the presence of other persons during the closed session will not affect the privilege and, in turn, make the use of the litigation exception improper.

Example 72:

At a teacher disciplinary hearing held by a school board, the superintendent testifies concerning the events resulting in the proceeding. Although the superintendent usually serves as recording secretary for the board, she may not be present during the board's deliberations after the hearing. Because the board may not hear additional evidence after the close of the hearing, the presence of the superintendent, a witness in the hearing, during the closed session could be viewed as an unfair influence on the board's discussion and decision concerning the teacher.

Example 73:

During its regular meeting, a county commission goes into executive session to discuss the purchase of land. It permits members of the public attending the meeting to remain during the closed session except those people the commission knows are vehemently opposed to the purchase. This is not proper since the commission is using the executive session to unreasonably exclude only certain members of the public from what would otherwise be a public meeting.

Example 74:

A state board holds a closed meeting to discuss competitive sealed proposals it has received in response to a request for proposals made according to the Procurement Code. During its closed discussion, the board may permit each proposer to come before the board one at a time and answer questions concerning its proposal.

J. Statement Regarding Closed Discussions

The Law

Following completion of any closed meeting, the minutes of the open meeting that was closed, or the minutes of the next open meeting if the closed meeting was separately scheduled, shall state that the matters discussed in the closed meeting were limited only to those specified in the motion for closure or in the notice of the separate closed meeting. This statement shall be approved by the public body under Subsection G of this section as part of the minutes.

to discuss hiring a city manager as authorized by the limited personnel matters exception to the Act. The minutes also record the vote of each councilor on the motion to go into executive session. Finally, the minutes state, as required by Section 10-15-1(J) of the Act: “The only matter discussed during the closed session was the hiring of a city manager.”

Commentary

The intent of Section 10-15-1 (J) is to reinforce the Act’s requirement that discussions during closed sessions be limited to topics that are expressly excepted from the open meeting requirements. Because closed meetings or executive sessions are not open, members of the public are naturally curious about their content and suspicious about any perceived misuse of the exceptions allowing closure. It is hoped that by requiring public bodies to include the required statement in their minutes, those bodies will be reminded that there are only a few acceptable justifications for closure and will be less likely to succumb to any temptation to expand closed discussions beyond the topic announced in the motion for or notice of closure.

Example 75:

During its regular monthly meeting, a city council closes its meeting to discuss hiring a city manager. The minutes for the meeting show that a motion was made to go into executive session

IV. Section 10-15-2.

State Legislature; Meetings

A. Meetings of Committees and Policy making Bodies of the Legislature

The Law

Unless otherwise provided by Joint House and Senate Rule, all meetings of any committee or policymaking body of the legislature held for the purpose of discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of or the delegated authority of the committee or body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times. Reasonable notice of meetings shall be given to the public by publication or by the presiding officer of each house prior to the time the meeting is scheduled.

Commentary

Article IV, Section 12 of the New Mexico Constitution requires that all sessions of each house of the legislature be open to the public. Section 10-15-2(A) provides that all meetings of any committee or policymaking body of the state legislature held for the purpose of: (a) discussing public business, or (b) taking any action within the authority of the committee or policymaking body, shall be open to the public as well. However, Subsection A must be read in conjunction with Subsection C of this section which provides that: “For the purposes of this section, ‘meeting’ means a gathering of a quorum of the members of a standing committee or conference committee held for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of the committee or body.”

Thus, the open meeting requirement of Subsection A really only applies to meetings of a standing or conference committee of the legislature.

Standing committees are formed by the senate or house, or by statute, to assist the senate or house in accomplishing their duties. Standing committees convene during the legislative session and interim committees include those that meet on a regular basis between legislative sessions. Conference committees are called upon during a legislative session to resolve disagreements on a particular bill.

Notice of a legislative committee meeting must be provided to the public before the meeting is held.

Example 76:

A meeting of the party leadership of either party of the state legislature is not subject to this provision as those legislators do not constitute a standing committee of the state legislature.

Example 77:

A meeting of the staff for the Senate Finance Committee is not subject to this provision as the staff analysts are not legislators and therefore do not constitute a standing or conference committee of the state legislature.

Example 78:

A reception at which a quorum of the members of the House Judiciary Committee is present is not subject to this provision because this is not a gathering called by the presiding officer of the committee and the members have not met for the purpose of discussing public business or taking official action.

Example 79:

The Chairman of the Legislative Finance

Committee, an interim committee, calls a meeting to discuss a study of county and municipal finances ordered by a joint resolution during the previous legislative session. An open meeting must be held.

Example 80:

During a legislative session, the house standing committee on education and the senate standing committee on education have been unable to resolve a major issue on a bill that has been sent back to the house by the senate several times. Testimony and remarks from the public has been lengthy and disruptive. A conference committee of senior members from both the senate's and the house's standing education committees was created in an attempt to negotiate language that the house will approve. The conference committee meeting must be open to the public and preceded by reasonable notice to the public.

B. Exceptions

The Law

The provisions of Subsection A of this section do not apply to matters relating to personnel or matters adjudicatory in nature or to investigative or quasi-judicial proceedings relating to ethics and conduct or to a caucus of a political party.

Commentary

This Subsection permits standing committees of the legislature to meet in closed session to discuss:

- (a) matters relating to personnel;
- (b) adjudicatory matters;
- (c) investigative or quasi-judicial proceedings relating to ethics and conduct; and
- (d) caucuses of political parties.

The exception for “matters relating to personnel” is broader than the “limited personnel matters” excepted under Section 10-15-1(H)(2). Thus, a legislative committee may hold a closed meeting to discuss personnel matters not directly related to an individual employee. See State v. Hernandez, 89 N.M. 698, 556 P.2d 1174 (1976) (discussing predecessor open meetings law that permitted closed meetings to discuss “personnel matters” without defining that term).

Example 81:

The Committees Committee of the Senate meets to discuss and approve a policy for hiring persons recommended by the Chief Clerk of the Senate to work during the legislative session. This meeting may be closed. By contrast, public bodies subject to the limited personnel matters exception in Section 10-15-1(H)(2) would have to discuss the same topic in an open meeting because it does not relate to an individual employee.

Commentary

“Adjudicatory matters” are not defined by the Act, but, consistent with the description of “administrative adjudicatory proceeding” discussed above in Section III.H(3), the term commonly refers to quasi-judicial matters where a public body conducts a quasi-judicial hearing, applies the law and reaches a conclusion.

Normally, the legislature does not reserve to itself such quasi-judicial functions, but delegates them to an administrative body such as a public utility commission. The New Mexico Constitution has conferred on the legislature certain functions that may properly be considered quasi-judicial. For example, the power to impeach state officers is vested in the House of Representatives and the impeachment is tried by the Senate. See New Mexico Constitution, Article IV, Sections 35 and 36. Thus, the presiding officer of a standing committee might call a closed meeting to discuss the impeachment of a state officer. Of course, the Open Meetings Act would not apply to the actual impeachment and trial, and would not justify closing proceedings required to be public by Article IV, Section 12 of the New Mexico Constitution or other authority.

Standing legislative committees also may meet in closed session for proceedings relating to ethics and conduct. Section 10-15-2(A) does not apply to political party caucuses.

C. Definition of “Meeting”

The Law

For the purposes of this section, “meeting” means a gathering of a quorum of the members of a standing committee or conference committee held for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of the committee or body.

Commentary

See Section IV.A.

V. Section 10-15-3.

Invalid Actions; Standing

A. Invalid Actions

The Law

No resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance or action of any board, commission, committee or other policymaking body shall be valid unless taken or made at a meeting held in accordance with the requirements of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1. Every resolution, rule, regulation, ordinance or action of any board, commission, committee or other policymaking body shall be presumed to have been taken or made at a meeting held in accordance with the requirements of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1.

enters into an agreement to that effect. Mr. Ortiz later discovers he can sell the land to Mr. Jones for a better price and attempts to invalidate the agreement by alleging that the board improperly closed the meeting for the discussion of the purchase. Under the presumption created by Section 10-15-3(A) of the Act, the agreement is valid and binding on Mr. Ortiz until it is admitted or proven that the board failed to act in accordance with Section 10-15-1 of the Act.

Commentary

The presumption of validity established by Section 10-15-3(A) of the Act means that any action taken by a public body will stand as valid with respect to the Act unless challenged and proven otherwise. The Act does not, however, specify a time beyond which an action may no longer be challenged. Such a limitation on actions brought to challenge the validity of any rule, regulation, resolution, ordinance or other action taken by a public body will be found in the statutes of limitation enacted by the legislature. Thus, for example, criminal actions brought under Section 10-15-4 of the Act (see Section VI) probably would be barred after two years from the time the violation occurred. See NMSA 1978, Section 30-1-8. Most other non-criminal actions authorized by the Act, unless covered by a more specific statutory limitations period applicable to the public body, would be barred after four (4) years. See NMSA 1978, Section 37-1-4.

Commentary

This provision establishes a presumption that actions taken by public bodies have been taken at meetings that conform to the requirements of the Act. Where this is shown not to be the case, the actions of a public body may be held invalid.

Example 82:

A state board with rulemaking authority meets in closed session with its attorney to discuss the legality of its Rule X. The attorney advises that Rule X is probably illegal. The board votes in closed session to rescind the rule. The action of the board is of no effect because it did not relate directly to the litigation and was not taken in open session. In order for the rescission to be valid and enforceable, it must be accomplished at a properly noticed open meeting.

Example 83:

A board of county commissioners decides to purchase a piece of land from Mr. Ortiz and

The Law

All provisions of the Open Meetings Act shall be enforced by the attorney general or by the district attorney in the county of jurisdiction. However, nothing in that act shall prevent an individual from independently applying for enforcement through the district courts, provided that the individual first provides written notice of the claimed violation to the public body and that the public body has denied or not acted on the claim within fifteen days of receiving it. A public meeting held to address a claimed violation of the Open Meetings Act shall include a summary of comments made at the meeting at which the claimed violation occurred.

Commentary

This Subsection charges the Attorney General and district attorneys with the concurrent duty of enforcing the Act. Since enforcement carries with it the duty to interpret the Act, the Attorney General has issued this Compliance Guide so that public bodies that adhere to the interpretations of the Act presented in this Guide may conduct their affairs in substantial compliance with the Act. Of course, such a guide cannot anticipate all problems or questions that will arise in the course of governmental affairs. Questions raised by a public body about compliance should therefore be initially addressed to the attorney for the public body. If the public body's attorney is unclear about how to proceed, questions may then be addressed to the Attorney General's Office. It is, however, the Attorney General's intent that this Guide helps to resolve recurring questions concerning the applicability of the law.

A person who believes the Act has been violated may report the suspected violation in writing to the appropriate district attorney or to this Office for investigation and suitable action. The complaint should specify in detail the circumstances giving rise to the alleged violation, including dates and the persons involved. The Attorney General's enforcement power will not be used, however, to resolve the internal disputes and disagreements of a public body or public displeasure with a body's exercise of its discretionary authority.

The Attorney General will exercise discretion when considering whether or not to void actions of public bodies and to bring misdemeanor charges for alleged violations of the Act. Unintentional failure to comply with the provisions of the Act may render the actions taken invalid, but will not necessarily lead to prosecution. It is the intent of the Attorney General to prosecute misdemeanors only in the case of knowing and either flagrant or repeated violations of the requirements of the Act. The Attorney General will not prosecute where there has been a good faith attempt to comply with the Act.

Example 84:

A city council's notice resolution provides that it shall give public notice of all regular meetings by publication in the local newspaper as well as by posting notice on the three bulletin boards in City Hall. Following an open meeting at which a controversial zoning variance was granted and at which several hundred people appeared to express their views, an opponent of the variance determines that the notice of the meeting, while properly published, was posted on only two bulletin boards. The individual requests that the Attorney General declare the variance invalid and prosecute the city councilors. The Attorney General investigates and determines that the failure to post the notice on the third bulletin board was inadvertent and that the public was adequately notified of the meeting. The Attorney General, within his discretion, declines to declare the council's action invalid or to prosecute the city councilors.

Commentary

In most cases, if a violation is found, the Attorney General will enforce the Act by first advising the public body that, in his opinion, the actions taken at a particular meeting of the public body were not in compliance with the Act and are consequently not valid. Unless the violation was part of a pattern or practice of Open Meetings Act violations, the public body would then be advised to begin again and to consider the intended actions in accordance with the provisions of the Act. This could involve rediscussing issues previously addressed as well as voting again on matters previously voted on in violation of the Act. Should the public body, after such notification, refuse to reconsider its actions in a proper manner or otherwise indicate its intention to continue violating the Act, the Attorney General may file criminal charges or take other action against the public body or those persons allegedly in violation of the Act.

Example 85:

The board of regents of a state educational institution meets in closed session with its attorney pursuant to Section 10-15-1(H)(7) of the Act and takes final action to adopt regulations affecting the student body. The student council reports this action to the Attorney General who finds that there was no threatened or pending litigation discussed. The meeting should not have been closed. The Attorney General notifies the regents of these findings and advises them to suspend the regulations and reconsider them in an open session at which time representatives of the student body may attend and listen to the discussion. The regents comply with this advice and no prosecution is initiated.

Example 86:

Two members of a local school board want to replace the superintendent and three members want to retain him. The question of the superintendent's contract is discussed in closed session properly called pursuant to Sections 10-15-1(H)(2) and 10-15-1(I)(1) of the Act and the final action to renew the superintendent's contract is taken by vote in open session. The two dissenting members now want to invalidate the renewal, and report a violation of the Act alleging that the other three members discussed budgetary matters as well as the superintendent's contract in closed session. They demand an investigation by the Attorney General. If it turns out that the budgetary matters discussed necessarily related to the superintendent's contract, the Attorney General would not involve his Office in this manner to participate in a dispute between factions of a board.

Commentary

As an alternative to seeking a legal remedy through the Attorney General or district attorneys, Section 10-15-3(B) of the Act permits any individual to apply for enforcement in the district court independently of any enforcement action initiated by the Attorney General or a district attorney. Before an individual initiates a lawsuit against a public body for a violation of the Act:

- (1) the individual provide the public body with written notice of the claimed violation; and
- (2) the public body deny or fail to act on the claimed violation within fifteen (15) days of receiving the notice.

The Act does not specify the person or persons representing a public body who are responsible for receiving written notices of violations. Therefore, to avoid confusion about whether or not a public body received the required written notice, the notice should be provided to one or more members of the public body, or to other officials representing the public body who can reasonably be expected to alert the public body about the claim.

Example 87:

A county citizen writes to the Attorney General's Office complaining that the county commission violated the Act by holding a secret meeting to discuss economic development within the county. In her complaint, the county citizen states that she discussed the violation with the county manager in a telephone conversation. Two days after writing to the Attorney General's Office, the citizen files a lawsuit in district court against the county commission based on the same claimed violation. The lawsuit is not proper unless, prior to filing it, the citizen also gave the county commission written notice of the claimed violation and the county commission denied or failed to address the violation within fifteen days of receiving the notice. The notice to the county manager would not be considered sufficient to meet the requirements of the Act because it was verbal rather than written.

Commentary

A public body that receives written notice of a claimed violation has fifteen days from the day it receives the notice to cure the violation if the public body decides the claim is valid and wants to avoid a lawsuit. At a meeting held to address the claimed violation, the public body must include a summary of the comments that were made at the meeting where the violation occurred. This does not mean that the public body must necessarily repeat the entire previous meeting. It only needs to summarize the portion or portions of the previous meeting that violated the Act.

Example 88:

A state licensing board holds its regular meeting in May. The meeting is properly noticed and the agenda for the meeting is available to the public twenty-four (24) hours in advance of the meeting. During the meeting, the board votes to award a contract for a hearing officer.

A few days later, Mr. Grey writes to the chair of the board alleging that the contract award was invalid because it was not listed on the meeting agenda. The chair determines that Mr. Grey is correct and schedules a special meeting of the board within fifteen days of receiving Mr. Grey's letter. Proper notice of the meeting is provided to the public and the contract is listed on the agenda. At the meeting, the board repeats its discussion of the contract and votes again to award the contract. This action cures the board's previous violation and precludes any further action concerning the violation in district court.

Example 89:

A town board of trustees holds a meeting without providing any advance notice to the public. A resident of the town notifies the mayor in writing about the violation. Because the board of trustees failed to give prior notice of the meeting, the meeting is invalid and without effect. Within fifteen days after receiving the written notice, the board must, after providing proper notice to the public, convene again, summarize all the comments and proposals made at the previous illegal meeting, and take any action or make any decisions made at the previous meeting over again.

Commentary

In some cases, a violation of the Act cannot be effectively addressed by repeating the action at a properly conducted open meeting. In those cases, the requirement for a summary of comments is not applicable.

Example 90:

Ms. Rose writes to the chair of the county commission alleging the commission violated the Act because it did not approve the minutes for its May meeting at the next meeting of a quorum as required by Section 10-15-1(G) of the Act. The commission holds a meeting within fifteen days after receiving the notification to address the claimed violation. In this case, the commission agrees that it violated the Act, but because the violation did not occur at the May meeting, the commission cannot cure it by re-taking any action or summarizing any discussion. Instead, it agrees that in the future it will use its best efforts to ensure that minutes are approved at the next meeting of a quorum. Ms. Rose is satisfied with this resolution of her claim.

Commentary

Because the Attorney General and district attorneys cannot be everywhere and resources are limited, private individuals who exercise the option provided under Section 10-15-3(B) of the Act and initiate legal action often will be able to obtain more effective and efficient enforcement of the Act. However, while the power to bring private enforcement actions is important, it is not a means to overturn decisions of a public body made in conformity with the Act, but with which the public disagrees.

Example 91:

A local school board meets in closed session to discuss retaining Mr. Jones as the superintendent. After this discussion, the board reconvenes in open session and takes final action to hire Mr. Jones at a higher salary. Many parents disagree and, after following the procedures specified in Section 10-15-3(B) of the Act, seek an injunction in district court to stop the contract. As the parents' complaint does not involve any violation of the Act, they have not correctly applied Section 10-15-3(B). Therefore, the court rejects their application for injunctive relief.

conferred under Section 10-15-3(A) of the Act. The court may issue an order enjoining the public body from implementing its illegal action, an order requiring the public body to take action required by the Act or any other appropriate order.

Example 92:

A city council voted in closed session to sell the furnishings of a city-owned building. Twenty (20) days after the city council receives a citizen's written notice of violation and takes no action to address it, the citizen applies to district court to enjoin the sale because the decision to sell was improperly made in a closed meeting. Only the sale of real property may be considered in closed session. The court enjoins the sale and the decision of the city council is nullified. The council must reconsider the sale at an open meeting.

Commentary

This Subsection also provides that a district court shall award individuals who prevail in a court proceeding to enforce the Act their court costs and reasonable attorney fees.

Example 93:

Ms. Garcia learns from the president of a local construction company that the town council has awarded the company a contract to build a public swimming pool. Ms. Garcia writes to the mayor alleging that the town council violated the Act because it awarded the contract outside of a public meeting. The mayor reads Ms. Garcia's letter and forwards it to the other councilors. The council does not take any steps to address Ms. Garcia's letter. Fifteen days after the mayor received her letter, Ms. Garcia may file a lawsuit against the council to enforce the Act. If she succeeds in proving that a violation occurred, she will be entitled to an award of costs and reasonable attorney fees.

Commentary

If a public body successfully defends itself against a lawsuit brought to enforce an alleged

C. District Court Jurisdiction

The Law

The district courts of this state shall have jurisdiction, upon the application of any person to enforce the purpose of the Open Meetings Act, by injunction, mandamus or other appropriate order. The court shall award costs and reasonable attorney fees to any person who is successful in bringing a court action to enforce the provisions of the Open Meetings Act. If the prevailing party in a legal action brought under this section is a public body defendant, it shall be awarded court costs. A public body defendant that prevails in a court action brought under this section shall be awarded its reasonable attorney fees from the plaintiff if the plaintiff brought the action without sufficient information and belief that good grounds supported it.

Commentary

This Subsection confers jurisdiction on the district courts to hear questions concerning purported violations of the Act. Should a district court determine that a public body's actions were illegally taken, it may declare them invalid, thereby overcoming the presumption of validity violation of the Act, the public body defendant is entitled to court costs. A prevailing public body defendant is entitled to attorney fees only if the court determines that the person who brought the lawsuit did so without any valid basis or support.

Example 94:

Assume the same facts set forth in Example 91. At the hearing on the application for injunctive relief, the school board defends itself by alleging that the parents' claims were not supported by any facts showing a violation of the Open Meetings Act. If the parents brought the lawsuit under the Act without any belief that good grounds supported it, the court may find that the lawsuit was frivolous and, in addition to denying the injunction, award the school board its court costs and reasonable attorney fees.

warranted, the competitor might also allege that the board violated the Procurement Code by failing to take bids on this purchase.

D. Other Remedies

The Law

No section of the Open Meetings Act shall be construed to preclude other remedies or rights not relating to the question of open meetings.

Commentary

This Subsection simply makes it clear that the remedies available to challenge a public body's action for violating the Act are not exclusive. The public is not precluded from charging the public body with violation of other laws in connection with the same action.

Example 95:

A board of county commissioners votes to apply the sole source exception stated in Section 10-15-1(H)(6) of the Act to close a meeting to discuss and decide upon the purchase of water fountains from Fountain Company when such fountains are available from other vendors. A competing water fountain vendor alleges that the board violated the Act and files suit to overturn the action. If

VI. Section 10-15-4. Penalty

The Law

Any person violating any of the provisions of NMSA 1978, Section 10-15-1 or 10-15-2 is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense.

Commentary

If, after investigating charges that the Act has been violated, the Attorney General finds that the charges are valid and substantial, the Attorney General may initiate a criminal prosecution against each of those persons responsible for the violation. The public officers or employees charged may be held personally responsible for violations of the Act if it is shown that they intentionally acted in a manner that violated the Act. In addition to the members of the public body, other officials responsible for implementing the Act's provisions may be found liable.

Example 96:

A city clerk is required by law to keep all minutes of the governing body of a municipality. The city clerk might therefore be found liable for failure to have draft minutes available for public inspection as required by Section 10-15-1(G) of the Act.

Open Meetings Act Compliance Checklist

Open Meetings (§ 10-15-1 (B))

The Open Meetings Act applies to meetings of public bodies:

- At which a quorum of the members of the public body is present in person or by telephone; and
- During which the public body will formulate public policy, discuss public business or take action.

If the Open Meetings Act applies, the following checklist will help you comply with its requirements.

Notice Requirements (§ 10-15-1 (D) and (F))

Non-emergency meetings

- Reasonable advance notice of the meeting has been provided to the public (§ 10-15-1 (D)).
- The notice complies with the deadlines and procedures for meeting notices adopted by the public body under Section 10-15-1(D) of the Open Meetings Act.
- The notice includes the date, time and location of the meeting.
- The notice is published or posted in a place and manner accessible to the public.
- Notice has been provided to all FCC licensed broadcast stations and newspapers of general circulation that have provided a written request for notice of meetings (§ 10-15-1 (D)).
- The notice includes an agenda or information on how the public may obtain a copy of the agenda (§ 10-15-1 (F)).

Emergency Meetings

Under limited circumstances, an emergency meeting may be held with little advance notice if:

- The public body did not expect the circumstances giving rise to the meeting; and
- If the public body does not act immediately, injury or damage to persons or property or substantial financial loss to the public body is likely.

Meeting Agenda (§ 10-15-1 (F))

The meeting agenda should:

- _____ Include a list of specific items the public body intends to discuss or transact at the meeting.
- _____ Clearly describe agenda items that the public body intends to discuss or act on during the meeting in order to give adequate public notice.
- _____ Except for an emergency meeting, the agenda is available to the public at least 24 hours before the meeting.
- _____ Except for emergency matters, the public body takes action only on those items specifically listed on the agenda 24 hours before the meeting.

Telephonic Participation (§ 10-15-1 (C))

If a member of the public body participates in a meeting by telephone:

- _____ There must be a law or a rule of the public body authorizing its members to participate by conference telephone or similar communications equipment; and
- _____ It must be “difficult or impossible” for that member to attend the meeting in person; and
- _____ Each member participating telephonically can be identified when speaking, all participants are able to hear each other at the same time, and members of the public attending the meeting are able to hear any member of the public body who speaks during the meeting.

Closed Meetings – Permissible Subjects (§ 10-15-1 (H))

If a public body wishes to hold a closed meeting, it may do so only to engage in one or more of the following:

- _____ Deliberations about the issuance, suspension, renewal or revocation of a license (§ 10-15-1(H)(1)).
- _____ Discussion of the hiring, promotion, demotion, dismissal, assignment or resignation of a public employee, or the investigation or consideration of complaints or charges against a public employee (§ 10-15-1(H)(2)).
- _____ Deliberations in connection with an administrative adjudicatory proceeding held by the public body (§ 10-15-1(H)(3)).
- _____ Discussion of personally identifiable information about an individual student (§ 10-15-1(H)(4)).
- _____ Discussion of collective bargaining strategy prior to negotiations between a public body and a union representing employees of the public body; collective bargaining sessions involving the public body and union (§ 10-15-1(H)(5)); and consultations and impasse resolution procedures at which the public body and the union are present (§ 10-7E-17(G) of the Public Employee Bargaining Act).

- _____ Discussion of a sole source purchase that exceeds $2,500 or of the contents of competitive sealed proposals during the contract negotiation process (§ 10-15-1(H)(6)).
- _____ Meeting with the public body's attorney pertaining to threatened or pending litigation in which the public body is or may become a participant (§ 10-15-1(H)(7)).
- _____ Discussion of the purchase, acquisition or disposal of real property or water rights (§ 10-15-1(H)(8)).
- _____ For committees or boards of public hospitals only, discussion of strategic or long-range business plans or trade secrets (§ 10-15-1(H)(9)).
- _____ For the Gaming Control Board only, a meeting that deals with information made confidential by the Gaming Control Act (§ 10-15-1(H)(10)).

Closed Sessions – Procedures (§ 10-15-1(I))

To properly close a portion of an open meeting, the following actions must be taken:

- _____ A motion stating the specific provision of law authorizing the closed meeting and a reasonably specific description of the subject to be discussed.
- _____ A roll call vote on the motion to close the meeting in the open session, where the vote of each member is to be recorded in the minutes.
- _____ Only the matters stated in the motion to close are discussed in the closed session.
- _____ Generally, action on an item discussed in a closed session must be taken in an open meeting (§ 10-15-1 (H)).
- _____ After a closed meeting is completed, a statement affirming that the matters discussed in the closed meeting were limited to those stated in the motion to close is recorded in the minutes (§ 10-15-1 (J)).

For closed meetings of a public body held separate from an open meeting, the above criteria apply except:

- _____ Instead of a motion to close, appropriate public notice is provided that includes the specific provision of law authorizing the closed meeting and a reasonably specific description of the subject to be discussed (§ 10-15-1 (I)(2)).
- _____ Following completion of the closed meeting, a statement is entered into the minutes of the next open meeting specifying that the matters discussed in the closed meeting were limited to those stated in the notice of the closed meeting (§ 10-15-1 (J)).

Meeting Minutes (§ 10-15-1 (G))

If the meeting is open, written minutes are required. Minutes must contain at least:

- The date, time and place of the meeting; and
- The names of all members of the public body attending the meeting and of those members who are absent; and
- A description of the substance of all proposals considered during the meeting; and
- A record of any decisions made and votes taken that shows how each member voted (voting by secret ballot is not permitted).

The following also applies to meeting minutes:

- A draft copy of the minutes is prepared within 10 working days of the public meeting.
- The minutes are approved, amended or disapproved at the next meeting where a quorum of the public body is present.
- All minutes are made available for public inspection.

2011 Update to NM Sunshine Law

Furnished by the NM Attorney General's Office

SUMMARY OF IPRA CHANGES

During the regular 2011 session, the New Mexico Legislature passed important changes to the Inspection of Public Records Act (“IPRA”), NMSA 1978, §§ 14-2-1 to -12 (as amended through 2011), many of which go into effect on June 17, 2011. Some amendments will go into effect on July 1, 2011 as noted below. Public entities subject to IPRA should be aware of these changes to ensure their compliance. The Office of Attorney General Gary King has summarized the major changes to the IPRA to help public bodies and the public at large become familiar with the new law. The summary below deals with the significant changes to the IPRA that will affect most public entities. Guidance on the entire IPRA can be found in the Attorney General’s Inspection of Public Records Act Compliance Guide, available on the Attorney General’s web site.

How Public Bodies Respond to IPRA Requests

Records custodians must now respond to a public records request in the same medium—electronic or paper—in which they received the request. Custodians can also choose to respond in any other medium they deem appropriate but still must respond via the same medium in which the request was received. Section 14-2-7(B).

Duty to Provide Electronic Copies when Requested

If a public record is available in electronic format and a requester specifically requests an electronic copy, the public body must provide the record in electronic format. The public body does not have to change or convert the “file format” of the record (for example, from paper to digital or from WordPerfect to Word). The public body need only provide the record in the file format in which the record exists. Section 14-2-9(B). “File format” is defined as “the internal structure of an electronic file that defines the way it is stored and used.” Section 14-2-6(B).

When producing documents in electronic format, public bodies may charge a requester the actual costs associated with downloading copies of public records to a storage device and the actual cost of the storage device. The actual cost of transmitting the public records may also be charged. Section 14-2-9(C)(3), (4).

Removing Metadata from Electronic Information

When providing records in electronic format, public bodies must continue to separate exempt information from non-exempt information and produce the non-exempt information. Additionally, all metadata associated with the exempt information must be removed from the electronic document by “utilizing methods or redaction tools that prevent the recovery of exempt information from a redacted electronic document.” Section 14-2-9(A).

Public Notice of IPRA Rights and Procedures Must Be on Web Site

Public bodies covered by IPRA have always been required to post, in a conspicuous location at their administrative offices, a notice informing the public of the right to inspect records and the procedures for copying and inspecting records. Now, that notice must also appear on the publicly accessible web site of the public body and must contain contact information for the public records custodian. Section 14-2-7(E).

Redaction of “Protected Personal Identifier Information”

Effective July 1, 2011, exceptions 7, 9, 10 and 11 in Section 14-2-1(A) of the IPRA will be deleted and moved to different statutes. Also effective July 1, IPRA will include a new section on “protected personal identifier information.” Section 14-2-1(B). The new law makes it clear that public bodies may redact “protected personal identifier information” before providing a public record. “Protected personal identifier information” is defined as: (1) a social security number; (2) all but the year of a person’s birth date; and (3) all but the last four digits of a taxpayer identification number, financial account number or driver license number. Section 14-2-6(E). (Depending on how the 2011 amendments are compiled or codified into law, the definition of “protected personal identifier information” may be set out only in the annotations to the compiled statutes because other legislation that amended the same section of the IPRA was signed by the Governor on a later date.) A document containing protected personal identifier information shall not be placed on a publicly accessible web site without being redacted. As with any exempt information in a public record, the presence of protected personal identifier information in a document does not exempt the remainder of the document from inspection.

THE INSPECTION OF PUBLIC RECORDS ACT
NMSA 1978, Chapter 14, Article 2

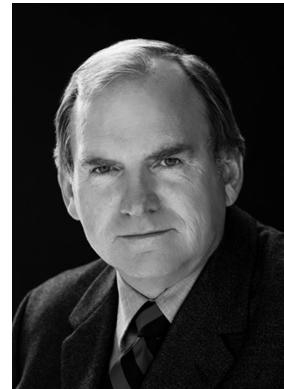

A Compliance Guide for
New Mexico Public Officials and Citizens

GARY K. KING
Attorney General

This seventh edition of the Compliance Guide updates the 2009 edition to reflect significant amendments to the Inspection of Public Records Act made in 2011. The amendments include new definitions and other provisions that address the increasing use of email to make and respond to inspection requests and the storage of public records in electronic format. This edition is also updated to reflect recent case law, including a New Mexico Supreme Court case issued in June 2012 eliminating the “rule of reason” exception to the Act and addressing the applicability of executive privilege in the context of a request to inspect public records.

Seventh Edition • 2012

The Inspection of Public Records Act is intended to provide the public with access to information about governmental affairs. Open government—that is, the public’s access to government actions—is a crucial aspect of a functioning democracy. This Compliance Guide has been prepared to inform the public, state and local government agencies, and all other public bodies subject to the Act about the Act’s requirements and application.

The law requires public access to virtually all public records. While there are a few legitimate exceptions, most are available for public inspection. We encourage public officials to be liberal in providing public access and to honor all reasonable and legitimate requests for records.

Responsibility for enforcement of this Act lies with individual citizens, the District Attorneys and the Attorney General. In giving citizens the right to sue if they are denied access to public records and awarding them attorneys fees when they are successful, the legislature wisely created a large number of “private attorneys general” to help enforce the Act. This concept of private attorneys general is a tried-and-true American legal mechanism by which legislators ensure enforcement of important public policies when public funds and public officials’ resources are limited. Because the Attorney General and the District Attorneys cannot be everywhere, it is imperative that private citizens enforce their right to inspect public records. This Guide is intended to assist all citizens in this crucial effort. It also is intended as a guide to public officials to assist them in their efforts to govern in the sunshine. They know that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

We sincerely hope that this Guide assists public bodies in complying with the Act and helps members of the public to understand their right to inspect public records.

I. Introduction

Access to public records is one of the fundamental rights afforded to people in a democracy. Even where there is no statute, a common law right to inspect and copy public records affords members of the public the opportunity to keep a watchful eye on government. Nixon v. Warner Communications, Inc., 435 U.S. 589 (1978). As acknowledged by the New Mexico Supreme Court, “[w]ritings coming into the hands of public officers in connection with their official functions should generally be accessible to members of the public so that there will be an opportunity to determine whether those who have been entrusted with the affairs of government are honestly, faithfully and competently performing their function as public servants.” State ex rel. Newsome v. Alarid, 90 N.M. 790, 795, 568 P.2d 1236 (1977) (quoting with approval MacEwan v. Holm, 359 P.2d 413, 420-21 (Or. 1961)).

As will be discussed in this Guide, there are circumstances where the right to inspect public records is outweighed by specific competing interests protecting the confidentiality of certain records. However, judicial interpretations of the Act have established a clear presumption in favor of access:

A citizen has a fundamental right to have access to public records. The citizen’s right to know is the rule and secrecy is the exception. Where there is no contrary statute or countervailing public policy, the right to inspect public records must be freely allowed.

Newsome, 90 N.M. at 797. Accordingly, public officials and employees should strive to ensure that all reasonable requests to inspect public records are promptly and efficiently granted. To that end, this Compliance Guide has been prepared by the Attorney General to inform state and local government agencies and the public about the right to inspect public records under the Act and to assist in resolving questions about the Act’s applicability in particular situations.

For ease of understanding, this Guide is divided into three areas:

- 1) The Law, as written, is in bold type.
- 2) Commentary or explanation is in regular type.
- 3) Examples of when the law would and would not apply are in italic type.

For the convenience of those who are requesting and responding to requests for public records under the Act, Appendix II of this Guide contains suggested forms that may be followed for those purposes.

If you would like additional copies of this Guide, or if you have any questions about the Guide or the applicability of the Act, please write the Civil Division of the Office of the Attorney General, P.O. Drawer 1508, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87504-1508, or by telephone at (505) 827-6070. The Guide is also available at the Attorney General’s Office website at www.nmag.gov; after accessing the site, simply click on “Publications.”

II. Inspection of Public Records Act

14-2-1. Right to Inspect Public Records; Exceptions.

- A. Every person has a right to inspect public records of this state except:

 - (2) letters of reference concerning employment, licensing or permits;
 - (3) letters or memorandums which are matters of opinion in personnel files or students' cumulative files;
 - (4) law enforcement records that reveal confidential sources, methods, information or individuals accused but not charged with a crime. - B. Protected personal identifier information contained in public records may be redacted by a public body before inspection or copying of a record. The presence of protected personal identifier information on a record does not exempt the record from inspection. Unredacted records that contain protected personal identifier information shall not be made available on publicly accessible web sites operated by or managed on behalf of a public body.

14-2-4. Short Title.

Chapter 14, Article 2 NMSA 1978 may be cited as the "Inspection of Public Records Act".

14-2-5. Purpose of Act; Declaration of Public Policy.

Recognizing that a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate, the intent of the legislature in enacting the Inspection of Public Records Act is to ensure, and it is declared to be the public policy of this state, that all persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of public officers and employees. It is the further intent of the legislature, and it is declared to be the public policy of this state, that to provide persons with such information is an essential function of a representative government and an integral part of the routine duties of public officers and employees.

The three-day period shall not begin until the written request is delivered to the office of the custodian.
- E. In the event that a written request is not made to the custodian having possession of or responsibility for the public records requested, the person receiving the request shall promptly forward the request to the custodian of the requested public records, if known, and notify the requester. The notification to the requester shall state the reason for the absence of the records from that person's custody or control, the records' location and the name and address of the custodian.

- F. For the purpose of this section, "written request" includes an electronic communication, including email or facsimile, provided that the request complies with the requirements of Subsection C of this section.

14-2-9. Procedure for Inspection.

- A. Requested public records containing information that is exempt and nonexempt from disclosure shall be separated by the custodian prior to inspection, and the nonexempt information shall be made available for inspection. If necessary to preserve the integrity of computer data or the confidentiality of exempt information contained in a database, a partial printout of data containing public records or information may be furnished in lieu of an entire database. Exempt information in an electronic document shall be removed along with the corresponding metadata prior to disclosure by utilizing methods or redaction tools that prevent the recovery of exempt information from a redacted electronic document.
- B. A custodian shall provide a copy of a public record in electronic format if the public record is available in electronic format and an electronic copy is specifically requested. However, a custodian is only required to provide the electronic record in the file format in which it exists at the time of the request.
- C. A custodian:
 - (1) may charge reasonable fees for copying the public records, unless a different fee is otherwise prescribed by law;
 - (2) shall not charge fees in excess of one dollar ($1.00) per printed page for documents eleven inches by seventeen inches in size or smaller;

- (3) may charge the actual costs associated with downloading copies of public records to a computer disk or storage device, including the actual cost of the computer disk or storage device;
- (4) may charge the actual costs associated with transmitting copies of public records by mail, electronic mail or facsimile;
- (5) may require advance payment of the fees before making copies of public records;
- (6) shall not charge a fee for the cost of determining whether any public record is subject to disclosure; and
- (7) shall provide a receipt upon request.

D. Nothing in this section regarding the provision of public data in electronic format shall limit the ability of the custodian to engage in the sale of data as authorized by Section 14-3-15.1 NMSA 1978, including imposing reasonable restrictions on the use of the database and the payment of a royalty or other consideration.

14-2-10. Procedure for Excessively Burdensome or Broad Requests.

If a custodian determines that a written request is excessively burdensome or broad, an additional reasonable period of time shall be allowed to comply with the request. The custodian shall provide written notification to the requester within fifteen days of receipt of the request that additional time will be needed to respond to the written request. The requester may deem the request denied and may pursue the remedies available pursuant to the Inspection of Public Records Act if the custodian does not permit the records to be inspected in a reasonable period of time.

14-2-11. Procedure for Denied Requests.

- A. Unless a written request has been determined to be excessively burdensome or broad, a written request for inspection of public records that has not been permitted within fifteen days of receipt by the office of the custodian may be deemed denied. The person requesting the public records may pursue the remedies provided in the Inspection of Public Records Act.
- B. If a written request has been denied, the custodian shall provide the requester with a written explanation of the denial. The written denial shall:
 - (1) describe the records sought;
 - (2) set forth the names and titles or positions of each person responsible for the denial; and
 - (3) be delivered or mailed to the person requesting the records within fifteen days after the request for inspection was received.
- C. A custodian who does not deliver or mail a written explanation of denial within fifteen days after receipt of a written request for inspection is subject to an action to enforce the provisions of the Inspection of Public Records Act and the requester may be awarded damages. Damages shall:
 - (1) be awarded if the failure to provide a timely explanation of denial is determined to be unreasonable;
 - (2) not exceed one hundred dollars ($100) per day;
 - (3) accrue from the day the public body is in noncompliance until a written denial is issued; and
 - (4) be payable from the funds of the public body.

14-2-12. Enforcement.

A. An action to enforce the Inspection of Public Records Act may be brought by:

- (1) the attorney general or the district attorney in the county of jurisdiction; or
- (2) a person whose written request has been denied.

B. A district court may issue a writ of mandamus or order an injunction or other appropriate remedy to enforce the provisions of the Inspection of Public Records Act.

C. The exhaustion of administrative remedies shall not be required prior to bringing any action to enforce the procedures of the Inspection of Public Records Act.

D. The court shall award damages, costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to any person whose written request has been denied and is successful in a court action to enforce the provisions of the Inspection of Public Records Act.

III. Section 14-2-1. Right to Inspect Public Records; Exceptions

A. RIGHT TO INSPECT PUBLIC RECORDS

The Law

Every person has a right to inspect public records of this state except:

This section sets forth the fundamental rule that a person may inspect any public records of the state except those that are specifically protected. Most records kept by a public entity should be available for inspection. Unless the records custodian is positive that a recognized exception applies, all legitimate and appropriate requests must be honored.

Because of the presumption in favor of the right to inspect, public bodies acquiring information should keep in mind that the records they keep generally are subject to public inspection. Moreover, merely declaring certain documents to be confidential by regulation or agreement will not exclude them from inspection. To exclude a document from inspection, the custodian must be prepared to demonstrate, if necessary, that a specific limited exception applies. Thus, to effectively protect personal privacy, the public body should be sure that the information it gathers is actually needed.

Example 1:

A city program provides funds to low income families for winterizing homes. To qualify for program funds, applicants must provide certain family and financial information. Because the administrator of the program would like to protect the applicants' privacy, but has no specific legal basis for keeping the applications confidential, the administrator requires only such personal information as is necessary to operate the program.

B. EXCEPTIONS

When determining whether the specific exceptions to the Act apply to a particular record, public entities should keep in mind that, although it excepts certain matters from the right to inspect, the Act should not be interpreted as requiring those matters to be kept confidential. In other words, an agency may release a record covered by an exception if the agency determines that release would be appropriate and not in violation of any other law that specifically requires that the record be kept confidential.

1. Medical Records

The Law

Records pertaining to physical or mental examinations and medical treatment of persons confined to any institution.

As written, the Act exempts from disclosure certain medical records of persons confined to public institutions, however, the exception has been substantially expanded by the New Mexico Supreme Court. Specifically, the Court held in Newsome, 90 N.M. 790, that the exception protected employee records pertaining to illness, injury, disability, inability to perform a job task and sick leave. In addition, the Court did not require, as a condition for confidentiality, that the records pertain only to persons confined to institutions. Thus, the exception generally protects records kept by any governmental agency relating to physical or mental illness or medical treatment of individuals, as those terms have been judicially interpreted.

Example 2:

A former inmate at the state penitentiary is being considered for an important county job. An enterprising local journalist wants to get the former inmate's psychiatric records from the penitentiary as part of a story. Records of inmate mental examinations while confined at the penitentiary are, however, protected from disclosure under this exception.

Example 3:

A state employee just got out of St. Vincent Hospital where he underwent a delicate operation. His hospital records are submitted to the personnel department of his office with his claim for insurance. The medical records submitted for insurance payment are protected from disclosure.

Example 4:

Applicants for a vacant district court judge position are required to include in their application to the judicial nominating commission information about medical treatment. A local newspaper requests copies of the applications in the hope of obtaining information about one applicant's history of treatment for alcoholism. Any information submitted by the applicant concerning such treatment is protected from disclosure.

2. Letters of Reference

The LawLetters of reference concerning employment, licensing or permits.

This exception protects letters of reference an agency might obtain regarding applicants for employment, licenses or permits from public inspection. A reference necessarily consists of the author's subjective opinion about the applicant and may not necessarily be based on fact. In addition, knowledge that his or her opinion about an applicant might be disclosed could deter a person from providing letters of reference or could chill a candid discussion of the applicant's qualifications.

Example 5:

A developer applies to the city council for a permit to construct a supermarket in a mostly residential area. The council solicits references concerning the developer from other public bodies for which the developer had performed similar construction services. Mr. Doe, the town manager for a neighboring town, writes a letter to the council detailing his opinion that the developer did not adequately control cost overruns on a town project overseen by the developer. Mr. Roe, a resident of a neighborhood near the planned supermarket site, requests a copy of Mr. Doe's letter. The city council properly refuses Mr. Roe's request on the grounds that Mr. Doe's letter is a letter of reference concerning a permit.

3. Matters of Opinion

The LawLetters or memorandums which are matters of opinion in personnel files or students' cumulative files.

This exception is aimed at protecting documents in an agency's personnel or student files that contain subjective rather than factual information about particular individuals. As the Supreme Court explained regarding materials in an employee's file:

The Legislature quite obviously anticipated that there would be critical material and adverse opinions in letters of reference, in documents concerning disciplinary action, and promotions and in various other opinion information that might have no foundation in fact but, if released for public view, could be seriously damaging to an employee.

Newsome, 90 N.M. at 795. As with the exception for medical records, the Newsome case broadly interpreted this exception's coverage to include documents concerning infractions and disciplinary action, personnel evaluations, opinions as to whether a person would be re-hired or as to why an applicant was not hired, and other matters of opinion. A more recent case similarly interpreted the exception to cover matters of opinion related to the working relationship between an employer and employee such as internal evaluations; disciplinary reports or documentation; promotion, demotion or termination information; or performance assessments. See Cox v. New Mexico Dep’t of Public Safety, 148 N.M. 934, 939, 242 P.3d 501 (Ct. App. 2010). Because this exception has not been applied by the courts outside the personnel and student records contexts, we do not believe this exception applies in other contexts, such as records of complaints against professional licensees. (See discussion in Chapter III, Section B.10 of this Guide concerning the extent to which complaints other than those in personnel or student files may be protected.)

Example 6:

The sheriff’s office received a complaint from a citizen regarding what she perceived as misconduct by the deputy during a routine traffic stop. The complaint is placed in the deputy’s personnel file. A reporter for a news blog asks to inspect and copy the complaint. Although maintained in the deputy’s personnel file, the complaint is not a matter of opinion exempt from disclosure. The complaint came from a member of the public and related to her interaction with the deputy. The complaint was not generated by the sheriff or at the sheriff’s request in connection with sheriff and deputy’s employment relationship. Accordingly, the sheriff’s office must make the complaint available to the reporter for inspection and copying.

Example 7:

A newspaper reporter interviewed the warden and a spokesperson for a state correctional institution and learned that five night shift employees had been terminated after testing positive for marijuana. The reporter requested permission to review the personnel files of the five employees with the aim of learning their identity. The correctional institution is not required to provide access to the files because, under these facts, where the details about the disciplinary measures and other circumstances regarding the discipline of the employees had already become public, divulgence of the former employees’ identities would compromise the privilege against disclosure of disciplinary matters protected by the Act. Under most circumstances, however, the bare fact that a specific employee has been terminated would not be considered confidential information.

Commentary

As indicated in Example 6, this exception extends only to information that is a matter of opinion. Factual information or other public information is not protected merely because it is kept in employee or student files.

Example 8:

A city employee who tends to get into trouble with her supervisor has, as a result, several letters of reprimand in her personnel file. These letters, as well as her annual evaluations, are not subject to disclosure. However, factual information in the file concerning salary, annual leave or conflicts of interest is not similarly protected.

Commentary

Requested documents that contain significant factual information in addition to opinion should be provided with the opinion information blocked out or otherwise redacted. The presence of protected opinion information in a document does not exempt the remainder of the document from inspection. Job applications and applicant resumes are not matters of opinion and should be provided upon request.

With respect to student files, information not protected by this exception may otherwise be covered by the protection granted to student records under federal law. (See discussion in Chapter III, Section B.9.b of this Guide regarding the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1232g.)

4. Law Enforcement Records

The Law

Law enforcement records that reveal confidential sources, methods, information or individuals accused but not charged with a crime. Law enforcement records include evidence in any form received or compiled in connection with any criminal investigation or prosecution by any law enforcement or prosecuting agency, including inactive matters or closed investigations to the extent that they contain the information listed above.

This exception does not protect all records held by a law enforcement agency. A request to inspect law enforcement records can be denied only if the records requested reveal confidential sources, information or individuals accused but not charged with a crime. Otherwise, inspection must be allowed.

Under this exception, records held by a law enforcement agency are protected if disclosure would seriously interfere with the effectiveness of a criminal investigation or prosecution. Thus, records detailing methods and procedures a law enforcement agency follows when investigating crimes are not subject to inspection. In addition, a law enforcement agency could deny access to evidence and other records that, if disclosed, would alert potential defendants to destroy evidence, coordinate stories or flee the jurisdiction. Similarly, when witness testimony is crucial in criminal investigations and prosecutions, law enforcement records identifying witnesses may be exempt. The exception also protects from disclosure information that might unfairly cast suspicion on and invade the privacy of innocent people or endanger a person's life.

Whether a law enforcement agency can deny inspection of a particular record may depend on the phase of the criminal investigation or prosecution. For example, the name of a suspect will no longer be covered by the exception if the person is charged with a crime. However, if the target of an investigation or a suspect is not charged, that person's identity can remain confidential even after the investigation is closed.

Example 9:

During the investigation of a series of armed bank robberies, the state police question a number of suspects, including Mr. Zot. Mr. Zot becomes the target of a grand jury, but is not indicted. Eventually a Mr. Zinc is arrested for the robbery, and is tried and convicted. The state police close their file. One year later, an author writing a biography of Mr. Zot requests a copy of the closed file. The custodian for state police records may provide the file after removing or blocking out material pertaining to Mr. Zot and other information protected by the law enforcement records exception.

Example 10:

A village police chief is questioned by the district attorney's office. The reporter for the local newspaper finds out about the interview and contacts one of her sources in the police department. The next day, the headline in the newspaper reads: "Police Chief Accused of Mishandling Public Funds." The reporter decides to write a follow-up article and contacts the police department to request copies of the police chief's expense records for out-of-town trips. The records custodian for the police department cannot deny access to the records merely because the headline in the newspaper accuses the police chief of a crime. However, the records custodian may deny inspection on grounds that the requested records "reveal ... individuals accused but not charged with a crime" if the police chief has been designated a suspect or has otherwise been accused (but not charged) by law enforcement officials.

Example 11:

Ms. Cat telephones the county animal control department to complain that her neighbor, Mr. Canine, is allowing his dog to run loose in the neighborhood. It is a misdemeanor for a dog to be outside its owner's property unless the dog is on a leash. The department employee who answers the call makes a notation of Ms. Cat's name and Mr. Canine's address, and sends an animal control officer to investigate. The next day, Mr. Canine asks the animal control department for a copy of the department's records reflecting complaints about his dog. Complaints to the animal control department about dogs do not qualify as protected law enforcement records because they generally do not reveal confidential sources, methods, information or individuals accused but not charged with a crime. Unless another law protects records of complaints to the animal control department from disclosure, the department must give Mr. Canine access to the notation of Ms. Cat's complaint.

Commentary

The law enforcement records exception does not protect information subject to disclosure under the Arrest Record Information Act (NMSA 1978, §§ 29-10-1 to -8). This includes records identifying a person who has been arrested. In addition, information contained in posters, announcements or lists for identifying or apprehending fugitives or wanted persons; court records of public judicial proceedings; records of traffic offenses and accident reports; and original records of entry compiled chronologically, such as police blotters, are required to be available for public inspection.

Police blotters and other original records of entry that the Arrest Record Information Act makes public are permanent, chronological records of arrests, detentions and other events reported to and kept by police departments and other law enforcement agencies. Typically, a police blotter includes the name, physical description, place and date of birth, address and occupation of persons arrested, the time and place of arrest, the offenses for which the individuals were arrested or detained, and the name of the arresting officer. Other examples of original records of entry besides police blotters are radio logs, dispatch logs, desk logs, offense logs, 911 tapes and other records of incidents reported to a law enforcement agency that are organized chronologically.

Example 12:

The director of a city parks department is arrested for allegedly leaving the scene of an accident. A reporter for the local television news program writes to the police department and requests a copy of the 911 tapes of requests for emergency services on the night of the incident. The 911 tapes are public records, and they must be made available to the reporter.

Example 13:

Members of the news media make a request to inspect records of the sheriff's department concerning a theft at a grocery store committed by three juveniles who were arrested by the department. There is no law protecting arrest records concerning juveniles. Thus, they must be made available for inspection and copying to the same extent as adult arrest records.

Example 14:

Peace officers sent to the scene of an alleged crime are required to fill out a standard incident form. The form is composed of two parts. The first part includes basic information about the incident, including a description of the offense and type of injury or loss; information about the victim and suspect, including names, addresses and telephone numbers; and the identity of the reporting officer. The second part may include initial investigatory information, such as the method used to commit the crime; potential location of the suspect; witness interviews; and evidence gathered at the scene. Because the forms are not kept in chronological order, they do not qualify as original records of entry made public by the Arrest Record Information Act. Nevertheless, except to the extent that they qualify as protected law enforcement records under the Inspection of Public Records Act, the forms must be made available to the public. Thus, the law enforcement agency generally makes the first part of the form, which contains information like that typically included in a police blotter or other incident log, available for public inspection. Before allowing public inspection of the second part of the form, the agency blocks out information that reveals confidential sources, methods, information or persons accused but not charged or arrested in connection with a crime, and evidence received or compiled in connection with the criminal investigation.

Example 15:

A deputy sheriff is involved in an accident that results in fatalities. The accident occurs while the deputy is in pursuit of a motorist suspected of driving while intoxicated. The deputy is not accused or charged with a crime and remains on duty. The sheriff's department maintains incident reports in chronological order. A reporter asks for a copy of the incident report on the accident involving the deputy. The request is denied on grounds that the case is subject to an "ongoing investigation." However, the law enforcement records exception does not provide blanket protection from inspection for "ongoing investigations." In this case, incident reports are compiled chronologically and appear to qualify as "original records of entry" that are public under the Arrest Record Information Act. In addition, that Act designates "records of traffic offenses and accident reports" as public information. Under these circumstances, the incident report on the accident involving the deputy must be disclosed.

Commentary

In exceptional circumstances, information contained in an original record of entry or similar record might be redacted or blocked out before the record is disclosed in response to a public records request. Information may be withheld, however, only with substantial justification. For example, if a law enforcement agency knew or reasonably suspected that revealing a specific victim's address would put the victim's life in danger, then the agency could keep the address confidential. In addition, victims of crimes specified in Article II, Section 24 of the New Mexico Constitution and in the Victims of Crimes Act (NMSA 1978, §§ 31-26-1 to -14), including murder, rape and other serious criminal offenses, have certain rights, including the right to have their dignity and privacy respected. The rights conferred under these provisions take effect when an individual is formally charged for allegedly committing one of the specified crimes against a victim. Once a defendant has been charged with the specified crimes, these provisions may provide law enforcement agencies, criminal prosecutors and judges with justification for denying public access to those portions of records that identify the victims of those crimes. The rights conferred under the constitution and the Victims of Crimes Act end upon final disposition of the court proceedings.

5. Confidential Materials Act

The Law

As provided by the Confidential Materials Act.

The Confidential Materials Act (NMSA 1978, §§ 14-3A-1 to -2) permits any library, college, university, museum or institution of the state or any of its political subdivisions to keep confidential materials of historical or educational value on which the donor or seller has imposed restrictions on access for a specified period. The statutory protection does not apply if the donated or sold materials were public records as defined by the Inspection of Public Records Act while in the possession of the donor or seller at the time of the sale.

Example 16:

The chair of the Board of Medical Examiners donates to the UNM Medical School a copy of a public hearing transcript detailing bizarre evidence the Board heard regarding revocation of a particular physician's license. The chair donates the material with the condition that the school withhold the transcript from public inspection until he has concluded his term on the Board. A medical student who considered the subject physician his mentor requests a copy of the transcript from the school. The school must provide the transcript because it was a public record while in the possession of the Board at the time it was donated.

6. Public Hospital Records

The Law

Trade secrets, attorney-client privileged information and long-range or strategic business plans of public hospitals discussed in a properly closed meeting.

Under this exception, the governing body of a public hospital may keep confidential information in its records that was discussed in a properly closed meeting when the information to be kept confidential pertains to trade secrets, is protected by the privilege for attorney-client communications or relates to the hospital's long-range or strategic business plans. The exception corresponds to a similar exception in the Open Meetings Act (NMSA 1978, § 10-15-1(H)(9)) that permits public hospital boards to discuss the same information in closed meetings. To constitute a "properly closed meeting" for purposes of the exception, the meeting where the topics covered by the exception are discussed must be closed according to the requirements of the Open Meetings Act.

Example 17:

The board of a public hospital holds its regularly scheduled public meeting. During the meeting, a board member moves to go into executive session to discuss the hospital's five-year business plan. The plan contains the details of the board's proposal to expand the hospital's operations within the county and into neighboring communities. The board goes into closed session in accordance with the procedures required by the Open Meetings Act. The day after the meeting, a reporter for the local television station requests a copy of the proposal. The hospital's records custodian may properly deny access to the proposal because it contains the hospital's long-range and strategic business plans, and was discussed in a properly closed meeting.

Example 18:

The administrator for a county hospital leased to a private, non-profit organization creates a pay scale for nonmedical staff positions at the hospital. A member of the custodial staff requests a copy of the pay scale. Unless otherwise protected by law, the pay scale is a public record and must be disclosed because it does not involve trade secrets or long-range business plans of the hospital discussed in a properly closed meeting.

Commentary

It should be noted that a public hospital's records containing trade secrets and attorney-client privileged materials probably are protected by other state laws as well as under this specific exception (See the list of state laws in Chapter III, Section B.9). Those records, therefore, may remain confidential regardless of whether they are discussed in a properly closed meeting.

7. Tactical Response Plans

The Law

Tactical response plans or procedures prepared for or by the state or a political subdivision of the state, the publication of which could reveal specific vulnerabilities, risk assessments or tactical emergency security procedures that could be used to facilitate the planning or execution of a terrorist attack.

Particularly since the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks, state and local governments have focused on the development and refinement of plans and procedures for responding to emergencies, including potential terrorist attacks. This exception is intended to protect New Mexico state and local government tactical response plans or procedures that, if made public, could reveal specific vulnerabilities, risk assessments or tactical emergency security procedures that could be used by terrorists to plan or carry out an attack. Information sought to be protected under the exception must be included in a governmental tactical response plan or procedure. Otherwise, it is not sufficient to deny an inspection request that the requested records could conceivably be useful to terrorists planning an attack.

Example 19:

A county resident requests a copy of a geological survey map that designates the reservoir supplying the county's drinking water. The map is not part of the county's tactical response plans or procedures. Thus, access to the map may not be denied just because the location of the reservoir might possibly be of interest to a terrorist.

Example 20:

Homeowners in a village are required to file copies of their building plans with the village clerk. Some residents are concerned that the plans, if made available for inspection, could be used by burglars to rob the residents' homes. Nevertheless, unless the building plans are otherwise protected by law, the village clerk may not rely on the exception for tactical response plans or procedures to deny public access to the building plans.

Commentary

It also would not be proper to simply designate information as a “tactical response plan” in order to avoid public disclosure. To afford confidentiality to a plan under this exception it must (1) address the state’s or a local government’s plan or procedures for dealing with a crisis or emergency and (2) contain “specific vulnerabilities, risk assessments or tactical emergency security procedures” that could facilitate a terrorist attack if made public.

8. Protected Personal Identifier Information

The Law

Protected personal identifier information contained in public records may be redacted by a public body before inspection or copying of a record. The presence of protected personal identifier information on a record does not exempt the record from inspection. Unredacted records that contain protected personal identifier information shall not be made available on publicly accessible web sites operated by or managed on behalf of a public body.

The Act permits a public body to redact or block out “protected personal identifier information” contained in a public record before making the record available for inspection or copying. As discussed below in Chapter V, Section G, the Act defines “protected personal identifier information” that may properly be redacted. A public body may not deny inspection of a public record merely because the record contains protected personal identifier information. To protect the personal identifier information, the public body may redact it from the public record and then make the redacted record available for inspection and copying.

The Act permits but does not require a public body to redact protected personal identifier information contained in a public record before providing the record for inspection or copying. In contrast, the Act prohibits a public body from making records that contain protected personal identifier information available on the public body’s web site unless the protected personal identifier information has first been redacted.

9. Other Laws

The Law

As otherwise provided by law.

The last exception to the inspection right incorporates limitations on access to public records found in other statutes and sources of legal authority. Thus, a person who requests a particular public record may find that it is protected or regulated by a specific statutory or court-recognized rule.

a. State Law

The New Mexico statutes include numerous provisions relating to the confidentiality of certain public records. These statutes are not necessarily consistent. Statutes protecting a certain kind of record, for example, financial information, in one agency's files may be silent regarding the same information in another agency's files. The statutes also do not always completely exempt records from public inspection. While some establish the essential confidentiality of records, others simply provide that certain records may be disclosed only in a limited way. Records covered by statutes that govern the confidentiality of records kept by private persons or businesses are not "public records," and are not subject to the Act.

Set forth below is a brief description of some constitutional, statutory and regulatory exceptions to the right of a person to inspect any public record of the state. The list is illustrative only and is not intended to be exhaustive. In any given case, the particular requirements of these provisions and others governing the disclosure of specific records should be reviewed to determine how they apply.

NEW MEXICO STATUTES ANNOTATED (1978)

Investigations and investigatory hearings conducted by disciplinary counsel generally are confidential unless and until the filing of a formal specification of charges with the disciplinary board or other occurrences specified in the rule.

Commentary

Sometimes, a public body will attempt to grant confidentiality to certain records by regulation or ordinance. In most cases, a regulation or ordinance, by itself, may not be used to deny access to public records because it is not a “law” for purposes of the “otherwise provided by law” exception. However, according to the New Mexico Supreme Court, a regulation making certain records private may be proper if the regulation is authorized by a statute and is necessary to carry out the statute’s purposes. See City of Las Cruces v. Public Employee Labor Relations Bd., 121 N.M. 688, 917 P.2d 451 (1996).

Example 21:

A statute authorizes the Department of Health to establish standards for the delivery of behavioral health services, including “the documentation and confidentiality of client records.” Pursuant to this statute, the Department promulgates a regulation that keeps the identity of clients served by public and private mental health clinics confidential. Public health clinics may properly rely on the regulation to deny requests to inspect records containing information that identifies clients.

Example 22:

A state agency that oversees collective bargaining by public employees issues a regulation providing that the names of employees on collective bargaining representative petitions shall be kept confidential. A public employer requests access to a petition signed by a number of its employees that indicates the employees’ interest in having a representative election. When the state agency denies access to the petition, the public employer files a lawsuit challenging the agency’s authority to keep the employees’ names confidential because no statute expressly protects the names from public disclosure. The court upholds the agency’s decision to deny access to the records based on its regulation. The court correctly rules that the “otherwise provided by law” exception incorporates the regulation because the regulation is authorized by a statute governing collective bargaining by public employees and effectuates the statute’s provisions that expressly protect the right of public employees to collectively bargain, to join unions without interference and to conduct representative elections in secret.

b. Federal Law

Some state or local public agencies may be subject to federal laws and regulations governing the disclosure of public records. For example, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1232g, provides that federal funds will not be available to any educational agency or institution that permits the release of education records or personally identifiable information (other than directory information) without consent to any individual or agency other than those listed. “Directory information” is defined to include a student’s name, address, telephone number, date and place of birth, field of study, athletic participation, dates of attendance and degrees received. This federal statute supplements the protection specifically provided under Section 14-2-1(A)(3) of the Inspection of Public Records Act for matters of opinion in students’ files. (It should be noted that FERPA excludes from its protection law enforcement records maintained by a law enforcement unit of an educational institution.)

Example 23:

A person claiming to have been a recent honors graduate of a state university applies for a job with START, Inc., a local public relations firm. START, however, is somewhat suspicious of the applicant’s claims and writes the university for his scholastic record. The university, being subject to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, can tell START whether the applicant got a degree but cannot send a transcript of his grades without his permission.

Commentary

Another example of federal protection from disclosure is that applicable to social security numbers. In 1990, Congress enacted legislation providing confidentiality for social security account numbers and related records obtained or maintained by a state or local government agency pursuant to laws enacted on or after October 1, 1990. See 42 U.S.C. § 405(c)(2)(C)(viii). There is no federal protection for social security numbers obtained under laws enacted before

October 1, 1990, but Congress has recognized in other contexts that the disclosure of social security numbers implicates personal privacy considerations. (Social security numbers are now expressly protected under the Inspection of Public Records Act as “protected personal identifier information.” See discussion in Chapter III, Section B.8 of this Guide.)

10. Countervailing Public Policy and “Rule of Reason” (Abolished)

Until recently, New Mexico courts recognized a “rule of reason” exception to the right to inspect public records when there was a countervailing public policy against disclosure. Under this judicially-created exception, nondisclosure of public records could be justified if the harm to the public interest from allowing inspection outweighed the public’s right to know.

The New Mexico Supreme Court abolished the rule of reason exception in Republican Party of New Mexico v. New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department, No. 32,524 (N.M. Sup. Ct. June 28, 2012). The Court’s decision makes it clear that a public body may withhold a public record only if it is based on (1) a specific exception contained within the Act, (2) a statutory or regulatory exception, (3) a rule adopted by the New Mexico Supreme Court, or (4) a privilege protecting a record from disclosure that is grounded in the U.S. or state constitution.

In the same decision, the NM Supreme Court also found that an executive privilege exists under New Mexico law but that its sole basis is the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers. In so finding, the Court limited the executive privilege to only pre-decisional communications between the head of the executive and his or her closest advisers regarding the executive head’s constitutionally-mandated duties. The executive privilege is not available to cabinet agencies controlled by the governor or to local public bodies. Republican Party, No. 32,524 slip op. at 17-19.

Example 24:

The State Engineer is formulating a formal policy for handling water rights litigation in the state. As part of the process, she solicits the recommendations of division directors within the agency. Some of the directors respond with written memoranda addressed to the State Engineer that contain candid and controversial remarks regarding the issues and persons involved in water rights litigation. During the process, word gets out that the State Engineer is developing the policy. Some interested private persons voluntarily submit comments to the State Engineer's office.

An attorney representing a party involved in a lawsuit against the state requests copies of all documents regarding the proposed policy. The request is denied and the attorney challenges the refusal to allow inspection in district court. We think that, after the Republican Party decision, it is now clear that both the internal memoranda and the letters from the public must be provided.

Example 25:

A construction project is proposed in an area that relies on groundwater for its drinking water supply. The state agency charged with enforcing the state's safe drinking water laws has contracted for a study of the impact of the project on local water supplies. A draft of the study was forwarded to the governor for review. A concerned resident requests a copy of the study from the agency. The agency denies the request on the basis that the copy is a draft document and protected by executive privilege.

There is no exception in the Act that allows a public body to deny inspection of a record simply because it is a draft. The study is also not protected by the executive privilege because the study was prepared and provided to the agency by a third party contractor and the study is not a "communication" to the governor or a communication between the governor and his or her closest advisors. Unless the state agency can identify a law permitting it to deny inspection of the study, the state agency must make the study available for inspection and copying.

Commentary

The fact that a record was obtained by an agency under a promise of confidentiality is not a sufficient reason to deny access. Confidentiality must be supported by a specific law, court rule or constitutional privilege.

Example 26:

A government watchdog group requests the names and salaries of employees who work for a county's road department. The director of the county personnel office refuses to provide the information because he promised the employees that he would not reveal the information and because he feels revelation would invade the employees' privacy. The director's policy is open to challenge because the names and salaries of public employees are generally considered public information. Without a specific law, court rule or constitutional privilege to support it, the mere promise of confidentiality is not adequate to deny access to the requested information.

Example 27:

A town resident sues the town government. Before the court issues its decision, the parties agree to settle the case. They enter into a settlement agreement in which the town agrees to pay the plaintiff a specified amount in damages. The settlement agreement includes a provision making the settlement terms confidential. The court enters an order dismissing the case. The order does not incorporate the settlement agreement. Soon afterwards, the mayor signs a voucher for the amount of the settlement payable to the plaintiff in the lawsuit. An interested citizen makes a request for copies of certain vouchers, including the voucher for the settlement amount. The town provides copies of all vouchers requested, except the one issued in connection with the settlement. Access to that voucher is denied on the basis that the settlement amount is confidential under the terms of the settlement agreement. The town cannot properly withhold the voucher because, unless protected by law, information relating to a public body's expenditures is public. The town cannot deny access to otherwise public records merely by entering into a voluntary settlement agreement that declares certain information confidential.

Commentary

Issues also arise in connection with requests for consumer and other complaints filed with licensing boards and other public bodies against professional licensees and regulated businesses. Unless protected by a specific statute, such complaints should be considered public records.

Example 28:

A home buyer receives what she considers to be deficient service from her real estate broker. In response, she writes a letter to the municipality that issued a business license to the broker and alleges that the broker broke the law. The pertinent municipal department evaluates the complaint and decides that the allegations are not worth pursuing. A newspaper investigating real estate fraud learns about the complaint and requests a copy. No statute protects complaints filed against brokers. The municipality provides the reporter with a copy of the complaint, with a cover letter that explains the municipality's decision not to pursue any investigation, and disclaims any position about the truth or falsity of the allegations in the complaint.

IV. Section 14-2-5. Purpose of Act; Declaration of Public Policy

The Law

Recognizing that a representative government is dependent upon an informed electorate, the intent of the legislature in enacting the Inspection of Public Records Act is to ensure, and it is declared to be the public policy of this state, that all persons are entitled to the greatest possible information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of public officers and employees. It is the further intent of the legislature, and it is declared to be the public policy of this state, that to provide persons with such information is an essential function of a representative government and an integral part of the routine duties of public officers and employees.

Commentary

This provision sets forth the policy behind the Act. The basic premise is that providing people with access to information about the activities of public agencies results in better government. To underscore the importance of this premise, the Act declares that providing access to public records is included in the essential functions of government and in the duties of its officers and employees.

V. Section 14-2-6. Definitions

The Law

As used in the Inspection of Public Records Act:

A. "custodian" means any person responsible for the maintenance, care or keeping of a public body's public records, regardless of whether the records are in that person's actual physical custody and control;

B. "file format" means the internal structure of an electronic file that defines the way it is stored and used;

C. "inspect" means to review all public records that are not excluded in Section 14-2-1 NMSA 1978;

D. "person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, firm, association or entity;

E. "public body" means the executive, legislative and judicial branches of state and local governments and all advisory boards, commissions, committees, agencies or entities created by the constitution or any branch of government that receives any public funding, including political subdivisions, special taxing districts, school districts and institutions of higher education; and

F. "public records" means all documents, papers, letters, books, maps, tapes, photographs, recordings and other materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, that are used, created, received, maintained or held by or on behalf of any public body and relate to public business, whether or not the records are required by law to be created or maintained.

[Uncodified] "protected personal identifier information" means:

- (1) all but the last four digits of a:
 - (a) taxpayer identification number;
 - (b) financial account number; or
 - (c) driver's license number;
- (2) all but the year of a person's date of birth; and
- (3) a social security number.

A. CUSTODIAN

A custodian for purposes of the Act is the person designated by a public body who is responsible for the public body's records, wherever they are located.

Example 29:

A person interested in the state's policy regarding hunting requests copies of minutes for meetings of the Game and Fish Commission held in June of 1990. The minutes are not kept at the Commission's office, but have been transferred to the State Records Center. Even though the State Records Center has actual custody of the minutes, the custodian of the minutes for purposes of the Act is the Game and Fish Commission employee assigned responsibility for the Commission's records.

B. FILE FORMAT

The term "file format" means the internal structure of an electronic file that defines the way it is stored and used. For example, a public body may use Microsoft Word to create electronic documents. Microsoft Word is the file format for those documents.

C. INSPECT

The term "inspect" as used in the Act means to review any public record that the Act has not excepted from the right to inspect.

D. PERSON

The term “person” is not limited to individuals and can apply to almost any type of entity, including corporations, clubs and partnerships.

E. PUBLIC BODY

For purposes of the Act, the term “public body” refers to virtually every type of governmental body, office or agency. It includes the state and local governments, and all boards, commissions, agencies and other entities that are created by the state constitution or by any branch of state or local government that receives public funding, including political subdivisions and institutions of higher education.

Example 30:

A request is made to inspect the file of an employee of a community action agency. The community action agency is a private, nonprofit organization that administers programs aimed at eliminating poverty. The organization receives state and federal funding for its projects, but it was not created by the constitution or any branch of government, and its programs and day-to-day operations are not subject to any governmental oversight or supervision. Under these circumstances, the organization is not a “public body” and is not required by the Act to provide access to its records.

Example 31:

A county commission decides to lease the county hospital to a private, nonprofit corporation that will be solely responsible for the hospital’s management and operations. The mill levy proceeds collected by the county will be turned over to the corporation for purposes of providing care to indigent county residents and related operations expenses. Two county commissioners will be members of the hospital governing board and the county commission retains the authority to remove and replace the non-commissioner board members if, in the commission’s opinion, the board is not fulfilling its duties to provide adequate health care services to the county’s residents. In addition, the hospital board is required to issue a report to the commission twice a year and submit to annual audits by the county. A citizen of the county asks the hospital board for a copy of all expenditures made by the hospital the previous year for medical supplies. The board constitutes a public body for purposes of the Act because the hospital is owned by the county, receives public funding from the county and is subject to oversight and control by the county commission. Unless an exception applies to the expenditure records requested, the hospital board should make the records available to the requester for inspection.

Example 32:

The governing body of a pueblo receives a written request for copies of all minutes recorded by the body for its meetings during the prior six months. The governing body is not required by the Act to provide access to the minutes because it is not covered by the Act’s definition of “public body.” The Act applies to records of state government and local governments of the state. It does not apply to records maintained by the governments of Native American tribes, pueblos or nations or by the federal government.

F. PUBLIC RECORDS

A “public record” is defined to include any document, tape or other material, regardless of form, that is used, created, received, maintained or held by or on behalf of a public body, and is related to public business.

Example 33:

The governing board of a municipal electric utility tape records its public meetings and uses the tape to draft written minutes. Once the minutes are drafted, the tapes are erased and reused. Two days after a regular meeting of the board, an individual who attended the meeting asks to listen to the tape of the meeting. Unless the tape has been erased, the board must comply with the request. Until it is erased, a tape recording of a board meeting is used, maintained or held by or on behalf of the board and, therefore, constitutes a public record. During this time, even if it is very short, the tape is subject to inspection.

Example 34:

A person studying the process of governmental decision making submits to the records custodian for the governor's office a request to inspect all email messages transmitted between the governor's office and the speaker of the house of representatives during the legislative session. Finding no exception under the Act or other law precluding public disclosure, the records custodian permits the requester to review and print copies of the requested messages that have been stored in the governor's office's computerized database, thereby complying with the Act.

Commentary

Records used, created, received, maintained or held on behalf of a public body are public records just as if they were maintained by the public body itself. In this regard, if email is used to conduct public business, the email is a public record even though a personal account is used. The person using the personal account is effectively using, creating, receiving, maintaining or holding the public record on behalf of the public body. On the other hand, not every personal email of a public official is necessarily a public record. The communication must relate to public business and be maintained or held on behalf of a public body to be a public record.

Example 35:

The mayor of a city routinely uses his personal email account to communicate, in his official capacity, with city councilors and lobbyists regarding city business. An interested citizen requests all email communications between the mayor and lobbyists regarding an issue currently facing the city. In responding to the request, the mayor must include all applicable messages sent to and from his personal email account as they are records related to public business held on behalf of the city.

Example 36:

Joe works for the Department of Game and Fish. Joe receives a personal email, on his personal account, from Jane, a private citizen, that contains a comment on an issue before the Department of Health. Jane is Joe's personal friend and is not connected to his work for the state. Joe replies to the email. The emails were not sent or received in Joe's official capacity and did not influence his work. We do not believe the emails are public records, even though they technically relate to public business, because they were not used, created, received, maintained or held on behalf of a public body.

Example 37:

A request for records pertaining to inmates housed at the county jail is made to the jail administrator. The jail administrator is employed by a private company that provides, manages and operates the county jail. The jail administrator refuses to provide the records on the basis that they are kept by the private company and therefore are not public records. The requester goes to district court for an injunction requiring the jail administrator to allow inspection of the records. The county jail is a public facility and the private jail operator is performing a governmental function that otherwise would be performed by the county. Thus, it is likely that a court reviewing the issue would rule that the inmate records are public records because they are created, used and maintained on behalf of a public body, i.e., the county, and relate to public business. See, Toomey v. City of Truth or Consequences, No. 30,795 (N.M. Ct. App. July 26, 2012)

Commentary

The definition of public records covers virtually all documents generated or maintained by a public entity, including (unless covered by a specific and express exemption) government vouchers and other records of public expenditures, public contracts, employment applications, public employee salaries, final agency decisions, license applications and accident reports. Despite the breadth of the definition, however, there are some documents that may be kept by a public body or its employees that are not public records. Records are not public if a law states that they are not public records, if they do not relate to a public body's business or if they are not kept by or on behalf of a public body.

Example 38:

A state agency allocates federal funds to various arts programs throughout the state. As a courtesy, one such program sent the agency director a copy of a management analysis report purchased with federal funds. The report was not kept in the state agency's files, but was thrown away or sent on to a private organization. The report is not a public record because, although temporarily in the custody of the state agency, the report is the product of a service contract between the private arts program and the contractor that prepared the report and was neither created at the request of the state agency nor used by the private arts program as part of any formal report or application to the state agency. Of course, even though the report is not a public record subject to inspection, the Act would not have prohibited the agency from voluntarily providing the report in response to an inspection request made while the report was temporarily in the agency's custody.

Example 39:

A city employee teaches an evening course in a private college program for adults. He used his lunch hour to prepare for class and keeps his papers for the course in his desk in his office. These papers are not prepared in connection with his employment duties and are not public records of the city subject to inspection upon request.

Commentary

In some situations, personal contact information held by a public body may not constitute a "public record" for purposes of the Act. In a recent case, the New Mexico Court of Appeals determined that personal information included in a citizen's complaint filed with a public body, such as the citizen's home address and telephone number and social security number, might be redacted before making the complaint available for public inspection. See Cox, 148 N.M. at 941. The court observed that the personal information was not directly related to the complaint submitted to the public body, was not necessary to the public's inspection of the substance of the complaints, and that release might lead to substantial harm to the citizen complainant such as identity theft. (As discussed above in Chapter III, Section B.8, the Act now expressly permits a public body to redact social security numbers and other "protected personal identifier information" in a public record before allowing inspection and copying.)

For reasons similar to those the court used to justify protecting personal contact information in complaints filed by private citizens, the home address and telephone numbers of public employees may also be protected from disclosure. In the past, a public employee's personal contact information was considered a public record and subject to public inspection. Because home addresses and telephone numbers were already available to the public through publication in telephone directories and similar sources, there appeared to be little justification for denying public access to the same information contained in the records of public bodies. This view has changed in recent years, due to the wide availability of and access to information on the Internet, concerns about identity theft, and public pressure to limit unwanted telephone, mail, and e-mail solicitations. Records of home addresses and telephone numbers of a public body's employees constitute "public records" for purposes of the Act only if they "relate to public business." This is consistent with the Act's purpose, discussed above, to ensure public access to "information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of public officials and employees." Generally, employee home addresses, telephone numbers and similar personal contact information are maintained by a public body for administrative purposes. The information, by itself, reveals nothing about the official acts of the employees or the operations or activities of the public body. Thus, in most cases, a public body may deny a request to inspect records of its employees' personal contact information because that information is not a "public" record.

Example 40:

A newspaper requests payroll information for a village's employees. The records include the employees' names, home addresses and salaries. The village provides the newspapers with copies of the records, after redacting the employees' home addresses. The village properly denied inspection of the home addresses because that information is not a public record that is open to inspection under the Act.

Commentary

In limited situations, personal contact information for a public body's employees may constitute a public record that must be made available for inspection. For example, public inspection may be appropriate if a public body's employee works at home, so that the employee's work address is also that employee's home address. Another example is where a public official is required by law to reside within a certain city, county or district. In that situation, the portion of the official's address that shows the city, county or district in which the employee lives might constitute a public record.

G. PROTECTED PERSONAL IDENTIFIER INFORMATION

As discussed above, the Act permits a public body to redact "protected personal identifier information" in a public record before providing the record for inspection and copying. See Chapter III, Section B.8. For purposes of the Act, "protected personal identifier information" that a public body may redact is all but the last four digits of a taxpayer identification number, financial account number or driver's license number; all but the year of a person's date of birth; and a social security number.

The definition of "protected personal identifier information" was enacted with other amendments to the Act in 2011. However, because of the statutory rules governing codification, the definition was not codified in the New Mexico Statutes Annotated. Even though it is not codified, the definition was properly enacted by the legislature and signed by the governor. Accordingly, the definition is a valid law and is applicable and enforceable to the same extent as a codified law.

- C. provide proper and reasonable opportunities to inspect public records;

A. DESIGNATION OF CUSTODIAN

Each state and local government board, commission, committee, agency or entity must designate a custodian to handle requests to inspect public records. (See discussion of the definition of "custodian" in Chapter V, Section A) The person designated should be knowledgeable about the kinds of records kept by the public body, the requirements of the Act, and any specific statutes or regulations protecting or otherwise affecting the public body's records. Agencies do not have to hire new employees just to be their records custodians. The person who is appointed the records custodian may be an existing employee, e.g., a county clerk. In addition, the Act is not intended to make the custodian the exclusive employee with power to respond to inspection requests; other employees may, on behalf of the records custodian, furnish public records for inspection or otherwise respond to requests to inspect public records.

B. RESPONSE IN SAME MEDIUM

A custodian receiving an inspection request must respond in the same medium in which the custodian received the request, be it electronic or paper. The custodian may provide an additional response to the same request in any other medium the custodian deems appropriate.

C. REASONABLE OPPORTUNITY TO INSPECT

Subject to the Act's specific requirements discussed below, a custodian must provide proper and reasonable opportunities to inspect public records. This does not mean that a request to inspect must take precedence over all other business of the public body. Rather, taking into account the office hours, available space, available personnel, the need to safeguard records and other legitimate concerns of a particular public body, a custodian must provide reasonable access to public records.

The custodian may impose reasonable conditions on access, including appropriate times when, and places where, records may be inspected and copied. In no event is an office required to remain open beyond its normal hours of operation, and generally the obligation to provide reasonable access to public records should not require an office to disrupt its normal operations.

Example 41:

A city treasurer's office posts its accounts and closes its books at the end of each month. A request to inspect the account ledgers for the city on the last business day of the month would interfere with the ability of the office to close the accounts. In such a case, it would be reasonable to ask the requester to return the next day to inspect the ledgers.

Example 42:

A person wishes to inspect all the contracts entered into by a school district for the past five years. To give the person free access to all the filing cabinets containing such documents would both disrupt the normal operations of the school district administrator's office and disturb the filing system. Therefore, it would be reasonable to ask the person to sit in a part of the office out of the main traffic flow and have staff members bring her the records in batches at reasonable intervals.

D. REASONABLE FACILITIES TO MAKE OR FURNISH COPIES

The right to inspect public records includes the right to make copies of public records. The Act provides that a records custodian must provide reasonable facilities to make or furnish copies during usual business hours.

Ordinarily, the facilities available for copying are those used by the office in the normal course of business. Reasonable use of such facilities does not require the interruption of the regular functions of the office.

Example 43:

A person, having inspected several records pertaining to hearings conducted by a state licensing board, has requested copies of the final orders issued by the board. The copies may be made on the agency's copying machine but the requester may be asked to wait a reasonable amount of time until personnel are available to make the copies.

Commentary

A public agency also may impose reasonable requirements to protect public documents, such as requiring the presence of an employee when sensitive documents are inspected, provided the requirements are reasonable and are not intended to discourage inspection or as harassment.

E. PUBLIC NOTICE DESCRIBING PROCEDURES FOR REQUESTING INSPECTION

A records custodian is required to post a notice in a conspicuous location in the administrative office of the public body and on the public body's publicly accessible web site, if any. The notice must describe, at a minimum, the right to inspect public records, contact information for the records custodian, the procedures for requesting inspection and copies of the public body's records and applicable reasonable fees for copying records. The Act makes clear that the notice must be posted on a website only if the public body maintains a publicly accessible website. The Act does not address the posting requirement for public bodies that do not have an administrative office. If a public body does not have an administrative office, it might comply with the Act by making reasonable efforts to post the required notice in the place where the public body's records are maintained or in another appropriate location where persons who are interested in making a request to inspect the public body's records are likely to see the notice.

Example 44:

The Do Re Mi Mutual Domestic Water Users Association is a small organization with only 30 members. The Association has no office. Requests to inspect the Association's records generally are referred to the secretary of the Association's board of directors, who is also the records custodian. The secretary maintains the Association's records at his home. Under these circumstances, it would be appropriate to post the notice required by Section 14-2-7(E) of the Act in a conspicuous location at the secretary's home, such as on or near the front door.

Example 45:

The records custodian for a local school district posts a notice describing the right to inspect public records and applicable procedures for inspection in the district's administrative office. The notice is printed in small type on a 3" by 5" card and thumb-tacked to the wall behind the receptionist's desk. This notice is not sufficient for purposes of the Act. While the location of the notice might qualify as conspicuous, the size of the type used for the notice renders it inconsistent with the clear intent of the Act that the notice be prominent and readily observable by interested members of the public.

Commentary

A model notice describing the rights, duties and procedures pertaining to the inspection of public records as required by Section 14-2-7(E) is contained in Appendix III.

VII. Section 14-2-8. Procedure for Requesting Records

The Law

A. Any person wishing to inspect public records may submit an oral or written request to the custodian. However, the procedures set forth in this section shall be in response to a written request. The failure to respond to an oral request shall not subject the custodian to any penalty.

B. Nothing in the Inspection of Public Records Act shall be construed to require a public body to create a public record.

C. A written request shall provide the name, address and telephone number of the person seeking access to the records and shall identify the records sought with reasonable particularity. No person requesting records shall be required to state the reason for inspecting the records.

D. A custodian receiving a written request shall permit the inspection immediately or as soon as is practicable under the circumstances, but not later than fifteen days after receiving a written request. If the inspection is not permitted within three business days, the custodian shall explain in writing when the records will be available for inspection or when the public body will respond to the request. The three-day period shall not begin until the written request is delivered to the office of the custodian.

E. In the event that a written request is not made to the custodian having possession of or responsibility for the public records requested, the person receiving the request shall promptly forward the request to the custodian of the requested public records, if known, and notify the requester. The notification to the requester shall state the reason for the absence of the records from that person's custody or control, the records' location and the name and address of the custodian.

F. For the purposes of this section, "written request" includes an electronic communication, including email or facsimile; provided that the request complies with the requirements of Subsection C of this section.

A. ORAL OR WRITTEN REQUEST

To obtain full advantage of the inspection right provided by the Act, a request to inspect public records should be made in writing. The Act does not prohibit oral requests (and, in fact, expressly authorizes them), but if an oral request is made, the time constraints imposed on a public body for allowing inspection and the procedures discussed below for forwarding a request will not apply. In addition, a custodian who fails to respond to an oral request is not subject to any of the penalties imposed under the Act. Nevertheless, a records custodian cannot ignore an inspection request solely because it is oral. In all cases involving legitimate inspection requests, oral or otherwise, a records custodian should respond readily and provide the requested material in a timely manner, unless the materials are clearly protected.

Example 46:

A citizen of a municipality goes to the city personnel office and asks the records custodian for a copy of a specific city employee's salary history. The salary history is public information. The records custodian is able to immediately access the information and provides it to the requester within 15 minutes of oral the request, thus satisfying the requirements of the Act.

B. CREATION OF PUBLIC RECORDS

The right to inspect applies to any nonexempt public record that exists at the time of the request. A records custodian or public body is not required to compile information from the public body's records or otherwise create a new public record in response to a request.

Example 47:

A person asks a county personnel officer for a list of all employees with college degrees. The office does not keep lists of employees with college degrees, although college degree information may be included in an employee's personnel file. The records custodian is not required to go through each file to find and list employees with college degrees. It may, however, make the nonexempt portions of all personnel files available to the requester so she can peruse them in search of employees with college degrees.

C. CONTENT OF WRITTEN REQUESTS

A written request for public records must include the requester's name, address and telephone number, and must identify the records sought with reasonable particularity. (See Appendix II, Form I.) This will enable the custodian to keep track of who has had access to records for safekeeping purposes. By "reasonable particularity" the Act does not mean that a person must identify the exact record needed, but the description provided should be sufficient to enable the custodian to identify and find the requested record.

Example 48:

A person goes to the offices of the municipal air pollution control board and fills out a records request form. In the space provided for a description of the records requested he asks to see all complaints about noxious automobile emissions filed with the municipal air pollution control board. (The board has a policy of making complaints public and complainants are informed of the policy when they file a complaint.) The custodian refuses to allow inspection unless the requester identifies the particular vehicle or vehicles that are the subject of the complaint. The custodian's requirement is unreasonable because the requester has identified the records he wants to see with sufficient particularity to enable the custodian to locate and identify them.

Commentary

A person has the right under the Act to inspect public records for any or no reason, including idle curiosity or personal gain. The Act provides that a custodian may not require a requester to state why he or she wants to see a record. However, other statutes governing particular records may restrict their use in certain circumstances.

Example 49:

A pharmaceutical salesman wants to put together a mailing list of all the doctors in the state so he can send them samples of his various drugs. He may inspect records of public agencies to put together the list. He may not, however, demand that the agency compile such a list if one is not already available.

Example 50:

A business requests a copy of the Taxation and Revenue Department's unclaimed property database. Even if the records requested are otherwise public, the applicable state statute prohibits use of a state agency's computerized database for solicitation or advertisement when the database contains the name, address or telephone number of any person unless such use is otherwise specifically authorized by law. A person who uses or permits the unauthorized use of a database may be subject to criminal penalties. In its records request form, the Department may not require the business to state its reason for inspecting the database, but, to help protect itself from criminal liability, may require the business to sign a sworn statement asserting that the database will not be used for solicitation or advertisement.

Commentary

Sometimes questions come up regarding the relationship between the Act and requests for records in the context of discovery in civil litigation. For example, an inspection request under the Act may be made instead of or in addition to a discovery request. Generally, the two schemes for obtaining records are separate and independent; the availability of records under the Act does not affect a litigant's discovery rights or vice versa. Unless an applicable exception to the right to inspect public records applies, a public body may not deny an inspection request just because the requester is engaged in litigation against the public body or has asked for the same records in discovery. If a public body involved in litigation believes that another party is misusing either the procedures under the Act or the rules governing discovery to harass the public body, to interfere with its ability to participate in the litigation or for other improper purposes, the public body might petition the court for an appropriate order.

D. TIME FOR INSPECTION

When a records custodian receives a written request for a record, the record must be made available immediately, or as soon as practicable under the circumstances. If access will not be provided within three business days after the written request is delivered to the custodian, the custodian must explain in writing to the requester when the records will be available or when the agency will respond. (See Appendix II, Form II.) This written explanation should be mailed or delivered to the requester on or before the third business day after receipt of the request.

Inspection must be allowed no later than 15 calendar days after the custodian receives the request, unless, as discussed later in Chapter IX, the request has been determined to be excessively burdensome or broad. (See Appendix I for a chart illustrating the deadlines imposed under the Act.) For purposes of the deadlines imposed by the Act, the day the written request is received is not counted. The following examples comply with the Act:

Example 51:

On Monday, the custodian of records for a conservancy district receives a letter requesting copies of the district's vouchers evidencing the district's expenditures for the previous month. The records custodian determines the vouchers are not exempt from disclosure. However, some of the requested vouchers are still in the possession of the official responsible for issuing them, and the custodian cannot obtain the vouchers from that official for seven days. On Thursday, the custodian sends a letter to the requester informing her that she can come to the office and make copies of the available vouchers immediately and that the remaining vouchers will be available the following Wednesday.

Example 52:

The office of the records custodian for a school district is open Monday through Friday. On Friday, a news reporter appears at the custodian's office and makes a written request for copies of résumés of the final candidates for the position of school superintendent. The following Wednesday (three business days after the request was received), the custodian delivers a notice to the reporter stating that she can make the résumés available, but that she will need some time to obtain them from the search committee. The notice tells the reporter that the records will be available on Monday (ten calendar days after the request was received).

Example 53:

A written request is made in person to the records custodian for the Property Control Division for records showing the physical alterations made to ensure that all state office buildings are in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. The records are being used and not available that day. The custodian fills out a form stating when the records will be available during the next 15 calendar days and gives a copy to the requester.

E. REDIRECTING INSPECTION REQUESTS

Sometimes, a person may send a request for records to the wrong entity. Should this occur, the Act places an affirmative responsibility on the person who receives such a request in writing to forward the request to the proper custodian, if known, and to notify the requester. (See Appendix II, Form III.) The notification to the requester must state the reason for the absence of the records from that person's custody, the location of the records and the name and address of the proper custodian. If, after reasonable inquiry, the initial recipient of the request is unable to determine where the records might be located or who the proper custodian is, it would be permissible for the recipient to inform the requester that he or she does not have custody and to explain the efforts made to find their location and the result of those efforts.

Example 54:

The State Records Center receives a written request for Department of Public Safety records and records of an entity the requester refers to as the “state circus bureau.” The Records Center complies with the Act by forwarding the request to the records custodian of the DPS, and sending a letter to the requester telling him that the Center is not the proper records custodian for purposes of requests for DPS records and that his request has been forwarded to the DPS’s records custodian. The letter also states that a state circus bureau does not exist and that the Records Center has not been able to identify any other agency that might have custody of the records described in the request.

Commentary

The time periods discussed above for responding to an inspection request begin to run when the proper custodian receives the request, not when the request is received by any custodian or public body. Thus, if agency A receives a request that should have gone to agency B, the three-day and 15-day time periods for responding to the request do not apply until the request actually reaches the records custodian for agency B.

F. WRITTEN REQUEST INCLUDES EMAIL AND FACSIMILE

Under the Act, a written request to inspect public records may be submitted via email or facsimile to a records custodian. As written requests, email and facsimile requests to inspect public records must comply with Section 14-2-8(C) of the Act, which, as previously discussed, specifies the information that must be included in a written inspection request. The email address and facsimile number to be used for receiving electronic requests needs to be included in the public notice required by Section 14-2-7(D) of the Act.

As a written request, an email or a facsimile request to inspect public records is covered by the same requirements and deadlines that apply to any other written request. Consequently, public bodies must ensure that electronic communications are directed to and received by their records custodian for prompt and proper processing. Furthermore, appropriate measures need to be taken for handling electronic requests in the records custodian’s absence. For example, a public body might set up a separate email address to which inspection requests may be sent or directed and which is accessible to the records custodian and other employees responsible for handling inspection requests.

VIII. Section 14-2-9. Procedure for Inspection

The Law

A. Requested public records containing information that is exempt and nonexempt from disclosure shall be separated by the custodian prior to inspection, and the nonexempt information shall be made available for inspection. If necessary to preserve the integrity of computer data or the confidentiality of exempt information contained in a database, a partial printout of data containing public records or information may be furnished in lieu of an entire database. Exempt information in an electronic document shall be removed along with the corresponding metadata prior to disclosure by utilizing methods or redaction tools that prevent the recovery of exempt information from a redacted electronic document.

B. A custodian shall provide a copy of a public record in electronic format if the public record is available in electronic format and an electronic copy is specifically requested. However, a custodian is only required to provide the electronic record in the file format in which it exists at the time of the request.

C. A custodian:

(1) may charge reasonable fees for copying the public records, unless a different fee is otherwise prescribed by law;

(2) shall not charge fees in excess of one dollar ($1.00) per printed page for documents eleven inches by seventeen inches in size or smaller;

(3) may charge the actual costs associated with downloading copies of public records to a computer disk or storage device, including the actual cost of the computer disk or storage device;

(4) may charge the actual costs associated with transmitting copies of public records by mail, electronic mail or facsimile;

(5) may require advance payment of the fees before making copies of public records;

(6) shall not charge a fee for the cost of determining whether any public record is subject to disclosure; and

(7) shall provide a receipt upon request.

D. Nothing in this section regarding the provision of public data in electronic format shall limit the ability of the custodian to engage in the sale of data as authorized by Section 14-3-15.1 NMSA 1978, including imposing reasonable restrictions on the use of the database and the payment of a royalty or other consideration.

A. RECORDS CONTAINING EXEMPT AND NONEXEMPT INFORMATION

In some instances, a record kept by a public body will contain information that is exempt from the right to inspect as well as information that must be disclosed. The Act requires the applicable records custodian to separate out the exempt information in a file or document before making the record available for inspection. The fact that a file may contain some information that may not be disclosed does not protect all the information from public disclosure.

Example 55:

A state licensing board receives many requests from disgruntled citizens to inspect the files of its licensees. Mindful of the problem of confidentiality, the board may keep two files for each licensee: one containing test scores, the personal, educational and financial information required by the application for licensure and the other containing letters of reference exempted from disclosure under Section 14-2-1(A)(2).

Commentary

As discussed above, where protected and public information are contained in the same document, the records custodian may redact or block out the protected information before providing the document to the public or including it in the file available for inspection.

If the record requested is a database maintained by a public agency, the Act provides that a partial printout of data containing public records or information may be furnished rather than the entire database, if necessary to preserve the integrity of the database or confidentiality of exempt information contained in the database.

For requests to inspect records in electronic format, the Act requires the custodian to remove exempt information and corresponding metadata from the records prior to disclosure. The Act requires the custodian to use methods or redaction tools that prevent the recovery of exempt information from a redacted electronic record.

B. ELECTRONIC COPIES

A custodian must comply with a specific request for a copy of a public record in electronic format if the record exists in electronic format. However, the requester is not entitled to specify the file format of the electronic copy. The Act requires only that the custodian provide the electronic record in the file format in which the record exists at the time of the request.

Example 56:

A person files an inspection request seeking public records reflecting the salaries of the public body's employees. The requester asks to inspect an electronic copy of the records in Microsoft Word format. The public body uses Word Perfect and does not have the requested records in Word format. The public body is only required to provide the requester with the electronic copy in Word Perfect.

C. COPY FEES

A records custodian may charge reasonable fees for copying public records.

Printed copies. A custodian may not charge more than one dollar per printed page for documents that are 11 inches by 17 inches or smaller. If a document is larger than 11 inches by 17 inches, custodian may charge more than one dollar if it reasonably reflects the increased cost to the public body of copying oversized printed documents.

Downloaded copies. A custodian may charge the actual costs of downloading copies of public records to a computer disk or other storage device, including the actual cost of the storage device.

Transmitting copies. A custodian may charge the actual costs of transmitting copies of public records by mail, e-mail, or facsimile.

Unless otherwise allowed by law, any fee charged by a public body may reflect only the actual cost of copying. This may include the actual costs to the public body for making and transmitting copies, including any personnel time involved. The Act does not allow a custodian to charge for the cost of determining whether a particular public records is or is not subject to disclosure.

Example 57:

A state agency makes copies of public records for requesters on its copy machine. The actual cost to the agency for this service is approximately 50 cents per page. This includes the cost of paper and employee time involved in the copying process. Under these circumstances, the amount charged per page for copies is reasonable.

Example 58:

Most requests to inspect the public records of XYZ Mutual Domestic Water Users Association ask that copies of the requested records be mailed to the requester. Because of the increased mailing costs, the Association decides to amend its procedures for inspection of public records by adding a fee for mailing copies of printed public records. The amount of the fee is limited to the cost of postage. This fee reflects the actual costs associated with transmitting copies of public records by mail and is permitted by the Act.

Commentary

A records custodian may require a person to pay before the custodian makes copies. This does not permit the custodian to require payment in advance of allowing inspection. Rather, the custodian should provide the records for inspection, and, if the requester subsequently requests copies of particular records, the custodian may require payment in advance for the pages designated for copying. The Act requires that if the requester requests a receipt for the amount paid for copies, the custodian must provide one.

D. SALE OF DATA

Although the Act requires a public body to provide copies of public records in electronic format when requested, the Act makes clear that it does not limit a custodian's authority to sell data under NMSA 1978, Section 14-3-15.1. That provision requires state agencies to make printed or hard copies of its computer databases available for inspection under the Act. However, if a person requests an electronic copy of a state agency database, Section 14-3-15.1 permits the agency to limit the use of the database and to require payment of a royalty or other consideration.

Example 59:

A private business provides information about state property taxes to paying subscribers across the United States. The business makes a request for electronic copies of the state tax department's entire property tax database, excluding exempt information, and requests that updates to the database be provided on a monthly basis. The tax department agrees to provide electronic copies of the database, including monthly updates, if the business pays a royalty and meets the other requirements of Section 14-3-15.1. If the business refuses to pay the royalty, the department is under no obligation to provide the business with an electronic copy of the database.

In this case, the private business was not interested in obtaining a hard copy of the database. Had the business requested a printed copy of the database rather than an electronic copy, the department would have been required to comply with the request and provide the printed copy in accordance with the Inspection of Public Records Act.

Commentary

Like state agencies, counties and municipalities have statutory authority outside the Act to charge fees for electronic copies of their computer databases. Under NMSA 1978, Section 14-3-18, a county or municipality may charge a reasonable fee for an electronic copy of a computer database based on the cost of materials, making an electronic copy and personnel time to research and retrieve the electronic record.

IX. Section 14-2-10. Procedure for Excessively Burdensome or Broad Requests

The Law

If a custodian determines that a written request is excessively burdensome or broad, an additional reasonable period of time shall be allowed to comply with the request. The custodian shall provide written notification to the requester within fifteen days of receipt of the request that additional time will be needed to respond to the written request. The requester may deem the request denied and may pursue the remedies available pursuant to the Inspection of Public Records Act if the custodian does not permit the records to be inspected in a reasonable period of time.

If a request for public records is excessively burdensome or broad, the Act grants a public entity additional time beyond the 15-day period specified in Section 14-2-8 to comply with the request. The Act does not define “excessively burdensome, or broad,” but leaves it to the determination of the custodian. Whether a request meets the statutory criteria will depend on the particular circumstances of the request. In some cases, the request may be excessively burdensome because of the type of record requested, and in other cases because of the number of records requested or their location.

If a records custodian determines that a particular request is excessively burdensome or broad, he or she must notify the requester in writing within 15 days of the request that additional time will be needed to respond. (See Appendix II, Form IV.) If the records are not made available within a reasonable time, the Act gives the requester the right to deem the request denied and pursue the remedies provided by the Act. (See Chapter XI).

Example 60:

A request is made to the records custodian of the State Personnel Office to inspect all personnel records of employees employed by the state in 1960. When he gets the request, the custodian determines that the state had 10,000 employees in 1960, and that employee records for years before 1980 are kept on microfilm stored in unmarked boxes in the basement of the State Records Center. As permitted by the Act, and within 15 days of receiving the request, the custodian writes to the requester and explains that the State Personnel Office will need one week beyond the 15-day period to comply with the request.

Commentary

Again, what will constitute a “reasonable time” for inspection will vary according to the request. The custodian should specify in the notification to the requester how much additional time will be necessary to comply. This will give the requester an idea of what the public body considers reasonable for compliance.

X. Section 14-2-11. Procedure for Denied Requests

The Law

A. Unless a written request has been determined to be excessively burdensome or broad, a written request for inspection of public records that has not been permitted within fifteen days of receipt by the office of the custodian may be deemed denied. The person requesting the public records may pursue the remedies provided in the Inspection of Public Records Act.

B. If a written request has been denied, the custodian shall provide the requester with a written explanation of the denial. The written denial shall:

- (1) describe the records sought;
- (2) set forth the names and titles or positions of each person responsible for the denial; and
- (3) be delivered or mailed to the person requesting the records within fifteen days after the request for inspection was received.

C. A custodian who does not deliver or mail a written explanation of denial within fifteen days after receipt of a written request for inspection is subject to an action to enforce the provisions of the Inspection of Public Records Act and the requester may be awarded damages. Damages shall:

- (1) be awarded if the failure to provide a timely explanation of denial is determined to be unreasonable;
- (2) not exceed one hundred dollars ($100) per day;

(3) accrue from the day the public body is in noncompliance until a written denial is issued; and

(4) be payable from the funds of the public body.

A. REQUESTS DEEMED DENIED

A request for inspection may be expressly denied, as discussed below, or may be deemed denied in certain circumstances. Except for excessively burdensome or broad requests, if a written request to inspect records has not been granted within 15 calendar days after the custodian receives the request, the requester may deem the request denied. As discussed in Chapter IX, an excessively burdensome or broad request may be deemed denied if not granted within a reasonable time after the end of the 15 day period. (See Appendix I for chart illustrating the deadlines imposed by the Act.)

Example 61:

Mr. Edd submits a written request to the state board regulating cattle brands for information about a particular brand. The board does not give Mr. Edd any written response concerning when the records will be available, when the agency will be able to respond to the request, whether the agency has denied the request or whether the agency has determined that the request is excessively burdensome or broad. After waiting 20 days, Mr. Edd files an action in district court requesting that the board be ordered to provide the requested records. Such a lawsuit is proper under the Act's procedures.

B. PROCEDURE FOR DENYING REQUESTS

For requests to inspect that are denied, the custodian must mail or deliver a notice to the requester within 15 days of receiving the request. (See Appendix II, Form V.) The denial notice must be in writing, describe the records sought to be inspected, set forth the names and titles or positions of each person responsible for the denial, and explain the reason for the denial. The reason provided in the denial notice must be authorized by law or countervailing public policy, as discussed in Chapter III, Section B.6.

Example 62:

A reporter submits a written request to a city police department to inspect the records kept by the officer investigating a recent murder. Three days after receiving the request, the records custodian for the department mails the reporter a notice stating that the records are available for inspection immediately, with the following exceptions: records revealing confidential sources, methods, information or individuals accused but not charged with a crime. The notice also sets forth the names and positions of the custodian and the police officer as the persons responsible for the denial and cites Section 14-2-1(A)(4) of the Act, which protects law enforcement records, as the reason for the denial. This notice complies with the Act.

C. DAMAGES FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE A WRITTEN DENIAL

If a custodian does not deliver or mail a written explanation of denial within 15 days of receiving a request to inspect, an action to enforce the Act may be brought and damages awarded to the requester. Damages are not recoverable if the failure to provide a timely explanation of denial is shown to be reasonable. If unreasonable, a custodian's failure to provide the required explanation may result in damages of up to $100 per day until the written explanation is provided. The Act does not make the custodian personally responsible for payment of any damages awarded, but provides for payment from the funds of the public body.

Example 63:

The records custodian for an agency goes on vacation for three weeks. On the first day of her vacation, the office receives a request to inspect certain records that the agency maintains. The request is placed in the absent custodian's "in box." On the day she returns from vacation (21 days after the inspection request was received), the custodian finds the request, determines the request should be denied and immediately mails a written explanation to the requester. The requester files an action in district court because the explanation was not mailed in a timely fashion. If the court determines that the reason for the delay was not reasonable, it could award damages of up to $600 ($100 per day for day 16 through day 21).

XI. Section 14-2-12. Enforcement

The Law

A. An action to enforce the Inspection of Public Records Act may be brought by:

- (1) the attorney general or the district attorney in the county of jurisdiction; or
- (2) a person whose written request has been denied.

B. A district court may issue a writ of mandamus or order an injunction or other appropriate remedy to enforce the provisions of the Inspection of Public Records Act.

C. The exhaustion of administrative remedies shall not be required prior to bringing any action to enforce the procedures of the Inspection of Public Records Act.

D. The court shall award damages, costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to any person whose written request has been denied and is successful in a court action to enforce the Inspection of Public Records Act.

A. PERSONS AUTHORIZED TO ENFORCE THE ACT

The Act provides that an action to enforce its provisions may be brought by the Attorney General, district attorneys or a person whose written request for inspection has been denied. The last category of “private attorneys general” is particularly important. Because the Attorney General and district attorneys cannot be everywhere, and resources are limited, private citizens denied inspection often will be able to obtain more effective and efficient enforcement of the Act.

Although the Act does not specify any deadline for bringing a private action to enforce its provisions, general statutes of limitation will apply. Unless covered by a more specific statutory limitation, an action against a municipality generally would be barred unless brought within three years of the act or omission creating the cause of action and, for other public bodies, an action to enforce the Act probably would be barred after four years. See NMSA 1978, §§ 37-1-4, and 37-1-24.

Since enforcement requires interpretation of the Act, the Attorney General has issued this Compliance Guide so that public bodies that adhere to the interpretations presented in the Guide may conduct their operations properly in compliance with the Act. In addition, the Attorney General’s Office provides educational seminars throughout the state to members of the public, and state and local governments, on the Act. To find out when the next Open Meetings Act seminar will be held in your area, please check the calendar on the Attorney General’s Office’s website. This Guide does not attempt to anticipate all problems or questions that may arise in the course of government business. Public bodies should direct compliance questions to their attorney. Upon request, the Attorney General’s Office will answer questions from members of the public (and public agency attorneys) concerning application of the Act. It is hoped, however, that this Compliance Guide will serve to resolve recurring questions concerning the applicability of the law.

B. DISTRICT COURT JURISDICTION

The Act confers jurisdiction on the state district courts to hear complaints arising under the Act and to issue the appropriate remedy. Should a district court determine that a public body has illegally denied access to requested records, it may order the public body to allow inspection.

C. EXHAUSTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES

A person whose request is denied or who does not receive a timely notice of denial is authorized to bring an action to enforce the Act directly. He or she does not have to first comply with any intermediate administrative hearings or other procedures created by the public body to handle denied requests.

Example 64:

A public school board passes an ordinance providing that if the records custodian denies the right to inspect a particular record, the person denied access may request a hearing before the school board. A person residing within the school district requests a copy of attendance records for one of the elementary schools in the district. The custodian denies the request in a timely fashion, and advises the requester that she has the right to appeal the denial before the school board. The requester may decide to pursue the matter before the school board or may proceed to challenge the denial in district court.

D. DAMAGES

If a private individual whose written request has been denied (or is deemed denied) brings an enforcement action and that person prevails, the court is authorized to award damages, costs and attorneys fees to that person. By contrast, if the Attorney General or a district attorney brings the enforcement action, the Act does not provide for any damages, costs or attorneys fees.

The Act does not specify the type of damages a court may award to a private person who successfully brings an enforcement action. Presumably, however, if the action involves a records custodian who failed to provide a timely written denial, damages might include the penalties discussed above in Chapter X. Damages also could potentially include amounts necessary to compensate the requester for any losses related to the improper denial. However, in the absence of judicial interpretation of the Act's damages provisions, we do not have a precise picture of what damages are allowed under the Act at this time.

As interpreted by New Mexico courts, the legal remedies provided in the Act are to be used, if necessary, to force a public body to comply timely and promptly with requests to inspect public records. Accordingly, a private individual is not entitled to statutory damages in a lawsuit brought after a public body complies with the Act. See Derringer v. State, 133 N.M. 721, 68 P.3d 961 (Ct. App.), cert. denied, 133 N.M. 727, 69 P.3d 237 (2003).

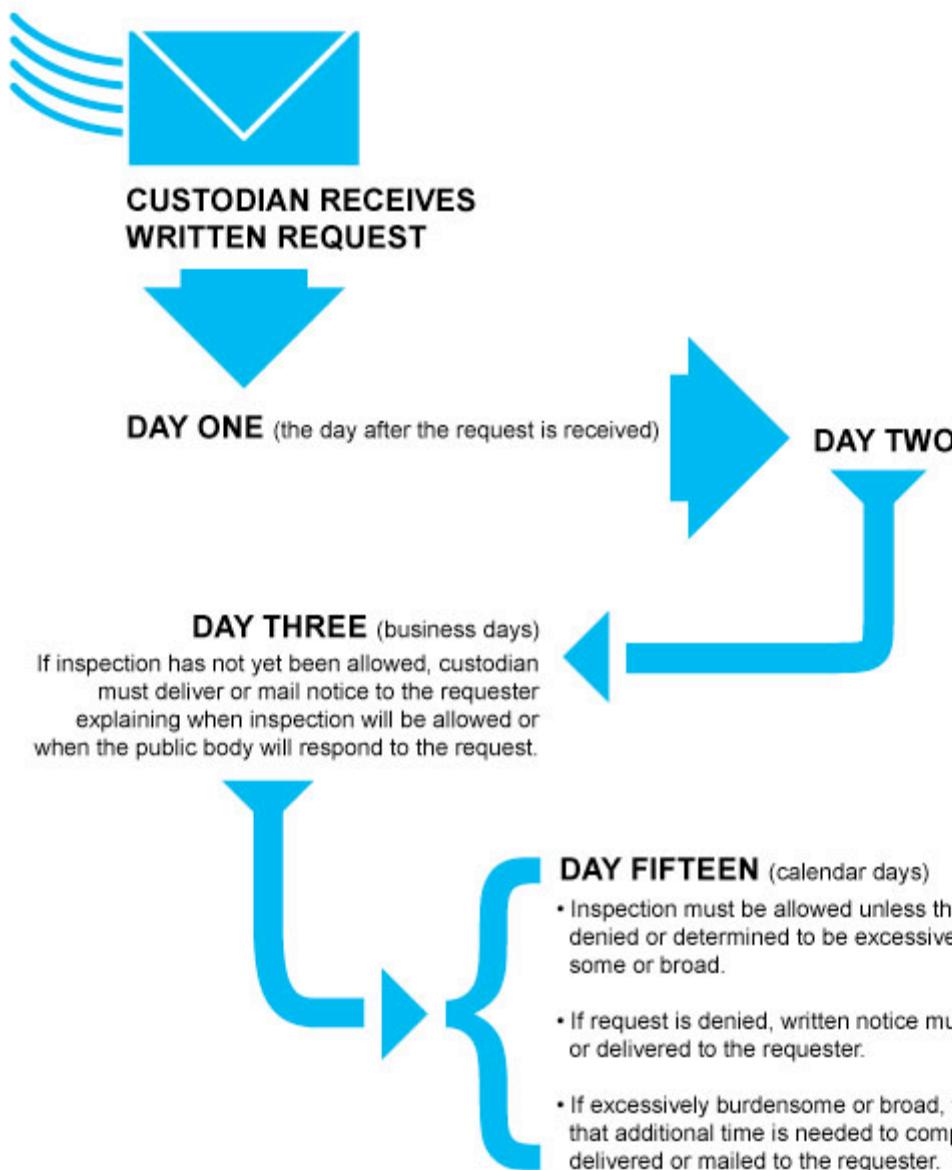

Example 65:

On the same day, Mr. Deeds and Ms. Brooks file separate requests to inspect public records with the records custodian for a school district. Both requests are overlooked or ignored by the district. After a month passes with no response from the district, Ms. Brooks files a lawsuit in district court to enforce the Act. Two weeks after the lawsuit is filed, the school district notifies both Ms. Brooks and Mr. Deeds that the records they requested are available for inspection.

One month after the school district makes the records available for inspection, the district court finds that the district did not comply with the Act and awards Ms. Brooks attorney fees, costs and damages in the amount of $50.00 per day from the date the school district was required to allow inspection until the date it made them available. Mr. Deeds, unlike Ms. Brooks, did not file a lawsuit to enforce the Act before the school district made the records he requested available for inspection. Because the school district has now complied with the Act, although belatedly, Mr. Deeds may not now recover statutory damages in a lawsuit against the school district under the Act.

73-20-33. Soil and water conservation districts; creation. (2003)

A. Twenty-five landowners whose land lies within the exterior limits of a geographical area proposed to be organized into a district may petition the commission for the organization of a district. The petition shall state:

- (1) the proposed district name;
- (2) the need for the proposed district and the manner in which it would be in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare;
- (3) by accurate description, supplemented and depicted by an accurate map, the geographical area proposed to be organized into a district; and
- (4) a request that:
 - (a) the commission define the boundaries of the proposed district;
 - (b) a referendum be held within the boundaries submitting to the voters' determination the question of creating the district; and
 - (c) if a majority of votes cast are in favor of creating the district, the commission subsequently declare the proposed district be created.

B. If any portion of the same geographical area is described in more than one petition, the commission may consolidate petitions in the manner it deems expedient.

C. In the event of a challenge to the validity of signatures on a petition, the burden of proof shall be on the sponsors of the petition.

D. Within thirty days next succeeding the filing of a petition, the commission shall cause due notice to be given to all affected persons of a hearing scheduled to determine the necessity and desirability of the proposed district and to determine district boundaries, the propriety of the petition and any other relevant questions. All affected or interested persons may attend a commission hearing and shall have the right to be heard. If, upon hearing, it is determined to be desirable to include in a proposed district lands not contemplated by the petition, the hearing shall adjourn, an amended petition shall be required and due notice shall be given to all affected persons.

E. The commission shall determine, at the conclusion of a hearing, whether a proposed district is necessary and desirable. In making its determination of the necessity of a proposed district and in defining district boundaries, the commission shall consider:

- (1) the need for the proposed district and its probable effect upon the public health, safety and welfare;
- (2) the topography and composition of soils comprising the area of the proposed district;
- (3) the distribution of erosion within the proposed district and within surrounding lands;
- (4) the prevailing land-use practices; and
- (5) the probable effect of the proposed district upon, and its relation to, watersheds, agriculturally productive lands and other extant or proposed districts.

F. The findings of the commission and its final determination shall not be limited solely to an evaluation of the facts adduced at the hearing or those set forth in a petition, but shall be predicated upon all reliable information available to the commission, including reports, studies and other authoritative publications.

G. If the commission finds that a proposed district is necessary and desirable, it shall approve the petition, enter and record its final determination and define the district by legal description. If the commission finds no need for a proposed district, it shall deny the petition and enter and record its final determination. A geographical area or a substantial portion of it may not be the subject of a petition submitted for consideration by the commission more than one time in any calendar year.

History: 1953 Comp., §§ 45-5-48, enacted by Laws 1965, ch. 137, §§ 7; 1977, ch. 254, §§ 63; 2003, ch. 88, §§ 6.

73-20-34. Soil and water conservation districts; creation; referendum. (2005)

A. When a final determination of the commission that a proposed district is necessary and desirable has been entered and recorded, the commission shall then determine whether the operation of the district is administratively practicable. To assist in this determination, the commission shall call for a referendum on the proposed district within the geographical boundaries of the district as defined by the commission, to be conducted on the next succeeding first Tuesday in May, if practicable. All registered voters residing within the proposed district shall be eligible to vote.

B. The commission shall:

- (1) provide for due notice of a referendum within a proposed district;
- (2) confirm eligibility of registered voters; and
- (3) adopt and publish rules to govern the orderly conduct of a referendum.

C. A referendum may not be held during an interval when valid rules adopted and published by the commission are not in effect.

D. The proposal shall be presented to the voters on ballots that define, in general terms and by legal description, the area encompassed within the proposed district.

E. Informalities or irregularities in the conduct of a referendum shall have no effect upon its result if due notice requirements have been substantially complied with and balloting has been fairly conducted in substantial compliance with the rules adopted and published by the commission.

F. The commission shall publish referendum results and make a final determination of whether the proposed district is administratively practicable; provided, however, in the event that approval of the proposed district is not carried by a majority of votes cast in a referendum, the commission shall deny the petition and shall enter and record its order.

A. Upon the determination that a proposed district is necessary and administratively practicable, the commission shall appoint two interim supervisors who reside within the district who shall be the governing body of the district until an election of supervisors is held. The two interim supervisors shall present to the secretary of state their verified application, stating:

- (1) a recital of the proceedings conducted;
- (2) that all proceedings were undertaken lawfully and in accordance with the provisions of the Soil and Water Conservation District Act [73-20-25 to 73-20-48 NMSA 1978];
- (3) the name of the proposed district and its geographical boundaries;

- (4) the name and official residence of each applicant together with a certified copy of each appointment evidencing the applicant's right to office; and
- (5) the designation of the principal office of the supervisors of the district.
- B. The verified application of the two district interim supervisors shall be accompanied by certified copies of the commission's recorded orders of determination that the proposed district is necessary and is administratively practicable.
- C. The secretary of state, upon finding the application and its supporting attachments are in substantial compliance with the provisions of this section, shall receive, file and record the application in an appropriate book of record and issue to the applicants, under state seal, a certificate of organization of the district. From the date of issuance of the certificate of organization by the secretary of state, the district shall be a governmental subdivision of the state. In any action or proceeding relating to a district or an act of the district, the certificate of organization of the district shall be admissible in evidence as proof of its contents.
- D. If the secretary of state finds the name of a proposed district to be the same as or substantially similar to the name of an existing organized district, he shall certify the fact to the commission. The commission shall, with the assistance of the interim supervisors, select and submit a new name to the secretary of state.
- History: 1953 Comp., §§ 45-5-50, enacted by Laws 1965, ch. 137, §§ 9; 1977, ch. 254, §§ 65; 2003, ch. 88, §§ 8.

- A. Unless otherwise provided by this section, petitions to modify the boundaries of an existing district shall be subject to the same requirements for notice, hearing, determination of necessity and desirability, referendum and determination of administrative practicability as are required for petitions for the organization of a district pursuant to the Soil and Water Conservation District Act [73-20-25 to 73-20-48 NMSA 1978].
- B. Petitions for including additional land within an existing organized district, signed by twenty-five registered voters residing in the district or within the boundaries of the additional land proposed to be included or signed by two thirds of the owners of the additional land proposed to be included, whichever is less, may be filed with the commission. If the petition is signed by two thirds or more of the owners of the additional land proposed to be included in the district, the commission may enter its determinations without hearing or referendum. The commission shall advise the department of all petitions filed pursuant to this section.
- C. Petitions for severing land from the defined geographical area of an existing organized district, or for its severance and inclusion within another existing organized district, signed by twenty-five registered voters residing in the district or within the boundaries of the land proposed to be severed or signed by two thirds of the owners of the land proposed to be severed, whichever is greater, may be filed with the commission. If the petition is signed by two thirds or more of the owners of the land to be severed or is submitted by the board of supervisors of each district affected, the commission may enter its determinations without hearing or referendum.
- D. Petitions for consolidating two or more districts or for separating an existing district into two or more districts may be filed with the commission by the board of supervisors of each district affected. After due notice, a public hearing shall be held in each district affected. If petitions have been filed pursuant to this subsection and approved as provided in the Soil and Water Conservation District Act [73-20-25 to 73-20-48 NMSA 1978], it shall not be necessary to obtain the consent of the registered voters within the districts prior to the consolidation or division.
- E. The commission shall give written notice to the secretary of state of any modification in the defined geographical area of an existing district; the notice of modification shall describe and portray by map the modified geographical area. The secretary of state shall note, file and record each modification and shall issue, under state seal, a certificate of reorganization to each district affected. Certificates of reorganization shall have the same effect as the certificates they supersede.

F. The commission shall supervise reorganization of the affairs of the district when boundaries are modified.

Four elected supervisor positions of each district shall be filled by landowners within the defined geographical area of their district. One elected supervisor position shall be designated supervisor-at-large and the supervisor filling that position may serve the district without landowner qualification.

The commission shall give due notice of election for the offices of five district supervisors. All registered voters residing within the district shall be eligible to vote. The commission shall adopt and prescribe regulations governing the conduct of the election, shall determine voter eligibility and shall supervise the election and publish its results. The districts shall bear the expenses of elections; however, the commission shall bear the expenses of the first election of a newly organized district.

C. In the first election of supervisors to serve a newly organized district, two supervisors shall be elected for terms of four years and three supervisors shall be elected for terms of two years. Thereafter, each elected supervisor shall serve a term of four years and shall continue in office until his successor has been elected or appointed and has completed an oath of office. Oaths of office may not be completed prior to July 1 after an election. Appointed supervisors shall serve at the pleasure of the commission and shall have the same powers and perform the same duties as elected supervisors. A. In the event a district is unable to meet or bear the expense of the duties imposed upon it by the Soil and Water Conservation District Act [73-20-25 to 73-20-48 NMSA 1978], the supervisors may adopt a resolution that, to be effective, shall be approved by referendum in the district and that shall provide for an annual levy for a stated period of up to ten years in a stated amount not exceeding one dollar ($1.00), or any lower maximum amount required by operation of the rate limitation provisions of Section 7-37-7.1 NMSA 1978 upon the assessment authorized by this section, on each one thousand dollars ($1,000) of net taxable value, as that term is defined in the Property Tax Code [Chapter 7, Articles 35 to 38 NMSA 1978], of real property within the district, except that real property within incorporated cities and towns in the district may be excluded. The referendum held to approve or reject the resolution of the supervisors shall be conducted with appropriate ballot and in substantially the same manner as a referendum adopting and approving the creation of a proposed district. After the initial authorization is approved by referendum, the supervisors shall adopt a resolution in each following year authorizing the levy. To extend an assessment beyond the period of time originally authorized and approved by referendum, the supervisors shall adopt a new resolution and the district voters shall approve it in a referendum. The extension shall be for the same period of time as originally approved, but the rate of the tax may be different as long as it does not exceed one dollar ($1.00) on each one thousand dollars ($1,000) of net taxable value of real property within the district, except that real property within incorporated municipalities in the district may be excluded. If the district is indebted to the United States or the state or any of their respective agencies or instrumentalities, including the New Mexico finance authority, at the time of the expiration of the original authorization, the supervisors may renew the assessment by resolution for a period not to exceed the maturity date of the indebtedness, and no referendum for that renewal is necessary.

C. In the event a resolution of the supervisors is adopted and approved in accordance with the provisions of Subsection A of this section, the supervisors of the district shall certify by the fifteenth of July of each year to the county assessor of each county in which there is situate land subject to the district assessment:

- (1) a copy of the resolution of the supervisors;
- (2) the results of any referendum held in the year the certification is made; and
- (3) a list of landowners of the district and a description of the land owned by each that is subject to assessment.

D. A county assessor shall indicate the information on the tax schedules, compute the assessment and present the district assessment by regular tax bill.

E. The district assessment shall be collected by the county treasurer of each county in which taxable district land is situate in the same manner and at the same time that county ad valorem taxes are levied. The supervisors shall prepare an annual budget and submit it for approval to the commission and to the local government division of the department of finance and administration. All district funds shall be expended in accordance with the approved budgets.

G. In the event the supervisors of a district determine that there are or will be sufficient funds available for the operation of the district for any year for which an assessment is to be levied, they shall, by resolution, direct the assessor of each county in which taxable district land is situate, by July 15 of each year, to decrease the district assessment or to delete the district assessment reflected on the tax schedules.

H. Any levy authorized by the Soil and Water Conservation District Act [73-20-25 to 73-20-48 NMSA 1978] and any loan or other indebtedness authorized by that act that will require a levy shall be based exclusively on or levied exclusively on the real property in the district, except that real property within incorporated cities and towns may be excluded.

Watersheds in New Mexico

A watershed is a land area from which precipitation runs off or infiltrates to a stream, river, lake, or underground aquifer. Any land area, whether forested wilderness or an urban parking lot, is part of a watershed. Just as small streams flow into larger rivers, many small watersheds make up a large watershed, such as a river basin. The quantity and quality of water will be affected by the characteristics of the watershed, including geology, soils, plants, animals, land use practices, and pollutants present in the watershed.

New Mexico contains portions of five regions: Arkansas-White-Red, Texas Gulf, Upper Colorado, Lower Colorado, and the Rio Grande. Within New Mexico the Rio Grande region is divided into two subregions, the Pecos and the Rio Grande (see figure 2).

The United States Geological Survey has designated twenty-one major regions (river basins) for the nation (see Figure 1). Regions are further divided into subregions, accounting units, and cataloging units. Each level of classification adds two digits to the number used to identify a drainage area. Cataloging units, therefore, are identified with an eight-digit number, and are often referred to as “8-digit watersheds.”

There are eighty-three 8-digit watersheds in New Mexico. Each represents part of a surface drainage basin, a combination of drainage basins, or a distinct hydrologic feature. Federal and state agencies often use 8-digit watershed boundaries in programs that address water quality and non-point source pollution. The attached map shows the watersheds (outlined and labeled in red) in relation to political boundaries and watercourses.

Soil and water conservation districts (SWCDs) conduct programs and projects that affect watersheds and watershed health. This information on watersheds is useful to identify which SWCD(s) would be potential partners on a watershed project, and which local or county government(s) might need to be involved in activities on a particular watershed. It may also be useful in assessing the impact of federal or state government rules and regulations that are implemented by watershed. The attached pages will allow you to locate a watershed by its name or 8-digit number, and also identify SWCDs that contain, or are contained within, each watershed.

73-20-4. Watershed districts; formation. (1977)

Watershed districts may be formed as subdistricts of soil and water conservation districts in a watershed area, as provided in the Watershed District Act [73-20-1 NMSA 1978], for the purpose of developing and executing plans and programs relating to any phase of conservation of water, or of water usage, including water-based recreation, flood prevention, flood control, erosion prevention and control of erosion, and floodwater and sediment damages.

When fifty or more landowners within a proposed watershed district, or twenty percent of the landowners within the proposed district, whichever is less, desire to form a watershed district, they shall file a petition with the board of supervisors. The petition shall define the boundaries of the proposed district, the number of acres of land involved, reasons for requesting creation of the district, the proposed name for the watershed district and other information pertinent to the proposal. In the event of a challenge to the validity of signatures on a petition, the burden of proof shall be on the sponsors of the petition.

If the proposed watershed district lies in more than one soil and water conservation district, the petition may be presented to the board of supervisors of any one of such districts and the supervisors of all such districts shall act as a joint board of supervisors in the formation and supervision of such a watershed district.

73-20-8. Hearing; notice. (1975)

A. Within thirty days after the petition has been filed with the board of supervisors, it shall cause due notice to be given by publication for three consecutive weeks, once a week on the same day of each week, immediately prior to the action in a newspaper of general circulation in the area, and, if no newspaper of general circulation exists, shall post in not less than eight public places within the area, notice of a hearing upon the practicability and feasibility of creating the district. In addition to the publication provided for in this subsection, absentee landowners shall be notified by first class mail if their whereabouts can be ascertained by reasonably diligent search. All interested parties shall have the right to attend such hearing and be heard. If it shall appear at the hearing that other lands should be included or that lands included in the petition should be excluded, the board of supervisors may permit such inclusion or exclusion.

B. If it appears upon the hearing that it may be desirable to include within the proposed district, territory outside of the area within which due notice of the hearing has been given, the hearing shall be adjourned and due notice of a further hearing shall be given throughout the entire area considered for inclusion in the district and a further hearing shall be held. After final hearing, if the board of supervisors determines, upon the facts presented at the hearing and upon other available information, that there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare for such a district to function in the territory considered, it shall make and record the determination and shall define by metes and bounds or by legal subdivisions, the boundaries of the district.

C. If the board determines after the hearing that it is not feasible for such district to function in the territory considered, it shall make and record the determination and shall deny the petition.

73-20-9. Referendum. (1975)

After the board of supervisors has made and recorded a determination that there is need, in the interest of the public health, safety and welfare, for creation of the proposed watershed district, it shall consider the question whether the operation of a district within the proposed boundaries with the powers conferred upon such districts in Section 73-20-13 NMSA 1978 is administratively practicable and feasible. To assist the board of supervisors in this determination, the board shall, within a reasonable time after entry of the finding that there is need for the organization of the district and the determination of the boundaries of the district, hold a referendum within the proposed district upon the proposition of the creation of the district. Due notice of the referendum shall be given as provided in Section 73-20-8 NMSA 1978, except that, notice sent to absentee landowners shall also inform them of their right to request a ballot. Such notice shall state the date of holding the referendum, the hours of opening and closing the polls and shall designate one or more places within the proposed district as polling places. The board shall appoint a polling superintendent and other necessary polling officers giving equal representation to the proponents and opponents of the question involved. Ballots shall be sent to all absentee landowners upon request and they may vote by return ballot by first class mail.

73-20-11. Votes; results. (2003)

The votes shall be counted by the election officers at the close of the polls and report of the results along with the ballots delivered to the polling superintendent, who shall certify the results to the board of supervisors. If a majority of the votes cast favor creation of the district, the board of supervisors shall certify the results to the county clerk in the county involved. Upon proper recording of the action, the watershed district shall be duly created. After recording, the certification shall be filed with the New Mexico department of agriculture.

History: 1953 Comp., §§ 45-5-29, enacted by Laws 1957, ch. 210, §§ 11; 1973, ch. 332, §§ 5; 1977, ch. 254, §§ 49; 1987, ch. 234, §§ 74; 2003, ch. 228, §§ 3.

The board shall consist of five members. The first board shall determine by lot from among its membership two members to serve terms of two years, two members to serve terms of three years and one member to serve a term of four years. Thereafter, as these initial terms expire, their replacements shall be elected for terms of four years.

Vacancies occurring before the expiration of a term shall be filled by the remaining members of the board for the unexpired term. Two or more vacancies occurring simultaneously shall be filled by appointment by the board of supervisors. The board of directors shall, under the supervision of the board of supervisors, be the governing body of the watershed district.

B. If the territory embraced within a watershed district lies within more than one soil and water conservation district, each additional soil and water conservation district having a minority of the land involved in the watershed shall be entitled to elect three additional directors. These additional directors after their election shall determine by lot one of their number to serve a term of two years, one a term of three years and one a term of four years. Thereafter, their successors shall be elected for terms of four years. The representatives of each of these minority districts shall fill vacancies in the district's membership for the unexpired term.

C. The board of directors shall annually elect from its membership a chairman, secretary and treasurer. The treasurer shall execute an official bond for the faithful performance of the duties of his office to be approved by the board of directors. The bond shall be executed with at least three solvent personal sureties whose solvency shall exceed the amount of the bond, or by a surety company authorized to do business in this state, and shall be in an amount determined by the board of directors. If the treasurer is required to execute a surety company bond, the premium of the bond shall be paid by the board of directors.

D. The board of directors shall prepare and submit to the department of finance and administration such reports as it may require from among those required to be submitted by other political subdivisions.

E. Each person desiring to be a director of a watershed district shall file a nominating petition with the board of supervisors, signed by ten or more landowners within the watershed districts of the county involved, or, if less than fifty landowners are involved, a majority of such landowners. If the candidates nominated do not exceed the positions available, they shall be declared elected. No person shall be eligible to be a director of a watershed district who is not a landowner in the district in which he seeks election.

A. Any one or more owners of land may petition the board of supervisors to have their lands added to a watershed district. The petition shall define the boundaries of the land desired to be annexed, the number of acres of land involved and other information pertinent to the proposal. When the boundary described embraces lands of others than the petitioners, the petition shall so state and shall be signed by twenty-five or more of the landowners in the territory described, if fifty or more such owners are involved, or by a majority if less than fifty landowners are involved.

B. Within thirty days after the petition is filed, the board shall cause due notice to be given as provided in Section 73-20-8 NMSA 1978 of a hearing on the petition. All interested parties shall have a right to attend the hearing and be heard. The board shall determine whether the lands described in the petition or any portion of them shall be included in the district. If it is determined by the board of supervisors that the lands shall be withdrawn, the determination shall be certified to the county clerk of each county in which any portion of the lands lie. After recording, the certification shall be filed with the New Mexico department of agriculture.

The petition shall state the reasons for discontinuance and that all obligations of the district have been met.
- B. After giving notice as defined in Section 73-20-8 NMSA 1978, the board of supervisors may conduct hearings on the petition as may be necessary to assist it in making a determination.
- C. Within sixty days after petition is filed, a referendum shall be held under the supervision of the board of supervisors as provided in Section 73-20-14 NMSA 1978. No informalities in the conduct of the referendum or in any matters relating to the referendum shall invalidate it or its result if notice of the referendum has been given substantially as provided in Subsection B of this section.
- D. If a majority of the votes cast in the referendum favor the discontinuance of the district and it is found that all obligations have been met, the board of supervisors shall make a determination that the watershed district shall be discontinued. A copy of the determination shall be certified by the clerk of the county involved for recording. After recording, the certification shall be filed with the New Mexico department of agriculture.

Supervisor Elections

by Soil and Water Conservation Specialists

Authority for Elections

The Soil and Water Conservation District Act (73-20-25 through 73-20-49 NMSA 1978) sets the guidelines for holding supervisor elections on the first Tuesday in May every two years. The Rules for Conducting an Election of District Supervisors [21.9.2 NMAC] explain the procedures necessary to meet the requirements of the Act. Both documents can be found on the New Mexico Department of Agriculture website at:

<http://www.nmda.nmsu.edu/natural-resources/soil-and-water-conservation-program>

Click on “Resources for SWCD Supervisors and Staff.”. The following information is to answer questions concerning the rules for conducting an election.

Elected Supervisor Requirements and Terms

Supervisors are elected for four year terms, with the requirement that four of the supervisors must be landowners and must reside within the district boundary. The fifth supervisor does not have to be a landowner but must be a resident within the district. A landowner who does not reside in the district could hold a position on the board as an appointed supervisor. Appointed supervisors do not have to be residents or landowners to serve on the board.

Positions Up for Election

Elections for positions 1 through 5 are held in odd-numbered years. Positions 6 and 7 are appointed positions, and are never filled by election (see page 9).

Positions 1, 2 and 5 are up for election in the same year; positions 3 and 4 are up for election two years later.

From 2004 through 2010 elections were held in even-numbered years. To eliminate a conflict with political primaries, SWCD elections were moved to the first Tuesday in May of odd-numbered years. For the transition to the odd-year schedule, the terms of all incumbent supervisors were extended by one year. Following this change, the next elections held were for positions 3 and 4 in May of 2013.

Eligible Voters

An eligible voter is any person who has registered to vote at least 32 days prior to the election and whose address of record is within the district boundaries. Registered voters living within the boundaries of a municipality are not eligible to vote if the district has excluded that municipality from their district boundary. If a municipality has not been excluded, a registered voter can vote on a supervisor election. If a registered voter resides in another place but their address of record is still within the district boundary they are eligible to vote; however, if someone owns land within the district boundary, but their address of record is not in the district boundary they are not eligible to vote. Reminder: land ownership is not a requirement nor a qualification to be eligible to vote.

Several forms provided with this chapter have “a” and “b” versions:

Use the “a” version for the election of positions
1, 2, and 5.

Use the “b” version for the election of positions
3 and 4.

Election Timeline

The Soil and Water Conservation Commission (SWCC) will send out an election timeline by October 1 preceding the election, similar to the timeline shown in Exhibit 13.1. The timeline will declare which positions are up for election in that cycle. (If the year the timeline is issued is evenly divisible by four, positions 3 and 4 are up for election the following May.)

County Clerks

By January 1, preceding the election, the district must notify the county clerk(s) within their district boundaries of the election (Form 13.1). Along with the letter, the district must include the following:

- District boundary description
- District boundary map
- Date of the election
- The official election time line
- A copy of the supervisor election rules

Election Superintendent

At the January or February board meeting, an election superintendent should be selected. The superintendent takes the oath of office 60 days prior to the election (Form 13.2). The election superintendent can be a board member (unless they are a candidate), an employee, or anyone else qualified to handle the position. The duties of the election superintendent are:

1. Assure all absentee ballots requested in writing by eligible voters are sent as indicated in the election notice and notify voters if the election is cancelled.
2. Conduct voting during the period stated in the election notice.
3. If paper ballots are used, ensure they are placed in a sealed ballot box.
4. Prepare a complete list of all persons voting and those applying for a ballot who are determined to be ineligible to vote.
5. Prepare documentation regarding all challenges of voter ineligibility.
6. Assist the canvassing board to determine voting results in a timely manner.
7. Prepare a list of eligible voters 28 days prior to the election.

The duties are also listed on Exhibit 13.2.

Polling Places

At the December board meeting supervisors determine the number and location of polling places and then vote on them at the January board meeting. This must be done before the first legal notice is sent out in March. Election rules state that a district must have at least one polling place. Each district must decide if one is sufficient to reasonably accommodate the voters.

Polling places must be open for at least 8 hours. Districts determine if 8 hours is sufficient time for voters and what hours the polls will be open.

Notice of the Election

Two notices of election are published in the newspaper. The first notice is published 51 to 65 days prior to the election (Form 13.3). The second notice is advertised 23 to 37 days prior to the election (Form 13.4). In areas with more than one newspaper, districts determine if carrying a notice in only one of the papers will reach enough voters. In areas where there is no newspaper of general circulation, notify voters of the election according to the definition of "due notice" given in the Soil and Water Conservation District Act (73-20-27, NMSA 1978), which states:

"due notice" means the publication or broadcasting of the appropriate information by newspapers of general circulation and, if appropriate, broadcast stations licensed by the federal communications commission, or by other means that meet the requirements of the Open Meetings Act [Chapter 10, Article 15 NMSA 1978]. If print or broadcast media do not service the affected geographical area, due notice may be given by posting the appropriate information in notice form in six conspicuous public places where it is customary to post notices concerning county or municipal affairs within the affected geographical area;

Canvassing Board

A canvassing board is appointed at the February board meeting to be in place when individuals declare their candidacy. The canvassing board must have a minimum of three members:

- An owner of land within the district who is not a supervisor or employee of the district or a member of their immediate family.
- A supervisor of the district (who is neither a candidate nor election superintendent).

- A local elected official or their designee. This can be a mayor, county commissioner, school board member, sheriff, etc. as long as they have been elected by the voting public.

The duties of the canvassing board (also shown in Exhibit 13.3) are:

1. Cancel the election upon being notified by the board of supervisors that only one candidate filed a declaration of candidacy for each position to be filled, when there are no other questions on the ballot. Canvassing board will give due notice of the cancellation.
2. Establish appropriate procedures for securing, transporting, storing, and counting ballots. An example of polling procedures is found in (Exhibit 13.4).
3. Resolve any challenge of voter eligibility or conduct of elections.
4. Certify election results and report these results to the Soil and Water Conservation Commission in Las Cruces seven (7) calendar days following completion of their canvass. A canvass is considered complete when all challenges have been resolved to the canvassing board's satisfaction.

The canvassing board does not have to be present during the time the polls are open. Frequently the canvassing board will come to the place where the ballots are being counted so the results can be verified after the ballots are counted (Form 13.5).

Absentee Ballots

Districts must make provisions for absentee voting. Eligible voters wishing to vote absentee must fill out an absentee ballot application (Form 13.6) 20 to 30 days prior to the election. Requests can be made by mail, telephone, or in person. In order to determine the eligibility of absentee voters, the election superintendent must receive the voter registration list from the county clerk 28 days prior to the election. After receiving a request for an absentee ballot and determining the voter is eligible to vote, the absentee voter packet is mailed out at least 15 days prior to the election.

Each absentee packet will contain an absentee ballot (Form 13.13) and two envelopes, plus any instructions to the voter that the district deems necessary. The larger envelope must contain a serial number and voter information on the outside of the envelope (Exhibit 13.5; template provided in Excel format will automatically generate serial numbers).

Districts should track absentee ballots sent out and received back from voters by keeping a register by serial number (Form 13.14). Absentee ballots should be placed inside the smaller envelope which is then placed inside the larger envelope. Once the absentee ballot is received and the serial number is checked, the smaller envelope is removed and placed in the absentee ballot box (do not remove the ballot from the envelope). Absentee ballots are opened and counted after the regular ballots are counted.

Polling Officials

There should be at least two polling officials at each polling location (there can be more if needed). One of the polling officials must not be a board member, an employee of the district, or an immediate family member. The election superintendent can serve as one of the officials if only one polling place is being used. If there is more than one polling place, the election superintendent cannot be a polling official, since the superintendent must be able to visit the different polling locations and assist with any problems that arise. The county clerk should be able to provide a list of persons who have served as polling officials. Once the polls close, the polling officials, under the supervision of the election superintendent and the canvassing board, will count the ballots and certify the results (Form 13.5).

Declaration of Candidacy

There are two deadlines for declaration of candidacy. The deadline to have the candidate's name placed on the ballot is 49 days prior to the election. The declaration for candidacy (Form 13.7) must be delivered in person by the candidate on that date to the location designated in the notice. It cannot be delivered by someone else, faxed, or mailed. If a district office is only open part time, they should arrange to be open that day or make arrangements with another agency to receive the declarations of candidacy.

The deadline for declaration of candidacy for write-in votes (Form 13.8) is 42 days prior to the election. Once again, the declaration for candidacy must be delivered in person by the candidate on that date to the location designated in the notice. It cannot be delivered by someone else, faxed, or mailed. Candidates filing on that day will not be entitled to have their name printed on the ballot.

Determining If There Will Be an Election

A district will know if they must have an election by the close of business on the deadline for write-in candidate declaration. If more than one person has declared candidacy for any of the positions on the ballot, whether they are regular or write-in candidates, there will be an election. Districts may want to arrange for their canvassing board to be present on that day to certify a cancelled election if that should occur.

If there is one candidate for a position, that candidate will assume the office of supervisor on or after July 1. If there are no candidates for a position, the position will be filled by appointment by the supervisors, as with any other vacancy.

Cancelled Election Procedures

If, after the deadline for write-in candidates has passed, the election superintendent determines there will be no election, the superintendent should notify the canvassing board of the results and arrange for them to meet to declare the cancelled election (Form 13.9). The declaration of a cancelled election should then be presented to the board of supervisors at the next board meeting for them to vote on. A signed cancelled election form must be sent to the Soil and Water Conservation Commission within seven (7) calendar days after the cancelled election. If the board is not scheduled to meet before the deadline, a special meeting should be called.

The election superintendent should notify the county clerk of the election cancellation as soon as possible. This can be done by telephone followed by a letter. This will prevent the county clerk from printing a voter registration list and will save the district money if there is a charge for the list. A notice of the cancellation must also be published in the newspaper (Form 13.11). The election superintendent should also notify voters who applied for absentee ballots that the election was cancelled.

Pre-Election Procedures

After it has been determined that an election will occur, the election superintendent should prepare the absentee ballot applications and have them available for the voting public 20 to 30 days prior to the election (Form 13.6). Twenty-eight (28) days prior to the election, the voter registration list must be picked up from the county clerk to certify eligible voters. If there are requests for absentee ballots, those ballots (Form 13.13) should be printed and mailed out as the requests are received. Ballots can be printed commercially or photocopied. Absentee ballots must not be mailed out any later than 15 days prior to the election. After all requested absentee ballots have been mailed out any remaining absentee ballots must be destroyed.

Polling officials need to be contacted as soon as possible after it is determined there will be an election. The county clerk will have a list of persons who will serve as polling officials if a district cannot locate anyone.

Districts may use voting machines or paper ballots. Availability of voting machines will need to be determined through the county clerk's office. Paper ballots can be printed commercially or photocopied. Ballot boxes and signs designating polling places should be available from the county clerk. Two types of boxes are needed: one for absentee ballots and the other for the polling places. If a district is using voting machines, they will still need a box for absentee ballots. As absentee ballots are returned they are to be placed in the absentee ballot box (refer back to procedures under Absentee Ballots). Make sure there is a label on the box. All ballot boxes must have locks on them. If no absentee ballots are mailed out, there is no need for an absentee ballot box.

Election Day

Polling officials take their oath of office (Form 13.12). There must be two (2) polling officials on duty at the polling place at all times. A rotation time off for lunch or arrangements for food to be delivered should be made. If polling officials will have rotating time off for lunch, there should be at least three (3) polling officials to allow the rotation.

It is not the responsibility of polling officials to inform voters about write-in candidates and what position they are running for. It is the responsibility of each write-in candidate to inform the voters.

If a person comes in to vote and they cannot be found on the voter registration list, allow them to vote, have them place their ballot in a plain envelope inside a larger envelope with a voter certification form printed on it (Exhibit 13.5), and place the sealed envelope in the ballot box.

Once the polls are closed, all ballot boxes must be sealed and transported to a designated central location (if there is more than one polling place). The boxes will then be opened and the ballots counted. The handling of ballots should be covered in the district's polling procedure policy (Exhibit 13.4). Once the ballots are counted, the polling officials fill out the election results form (Form 13.5), and the election superintendent will sign it verifying the results. If there are no challenge ballots requiring verification, the canvassing board may sign the election results form to certify the election has taken place and all challenges have been resolved.

Challenges

Persons who are determined to be ineligible to vote must be notified by the canvassing board using the most expedient means of communication. When contacted, ineligible voters must be informed of their right to challenge. Challenges must be in writing and must be delivered to the contact person shown on the election notice no later than four (4) days following the election. The election results cannot be certified by the canvassing board until all challenges have been resolved.

Report Election Results

Election results must be sent to the Soil and Water Conservation Commission seven (7) days following the completion of this canvass. The commission receives mail at the following address:

c/o New Mexico Department of Agriculture
MSC APR
P.O. Box 30005
Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003-8005

Retention of Election Results

The records retention schedule for election results is located in the General Government Administration for soil and water conservation districts on page 3 (1.19.11.13 NMAC) of the operations manual. It requires the following retentions: canvas of return sheets (permanent) - maintained by the soil and water conservation commission; ballots - 45 days after adjournment of the canvassing board; oaths of office - until replaced by successor, then transferred to the New Mexico state archives; and all other records - three years after the election to which they apply.

When Do Supervisors Take Office

Newly elected supervisors take the oath of office (Form 13.16) on or after July 1st, usually at the July board meeting. The board should reorganize (elect a chairman, vice chairman, and treasurer) soon after new board members are sworn in.

Appointed Supervisors

Supervisor positions 6 and 7 can be filled by appointment by the soil and water conservation commission. Positions 6 and 7 do not have landowner or residency requirements as do elected supervisor positions. Appointed supervisors serve one year terms, and may be reappointed.

By June 15 of each year a district should submit to the commission in writing (Form 13.15) the name(s) and qualifications of candidates who are willing to serve as appointed supervisors. The commission (not the district board) appoints supervisors to positions 6 and 7, therefore the appointed candidate cannot take office until the commission has met and voted to approve the candidate. If the commission doesn't feel the candidate is qualified they may request the board of supervisors to submit other names for consideration. In the event an appointed supervisor position becomes vacant, the board of supervisors may submit the name of a new candidate at any time.

Mill Levy Referendum

Soil & Water Conservation Specialists

Purpose

The Soil and Water Conservation District Act (73-20-25 through 73-20-49 NMSA 1978) sets basic parameters for referendums on collection of district assessments, commonly known as mill levies. Rules for conducting a referendum [21.9.3 NMAC] explain the procedures necessary to meet the requirements of the Act. Both documents can be found in this handbook or on the New Mexico Department of Agriculture website:

<http://www.nmda.nmsu.edu/natural-resources/soil-and-water-conservation-program>

The following information will assist SWCDs to carry out a mill levy referendum within the guidelines.

Voter Eligibility

The District Act states that a registered voter residing within the district is eligible to vote. A voter in a mill levy referendum is not required to be a landowner.

The requirement for residency means that absentee landowners, or someone who may reside just outside the district boundaries, will not be able to vote in the referendum, even if they own property within the district. A similar situation exists with school boards and school district taxes, when a person owns property in a school district but does not reside there.

Non-resident landowners may hold appointed supervisor positions on the district board to represent the interests of those landowners.

A referendum may be conducted by mailed ballots. See the end of this chapter or 21.9.3.15 NMAC for details.

Scheduling a referendum

Mill levy referendums should be held on the first Tuesday in May, if practicable (21.9.3.8 NMAC). In even-numbered years, this would be at the same time supervisor elections are held. Holding a referendum in conjunction with supervisor elections can be less costly since poll workers, polling places and the necessary supplies and equipment will already be in place.

If a district wants to hold a referendum in a year there is no supervisor election the preferred date is the first Tuesday in May.

A soil and water conservation district referendum should not be held within 42 days of a statewide election. Unfortunately the District Act conflicts with state election laws on this point. In general election years the primary elections are held in June, less than 42 days after the SWCD election date specified by the District Act.

This conflict affects primarily the county clerks' workload, and availability of voting machines and ballot boxes. If an SWCD plans to call upon the county clerk(s) for a significant amount of assistance with a referendum, the district should consult with the clerk on scheduling.

To schedule a referendum, a district board should pass a resolution (Form 14.1) to that effect, and send the resolution to the Soil and Water Conservation Commission (SWCC) for approval. Due to the lengthy timeline associated with a referendum, and the meeting schedule for the SWCC, a district should pass their resolution and forward it to the SWCC nine to twelve months prior to the desired referendum date. The SWCC must approve the referendum in writing.

County Clerks:

County clerk(s) must receive notification 120 days in advance of an SWCD referendum (Form 14.2). Each county clerk must be provided the following:

- District boundary description
- District boundary map
- Date of the referendum

- The referendum timeline (Exhibit 14.1)
- A copy of the referendum rules

Polling Places:

Four to five months before the referendum, supervisors should discuss how many polling places are needed to accommodate voters, where the polling places will be, and how many hours the polls will be open. A vote of the board is needed to finalize these decisions.

The referendum rules state that a district must have at least one polling place. Each district must decide if one is sufficient for the voters.

Polling Hours:

The referendum rules state that polling places must be open for at least 8 hours. It does not state the specific hours required. District supervisors must determine if 8 hours is sufficient for voters, and when the polls should open and close.

A district must balance the need to accommodate voters with the cost of providing multiple polling places. A district proposing a new mill levy may be limited in their ability to provide multiple polling places. A district which is renewing its mill levy would likely have a larger budget and be expected to provide better access for the voters. Recruiting volunteer poll workers is one way to reduce the cost per polling place.

Notice of the Referendum:

DEFINED IN THE DISTRICT ACT

[73-20-26 F].

Two notices of the referendum will need to be placed in the newspaper(s). The 1st notice of the referendum needs to be published between 51 and 65 days prior to the referendum (Form 14.3) and the 2nd notice published between 23 and 37 days prior to the referendum (Form 14.4).

In areas where there is more than one newspaper, district boards need to decide if carrying a notice in only one of the papers will reach enough voters.

In areas not served by newspapers, television or radio stations, notices must be posted in at least six conspicuous places in the affected area.

Referendum Superintendent:

The board of supervisors should select a referendum superintendent 5-6 months prior to the election date. The superintendent should take the oath of office (Form 14.5) sixty days prior to the election.

The referendum superintendent can be a board member or employee of the district or any person that they feel is qualified to handle the position. Because the district employee will frequently be handling the day to day duties in preparation for the referendum, it is often advisable to have a board member or independent party serve as the superintendent to oversee the procedure and handle any irregularities or complaints on procedure.

The duties of the referendum superintendent are:

1. Assure that all absentee ballots requested by eligible voter in writing are sent as indicated in the election notice and notify the voters in case the election is cancelled.
2. Conduct the voting during the period stated in the “due notice.”
3. If paper ballots are used, ensure they are placed in a sealed ballot box.
4. Prepare a complete list of all persons voting and those applying for a ballot and determine their eligibility.
5. Prepare documentation regarding all challenges of voter ineligibility.
6. Assist the canvassing board to determine voting results in a timely manner.
7. Prepare a list of eligible voters 28 days prior to the election. The eligible voter list must be completed and available for inspection at least five days before the referendum.

Canvassing Board:

A canvassing board needs to be appointed approximately ninety days prior to the referendum (at the February board meeting for a May referendum). The canvassing board must have a minimum of three members:

- An owner of land within the district who is not a supervisor or employee of the district or members of their immediate family.
- A supervisor of the district (who is not a candidate).

- A local elected official or their designee. This can be a mayor, county commissioner, school board member, sheriff, etc. as long as they have been elected by the voting public.

The duties of the canvassing board are:

1. Establish appropriate procedure for securing, transporting, storing and tallying ballots. An example for polling procedures is found in (Exhibit 14.2).
2. Resolve any challenge of voter eligibility or conduct of elections.
3. Certify referendum results and report results to the SWCC in Las Cruces seven calendar days following completion of their canvass. A canvass is considered complete when all challenges have been resolved to the canvassing board's satisfaction.

The canvassing board does not have to be present during the time the polls are open. Districts may request the canvassing board members to come to the place where the ballots are being counted so that the results can be verified after the ballots are counted. (Form 14.6)

Absentee Ballots

A district must provide the opportunity for absentee voting in a referendum. The referendum rules require that a voter apply for an absentee ballot. If the voter's eligibility is confirmed, they will be issued a ballot by mail.

Application for absentee ballot

Eligible voters wishing to vote absentee must fill out an absentee ballot application (Form 14.7) from 30 to 20 days prior to the election. Requests for applications can be made by mail, telephone or in person.

The election superintendent should receive the voter registration list from the county clerk 28 days prior to the election. The list shall be used to verify voter eligibility before absentee ballots are mailed.

Issuance of absentee ballots

After receiving an application for absentee ballot and determining that the person is eligible to vote, the absentee ballot (Form 14.8) must be mailed to the voter at least 15 days prior to the election. After all the absentee ballots have been mailed out, any remaining ballots must be destroyed.

The packet must contain the absentee voter ballot and two envelopes: a larger envelope with a serial number and voter information on the outside of the envelope (Exhibit 14.3), and a smaller envelope that will fit inside the larger envelope. The smaller envelope should have no markings that would tie it to the voter, to preserve confidentiality. Instructions to the voter on how to mark, seal and return the ballot are recommended to be included in the packet mailed to absentee voters.

Handling of absentee ballots

After voting, the voter should seal the ballot inside the smaller envelope, which is then sealed inside the larger envelope with the serial number, and mailed back to the district.

Once the absentee ballot is received and the serial number is checked against the absentee ballot register, the smaller envelope is to be taken out of the larger envelope and placed in the absentee ballot box. Do not take the absentee ballot out of the smaller envelope. Absentee ballots will be opened and counted on election day with the regular ballots.

Absentee Ballot Records

An absentee ballot register (Form 14.11) should be created and maintained to record the following information for each person requesting an absentee ballot application:

- Application request received (date and method of request)
- Date absentee ballot application was mailed
- Date application returned, with initials of the person who accepted the form
- Verification of eligibility to vote, with initials of person making the determination
- Date absentee ballot packet was mailed
- Serial number from outer envelope for ballot return (retain the outer envelope with the referendum records)
- Date completed absentee ballot returned to SWCD

Polling Officials:

There should be at least two polling officials at each polling place, or more if there is a need. Make sure that at least one of the polling officials at each location is not a board member, an employee of the district, or an immediate family member of either. A list of trained poll workers in your area should be available from the county clerk(s).

The referendum superintendent may serve as one of the officials if only one polling place is being used. If there is more than one polling place the referendum superintendent cannot be a polling official, since the superintendent must be able to visit the different polling places and assist with problems that should arise.

If necessary a district may want to arrange for substitutes. Polling officials and substitutes must take an oath of office similar to that of the referendum superintendent before assuming their duties. The polling officials, under the supervision of the referendum superintendent and/or the canvassing board, will count the ballots and certify the results. (Form 14.6)

Procedures before the Referendum:

The election superintendent should prepare the applications for absentee ballots and have them available for the voting public 30-20 days prior to the election (Form 14.7). The voter registration list to certify eligible voters must be obtained from the county clerk to 28 days prior to the election. (The county clerk may be able to provide such a list in either hard copy or electronic form; work with the clerk to determine the most feasible and cost-effective format. Some clerks will also provide a poll roster for each polling place so that voters may sign in at the polls.)

If there are requests for absentee ballots, the absentee ballots (Form 14.8) should be printed up and mailed out as the requests are received. Absentee ballots must be mailed at least 15 days prior to the election.

Districts may use voting machines or paper ballots (Form 14.9). If a voting machine is to be used the district needs to contact the county clerk. Ballots can be photocopied or printed commercially, with appropriate security measures to prevent unauthorized copies or theft of ballots. After all the absentee ballots have been mailed out, the remaining ballots must be destroyed. At the polls, all ballots should be accounted for as either voted, spoiled, or unused.

Ballot boxes and signs designating polling places should be available from the county clerk. The district should have a locked and labeled ballot box on hand prior to the referendum date for absentee ballots (i.e., as soon as any absentee ballots are mailed out). Each polling place will need at least one ballot box as well. If voting machines are used, the district will still need a box for absentee or provisional ballots. For provisional ballots, have a supply of small and large envelopes, similar to the absentee ballot envelopes.

As the absentee ballots are received they are to be placed in the absentee ballot box (refer back to procedures under absentee ballots).

Referendum Day:

Have polling officials take their oath of office (Form 14.10).

There should be 2 people on duty at the polling place at all times. Provision for refreshments for the polling officials should be available and a rotation time off for lunch or arrangements for food to be delivered should be made. If polling officials will have time off for lunch, there should be at least 3 polling officials so that they can rotate.

Provisional Ballots

If a person comes in to vote and they cannot be found on the voter registration list, allow them vote, but have them place their ballot in a plain envelope inside a larger envelope with a voter certification form printed on it (Exhibit 14.3) and place the envelope in the ballot box.

Persons voting on a provisional ballot who are determined to be ineligible to vote must be notified by the canvassing board using the most expedient means of communication, and must be informed of their legal right to challenge the finding of eligibility. Challenges must be in writing and be delivered to the contact person shown on the election notice no later than four days following the election. The Referendum Results form cannot be signed by the Canvassing Board until all challenges have been resolved.

The handling of ballots should be covered in the districts polling procedure policy (Exhibit 14.2). Once the polls are closed, all ballot box openings must be sealed and the boxes transported to a designated central location (if there is more than one polling place). The boxes will then be opened and the ballots, including absentee ballots, counted. The validity of provisional ballots should be determined before they are opened. Provisional ballots from ineligible voters should not be opened at all.

Once the ballots are counted the polling officials are to fill out the Referendum Results (Form 14.6) and the referendum superintendent will sign it verifying the results. The canvassing board will then sign the referendum results form to verify that the referendum has taken place and all challenges have been resolved. The referendum results must be sent to the SWCC in Las Cruces seven days following the completion of the canvass.

Retention of Election Records:

The records retention schedule for election results is located in the Local Government Records Retention and Disposition Schedules for SWCDs and watershed districts (1.19.11.13 NMAC), which is included in chapter 4 of this manual. It prescribes the following retention times:

- Canvass of return sheets: (permanent), maintained by the soil and water conservation commission;
- Ballots: 45 days after adjournment of the canvassing board;
- All other records: three years after the election to which they apply.

Referendum by Mailed Ballot

The referendum rules allow SWCDs to conduct a referendum by mailed ballots (21.9.3.15 NMAC). In such an election, each registered voter who would be eligible to vote in a polling place referendum shall be mailed an absentee ballot along with a statement that there will be no polling place for the referendum. The referendum superintendent may include in the mailing a printed notice to the voters informing the voters that they shall return the voted ballot by mail.

The voter shall not be required to file an application for the absentee ballot. The ballot shall be mailed to each voter no earlier than the thirty-fifth day prior to the election, and the mailing shall be completed by the fifth day before the election.

The referendum superintendent shall prepare a checklist of eligible voters. The checklist of registered voters shall be marked indicating that the voter has returned his all-mail ballot immediately upon receipt.

Do not use mailed ballots for election of supervisors.

Subdivision Reviews

by Roy Todd, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist

New Mexico Department of Agriculture

Introduction

Chapter 47-6-11 through 47-6-17 (NMSA 1978) concerning subdivisions states:

B. Prior to approving the preliminary plat, the board of county commissioners of the county in which the subdivision is located shall require that the subdivider furnish documentation of:

- (1) water sufficient in quantity to fulfill the maximum annual water requirements of the subdivision, including water for indoor and outdoor domestic uses;
- (2) water of an acceptable quality for human consumption and measures to protect the water supply from contamination;
- (3) the means of liquid waste disposal for the subdivision;
- (4) the means of solid waste for the subdivision;
- (5) satisfactory roads to each parcel, including ingress and egress for emergency vehicles, and utility easements to each parcel;
- (6) terrain management to protect against flooding, inadequate drainage and erosion; and
- (7) protections for cultural properties, archaeological sites and unmarked burials that may be impacted directly by the subdivision, as required by the Cultural Properties Act [18-6-1 to 18-6-17 NMSA 1978].

Process

In order for the County Commissioners to determine the sub divider has met all the requirements for the subdivision, they must call on the soil and water conservation districts to do a terrain management review to protect against flooding, making sure there is adequate drainage and protects the subdivision from soil erosion section 47-11-6(B)(6). Please note this is all a SWCD is responsible for, they may have concerns about other issues, but it is the responsibility of other state agencies to render opinions on those matters.

A district will have 30 days to render an opinion as to whether the sub divider meets the requirements for the review.

If a district has rendered an adverse opinion, the board of county commissioners will give the sub divider a copy of the opinion;

The sub divider will be given thirty days from the date of notification to submit additional information to the district through the board of county commissioners;

The district has thirty days from the date the sub divider submits additional information to change its opinion, or issue a favorable opinion when it has withheld one due to insufficient information. No more than thirty days following the date of the expiration of the thirty-day period, during which the district reviews any additional information submitted by the sub divider, the board of county commissioners will hold a public hearing in accordance with Section 47-6-14 NMSA 1978 to determine whether to approve the preliminary plat. Where the district has rendered an adverse opinion, the sub divider has the burden of showing the adverse opinion is incorrect either as to fractural or legal matters.

Most districts work with the NRCS staff to do the reviews and don't charge a fee for the review. Some districts where there are numerous reviews to be done charge a fee to do the review themselves, while some districts hire a contractor to do the review.

Attached is a checklist which can be used by a district in order to help render an opinion for the subdivision plat. This could then be used to help write the opinion. Districts should check with their county commissioners for plat requirements in order to determine if the checklist is in compliance with their guidelines. (Exhibit 15-1)

Attached are samples of what some districts use as a fee for doing subdivision reviews (Exhibit 15-2) and sample letters and invoices used by districts (exhibits 15-3).
